The Wanderers sports are always the first function towards the early autumn, and on Saturday last the weather was autumnal enough to have borne being called October instead of September. In spite of the heavy shower which fell about three o'clock, there was a very good attendance. The stand was filled with a smart and fashionable assembly, and there were a large number of carriages drawn up beside the rails, besides a great crowd of foot passengers, mostly masculine. The grounds, although the day was not an especially clear one, were looking very pretty; and to the old inhabitant who could look back to the first sports held by the association, formed a contrast as wonderful as creditable when compared with the bare field which was used on

The prettiest thing to the casual spectator was perhaps the exhibition broad jumps given by Mr. Smith, who covered a distance of eighteen feet six Smith, who covered a distance of eighteen feet six inches. The pole jumping was also very much appreciated by the spectators as it was wonderfully good, Mr. Murphy of the Crescents breaking the Maritime Province record with a grand jump of nine feet ten inches. The other records were fractures, the mile foot-race, and the mile bicycle race; the first by Mr. Harry Macintosh who lowered his own record, the second by Mr. Archibald who lowered that of Mr. Shand of Windsor. Taken as a whole the sports were remarkably good; some of the events as exciting as any which have yet taken the events as exciting as any which have yet taken place under the auspices of the Wanderers. In the mile Mr. Grierson made a very pretty race with Mr. Macintosh, proving himself to be wonderfully plucky in that hardest of all things for nerve a race plucky in that hardest of all things for herve a race in which one is gradually but surely overhauled. After the sports Mrs. W. A. Henry presented the prizes, as wife of the president of the W. A. A. C. Mrs. Henry was charmingly dressed in a tailor made tweed and looked very youthful and pretty as she presented the prizes with a suitable little speech to each lucky competitor.

A good deal of interest is attached in Halifax to Several ladies took advantage of the delightful weather of the first of this week to give small picnics and tennis parties, which were all the pleasanter in that they were necessarily the last of the season. The next thing for the fashionable world to do in the way of excursions will be when the partridges come way of excursions will be when the partiages coin, which has served for some years as an excuse for country drives, and dinners at some convenient hostelry. Wilson's at Bedford will be the one most affected this autumn, as the cooking there is so very

Mrs. Kenney had a few people to tea and tennis at Thornvale on Tuesday; and Mrs. West had a small party later in the week. There were also a couple of small dinners given by two popular hostesses, both of which went off very well and pleasanth. But as for anything of any moment it simply has not existed. People are saving themelves for the return of the fleet, when, I hear, there will be quite an outbreak of naval, military and civilan hospitalities.

Among one of the fixtures for the first of October among one of the fixtures for the first of October is a concert to be given at the academy of music by amateurs under the patronage of Sir John Hopkins, who takes a lively interest in the charity for whose benefit the concert will be given, the Sailor's home. If it is true that the amateur element is to be sup plemented by the artistic and delightful singing of Mrs. Kennedy-Campbell, the concert will assuredly be well patronized, as people will always go in holdes to hear her. Among some of the performers mentioned are some who are quite new blood in Halifax, and whose debut will excite some interest.

Yacht racing like picnics is over for the season. On Saturday last Captain Leonard Russell's cup was run for by the Youla, the Lenore, the Mentor the Wym and the Hildred, and was won by the for-mer, whose popular owner and skipper is to be congratulated on his victory. On Tuesday the very last race of the year took place over number two course for the cup presented by Lord Alexander Russell; which was won by the Wym with the Youla second and the Lenore third. The latter boat has not been lucky this season, perhaps next year she will be more fortunate.

Certainly the yacnt squadron has covered itself with glory this summer. Its entertainments were two of the pleasantest events of the summer, and its "ladies days" have been cheery and well at-tended functions. It's grand dinner to the departing commodore was also, if report speaks truly, a very cheery function, but dinners like clubs are supposed to be carried on under the rose strictly, so supposed to be carried on under the rose strictly, so far as reporting what goes on at them is concerned. On Wednesday next, at the Polo grounds, a Gymkhana is to be held, something on the lines of the successful one of last year. There will be the usual tent-pegging, lemon cutting, racing, and other sports, so dear to the hearts of the British soldiers, such as wheelbarrow racing and sack received. The 'lladies race' which was so success. racing. The "ladies race" which was so successfully carried out at the Gymkhana by various light hearted captains and subalterns, arrayed in feminine garments, is, I understand, to be a promi-

Major Brady will shortly leave this station on a The marriage of Col. Hill, R. E. and Miss Clarkson will take place in the latter part of February, Col. Hill's time on this station elapsing in March

Yet another marriage in Halifax society is confidently discussed. Both the prospective bride and the groom are at present abroad, but both have been residents here from their earliest youth. The latter is one of the young barristers who abound in Halifax, and the former, a lady who has been much missed in musical circles since her departure from Halifax.

Miss Clara Tremaine has been spending some weeks in Italy with Lady Alexander Russell, who was, when in Halifax, a close friend of the former lady's mother, Mrs. F. J. Tremaine.

Capt. and Mrs. Alexander and Lady Jane Van Koughnet are expected to arrive in Halifax shortly, and will stay here for some months. Mrs. Alexander is the daughter of Mr. C. A. Staynes and will reside at his house.

Miss Stockwell, who has been the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Slayter, will leave for England in October

The meeting held at Government House on Friday afternoon by ladies interested in the S. P. C. and members of the old auxiliary of that society, was an unqualified success. The attendance was good, and the fair audience alistened with interest to the remarks and speeches made there by the gentlemen anxious of re-forming the auxiliary. It is now pretty well certain that some good work will be done in the way of making money for the S. P. C.

If I remember aright the ladies' auxiliary established the drinking fountain in the market square, which is an mestimable boon to the market people as well as to their cattle. What the auxiliary will do remains to be seen, but judging from the capable officers appointed, whatever they do will be well done. The prevention of cruelty is essentially a woman's province, and the existence of a society for that object among ladies alone is a great weapon in the hands of the S. P. C. The ambulance classes have been going on gloriously in the cool weather of the last two weeks, and the keener members are going in for an examina-tion which if passed creditably entitles them to a diploma from the St. John's Ambulance association. In a contemporary of this week I notice a few re-marks about women finding it difficult to earn money in Halifax without losing caste by so doing. It is certainly true that a woman who does her best to earn her living in this community is looked at if not askance, yet with a certain amount of contemp-tuous wonder; but in the face of this there are a great many Halifax ladies who are quietly and un-ostentatiously earning, if not their living, all that al-lowance of pin money which they would otherwise go without. The writer in question, however, is quite right as to the attitude of society toward the woman who does her best to be self supporting. It is precisely the greater tolerance which reigns on this point in the States which makes life there so much easier for a woman with a profession or a trade. It a club could be instituted in Halifax on the lines of any of the literary, musical, artistic or even house-keeping clubs which are so plentiful among American women, it would gradually do a great deal toward helping women and girls who are now obliged to help themselves. The Women's Exchange is a great step forward, however, and with that at present, one must be content.

Mr. George Macleod and Mr. Fairweather, of St.

John, are in Halifax for a few days. The death of Mr. Annand, proprietor of the Morning Chronicle, occurred in London during the AMHERST.

[Progress is for sale at Amherst, by George Douglas and H. A. Hillcoat.] SEPT. 14.-The most interesting event on the lengthy programme of the week was the marriage of Miss Isabella Rowley to Mr. Stephen Coates, which took place on Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. T. Rowley, Albion street. A large and merry party were present to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. D. A. Steele, pastor of the Baptist church. The bride looked radient in a very stylish and becoming gown of cream cashmere trimmed with lace of the same shade. Miss Sadie Mitchel, the bridesmaid, was also dressed in cream, prettily combined with yellow. Mr. A. Lithgow acted as best man to the groom. After the usual formula the bride and groom, accompanied by a great many friends, drove to the depot and took the evening train for a trip to Cape Breton and took the evening train for a trip to Cape Breton and P. E. Island. I am happy to say of the first autumn wedding that the happy pair will make their home in town on their return.

The party given by Mr. and Mrs. Tremaine last Wednesday evening was largely attended by the youth and beauty of the town, charmingly balanced by a sprinkling of noble lords upon whom father time has bestowed favours. The handsome, spacious drawing rooms were occupied by the dancers who took advantage of every strain of the excellent music rendered by the orchestra, although cellent music rendered by the orchestra, although two-thirds of the numbers on the evening's programme were waltzes, which would have been more or less suggestive of wall flowers had not the fore-thought of the hostess averted this by converting the cozy dining room into a most attractive resort for those who were fond of cards. The supper room was up stairs and at high twelve the merry guests displayed marked appreciation of the viands and other delicacies served.

Friday was by far the most used up evening we have had for a long time. Seemingly there was a merry rivalry between Havelock and Victoria streets as to which should have the larger portion. At the close, however, the honors were easy. Mrs.

At the close, however, the honors were easy. Mrs. M. D. Pride entertained a large company of matrons at her handsome home on the first named street, and Mrs. A. D. Taylor's pretty cottage was sustained by Mrs. A. Robb, who extended her much appreciated hospitalities to a number of guests, mar-ried and single. Dancing is never among the amusements furnished at this handsome suburban residence, but there is always enough pleasure af-forded to compensate for its absence and the guests on this occasion spent a remarkably happy evening. The next honor for Victoria street was a large and quite distinguished party given by Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Douglas to the many young friends and associates of Mr. Joe Douglas. There is certainly associates of Mr. Joe Douglas. There is certainly no prettier home in town for such an event, and on Tuesday evening it was more than usually pretty. It was a farewell party to Mr. Douglas who left on Monday to attend school in Montreal. The guests present were: Miss Main, Miss Gwendolyn Main, Miss Hall, Miss Sleep, Miss Agnes Sleep, the Misses
