At a dinner party given at George Crum's road house at Saratoga Lake recently, a party of gentleman, prominent in the political and commercial world, were discussing their visit to the Pompeian reproduced on South Rroadway, known as the "House of Pansa."

"What curious names are attached to the different rooms," observed one of the party. "Why, there's the 'vestiarium' and the 'tablinum,' and I don't know whatcolts would amount to anything more than ordinary roadsters. Mr. Bogher one day took his triend George Stone out to the pasture to look at the colts. The former asked the latter if he did not want to buy one of them. Mr. Stone said he did.

"Take your choice," said Mr. Bogher. "I'll take the one that comes out of the gate first," replied Mr. Stone.

Neither of the colts had been given a name at that time. Mr. Stone took his colt home, and in a few days named it for his eldest daughter, Miss Maud. When Mr. Stone purchased the unknown colt he had but little more than money enough to pay for it. He sold the young mare to W. H. Vanderbilt for $22,000. Mr. Stone is today one of the wealthy men of Cincinnati. This only shows how a man may possess a fortune and not know it. The colt retained by Mr. Rodgers was not even a star in the street car stables where fate placed it. It never trotted a mile in one hour.

A Gentle Hint He—If I were to try to kiss you what would you do? She-Scream. He-Do you mean it? She (impressively)-Indeed I do, so you had better wait until we are out of hearing of the hotel.

Mr. Chas. N. Hauer Of Frederick, Md., suffered terribly for over ten years with abscesses and running sores on his left leg. He wasted away, grew weak and thin, and was obliged to use a cane and crutch. Everything which could be thought of was done without good result, until he began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla which effected a perfect cure. Mr. Hauer is now in the best of health. Full particulars of his case will be sent all who address
