The cold autumn weather appears to have had a depressing effect on tennis, however, our club has had an unusually successful season this year, so they cannot complain if their enjoyment is cut a little short. Some of our most expert players this year have been foreigners. We natives will have to bestir ourselves or our tennis laurels will be rudely torn from our brows. One of the most skilful of those not of native birth is Miss Coombs. This young lady, despite the fact that she is only a beginner, has attained a degree of skill that would put to shame many an old and experienced player. MONCTON.

[Progress is for sale in Moncton at the book. store of W. H. Murray, Main street, and on the streets by J. E. McCoy.]

Oct. 5.—Two very pleasant social events marked the end of last week, and the beginning of this. The first was the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs.George C. Peters, which was celebrated on Saturday even-ing in a very pleasant manner, their friends having taken matters into their own hands and given them what is commonly termed a wedding. Between 30 and 40 guests assembled to do honor to the bride and groem, amongst whom were Mr. I. W. Binney, who was groomsman at the original wedding, and the very juvenile Miss Dorothy Magee, aged five months, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peters, Miss Magee was of course accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Magee. I really cannot say whether the bridesmaid of 25 years ago was present or not. As the anniversary fell upon the last day of the week, the proximity of Sunday made the evening rather a short one, but it was most pleasantly spent, most of the time being devoted to whist. Supper was served at eleven o'clock and the guests departed in time to avoid breaking the Sabbath. Mr. and Mrs. Peters were the recipients of numerous very beautiful and useful presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Peters were the recipients of numerous very beautiful and useful presents.

The other event, which was perhaps hardly of a strictly social nature, was a friendly match between the Amberst and Moncton tennis clubs, which was played on Monday on Mr. P. S. Archibald's tennis grounds. The players were, Dr. and Mrs. Tupper, Miss Tighe and Mr. Bateson, of Amberst club, against Mrs. R. W. Hewson, Miss Foster, Miss McKean, Mr. P. S. Archibald and Mr. C. J. Butcher, of Moncton. I am patriotic enough to be sorry to record that victory went with Amberst, only one single being won by Moncton, but still our club is only in its infancy as yet, and we may yet perform such wonders with the racquet and ball that other clubs will tremble at our prowess. The visitors and the Moncton players were entertained by Mrs. P. S. Archibald.

Miss Shaw, of St. John, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. W. H. Murray, returned home on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Steadman Crandall, of Pleasant street, left town last week to spend a few weeks in

New York.
Mr. Robert Dustan, of the Bank of Montreal, Halifax, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Harris for a week, returned home on Saturday. Mr. George F. Fair's numerous Moncton friends were glad to see his pleasant face again, last week, and only regretted that his visit was not only a short but a farewell one; after spending a few days in town Mr. Fair returned to St. John on Saturday, and I believe he leaves today for Butte, Montana, where he intends to make his home in future. His friends in Moncton wish him all possible success.

Mrs. W. E. Stavert, who has been spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. C. J. Butcher, departed last week for Pictou to visit friends.

Mr. A. H. Beddome, manager of the Bank of Montreal, left town on Saturday to spend a month's vacation at his home in Ontario. Mrs. Alex. Woodman, of Westfield, who has been spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nase, returned home today; she was accompanied by her sister, Miss Nase. Mrs. Woodman's numerous friends were delighted to welcome her back to her former home, and only regretted that her visit was so short. Mr. C. W. Robertson, of Daniel & Bobertson, St. John, spent a few days at his home in Moncton, last week, returning to St. John on Saturday. Mr. Arthur Nase, formerly of the I. C. R. offices here, but now of Chicago, is spending a fortnight a his home here, and being very warmly welcomed by his old friends.

Mrs. W. C. Fleming, who has been visiting friends in Boston, returned home last week.

Miss Tweedie left town on Friday to spend some weeks visiting friends in Boston. Miss Stavert, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. J Butcher, returned last week to her home in ummerside, P. F. I. Mr. Harvey Atkinson returned last week from his trip to the United States, which extended as far west as Chicago, and which he very thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. Hugh Hooper, who has been visiting his brother, Rev. E. B. Hooper, returned yesterday to his home in Toronto. Mr. Charles Webb left town this morning for trip to the United States, including Boston, New York and Baltimore. Mr. Webb was accompanied by his mother, who intends spending the winter in New York.

Mrs. George McSweeney left town yesterday to spend a month at her home in Summerside, P. E.

The Central methodist church is being partly torn down, in order to prepare an organ chamber for the reception of the beautiful new organ which is soon to be put in place. This organ is to cost $2700; all of which has been raised by private sub-scription. The congregation will worship in the Opera house for the next three or four Sundays.

I believe the congregation of St. John's presbyterian church have unanimously requested Rev. J. M. Robinson, their pastor, to remain in Moncton, instead of accepting the call he recently received to Charlottetown. It is hoped that Mr. Robinson will consent to retain his charge in Moncton, where he is so popular and where his work is so thoroughly appreciated.

And now I trust the editor will grant me sufficient space to reply in the briefest manner possible, to a letter from the pen of Rev. E. B. Hooper, rector of St. George's church, in reference to the death and burial of Miss Florence Barnes; which appeared in one of the daily papers last Monday, and in which the reverend gentleman permitted himself to display more of temper, and less of christanity, than one usually expects from a minister of the gospel. Mr. Hooper has seen fit to accuse me, rather coarsely, I think, of talsehood, and also to speak of my ignorance and impertinence. Which of us has displayed the most feeling and the most ignorance, I leave to our readers to decide, merely remarking, that after a careful perusal of Mr. Hooper's letter, I cannot see that he has disproved one of my statements, and I observe that in speaking of the funeral services he could find no better words in which to describe them than the ones I had employed, so he borrowed them for his own use. Now I have no quarrel with the rector of St. George's church, and I should not have taken any notice of his letter were it not that I think his mistaken zeal in bringing their names before the public would have the effect of creating a very false impression with regard to Mr. and Mrs. George McSweeney, which I feel it my duty to correct, much as I dishke entering into anything like a newspaper controversy. Mr. Hooper has taken some pains to wrest my words into almost an accusation of unkindness to Miss Barnes, on the part of Mr. and Mrs. McSweeney, a view which, but for him, I do not think it would have entered the wildest imagination to entertain, and as they are naturally debarred from setting themselves right in the eyes of the world I think simple justice demands that I should endeavour to do so. I am in a position to know that Miss Barnes was treated with unvarying kindness by her employers that she was made one of the family in every respect, and that she herself regarded the home she had come to as an exceptionally happy one. I know that if she had been a sister of her employers she could not have received greater care and attention than she have received greater care and attention than she did at their hands during her illness, and all that care and medical skill could do for her was done while she was in Moncton, but I repeat what I said before that she died amongst strangers in the hospital at St. John, without anyone whom she had known before her illness near her, and that h r case was, as I have said, an exceptionally sad one.

I must apologize to Mr. and Mrs. McSweeney for doing what I have blamed the rector of St. George's church for having done—bringing their names into the discussion—but under the circumstances I scarcely see how I could have avoided it.

CECH. GWYNNE.

Our attention has been directed by Rev. E. B. Hooper to his letter in the Times of Monday, relative to the remarks of our correspondent on the illness, death and burial of Miss Barnes, and we regret that a careful perusal of it lessens our opinion of him as a man and our respect for him as a clergyman. The comments of "Cecil Gwynne" do not seem to us at all uncalled for: the facts may have been astray in regard to the haste of the funeral, but it is not always possible to secure the most accurate information, and Mr. Hooper should have nesitated before he spoke of the statements as "falsehoods." If he read the paragraph twice he must have noted that there it was not penned in a spirit of "impe tinence" or "falsehood," and the expressions "lack of taste" and "ignorance" seem better to apply to himself when in his Times letter he speaks of the "decaying" body.

Progress is always ready to do justice and hasten to correct a false impression when its attention is directed to it. Mr. Hooper should be aware of this, and, remembering, as he must have the kindly notices of him-elf and his church in this column would it not have spoken better for his "christianity" if he had written privately, either to Progress or "Cecil Gwynne" and obtained the correction he desired before rushing into print with expressions so unbecoming to his calling and his manliness as "impertinent," "ignorant," "lack of taste," considered in the light of their personal application .- EDITOR PROGRESS.]

Oct. 6 .- With the exception of a buckboard ride and a few small whist parties there has been b little to interest society since the leap year ball which was so enjoyed by all who were there, as was the description of it by those who were not there, which was so amusingly and graphically written by a clever young lady in Calais. Since that event whist parties seem to be the only thing in the way of amusement here.

On Wednesday last Mrs. S. H. Blair most pleasantly entertained a number of her young friends with whist, and on Friday evening the whist club met with her. This is the first evening of whist this club has enjoyed this season. The next place of meeting will be at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W.
