Oct. 12 .- The annual festival at St. Bernard's church is engrossing public attention this week, and will continue to do so, I fancy, for several weeks to come. A very pleasant evening may be spent in the basement of St. Bernard's by anyone who is provided with a cheerful spirit, a moderate amount of firmness to enable him te withstand the plandishments of the fair damsels who are determinblandishments of the fair damsels who are determined ed to sell him something, and the requisite ten cents for admission. The basement has been very prettily decorated with spruce and autumn leaves, and presens a very bright and festive appearance, aided by the gaily decorated stalls and the pretty costumes of the ladies who preside over them. Amongst the many attractions are a kandy kitchen, an ice cream booth, a shooting gallery, etc. The festival will be continued for about a fortnight, and the proceeds will be applied towards the building

After being in a mayorless condition for over three months we have a chief alderman once more, and one of whom if it cannot be said that he is "an old favorite" as the dramatic hand bills have it, since he is too young for such a description we can at least say that he is a true and tried public ser-vant, since this is the third time the citizens of Moncton have chosen him to sit at the head of the council board. Oct. 12.- The most brilliant society event of the season was a ball given on last Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Wilmot at their elegant residence, "Beauvoir." The floral decorations in the halls and drawing rooms were charming; and in the supper room the arrangement of fruits and flowers shewed much taste and skill, and the elaborate dishes which graced the supper table reflected the highest credit on Mr. Miles, of the officers barracks, Fredericton, who acted as catarer for the occasion. The ball room was the centre flat in a new three story barn which Mr. Wilmot has under course of construction. It was handsomely decor-ated with red and white bunting, evergreens, festoons and wreaths, and lighted with lamps and Chinese lanterns which gave it the appearance of a bazaar. A well planed floor neatly covered with linen and waxed to perfection gave an ease and grace to the dancers that was truly admirable. Excellent music was furnished by the Hanlon orchestra. The cos tumes worn by the ladies were very handsome.
