

MONCTON.

[Progress is for sale in Moncton at the bookstore of W. H. Murray, Main street, and on the streets by J. E. McCoy.]

MAY 11.—I really do not know of anything that is going on in Moncton just now, except the 24 hour system of dividing time, and an enormous amount of grumbling amongst business men because the three banks and the custom house resolutely declined to adopt the same, but persist in using that old fashioned method of reckoning which was doubtless adopted by Adam, namely the sun. Now I don't mean for a moment to suggest that we can do without the sun just yet, science, and Mr. Edison have not yet advanced that far, but as the moon has been superseded by the electric light, the time may not be far distant when we shall no longer find the sun necessary for our comfort; so the sooner we become accustomed to doing without him the better. Mr. Sanford Fleming has kindly provided us with a substitute vaguely described as the "Eastern Standard," and why not accept his efforts on our behalf in a spirit of thankfulness, relieve our watches of the necessity of being like a large majority of the human race, that counts no order our lives and our households according to standard time?

Seriously speaking, the fact of these four institutions alone keeping local time is a very great inconvenience to the business community, and the sooner they conform to the general usage the better for all concerned.

On May 10, over my notes for last week I see that I neglected to mention the wedding of two young Monctonians which took place the week which last at Cambridge, Mass. The principals were Mr. Charles A. Murray and Miss Kate Gellan, of Moncton, and the ceremony was performed at the residence of Mr. J. R. Little, brother-in-law of the bride, in the presence of some 75 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Murray's numerous friends in Moncton will join in wishing them much happiness. I believe they intend residing permanently in Boston.

I regret to say that early and cold as it is our summer, the exodus of our people has begun, already Mr. and Mrs. Edward May were the first to desert us, having taken their departure for Montreal on Monday evening. I believe many others, already children intend remaining in the upper provinces until the autumn, leaving Mr. May to the sorrows, or joys, as the case may be, of a bachelor existence this summer.

A. H. Beldome and his little daughter, departed last evening for Boston, where they will spend the next few weeks on a visit to Ottawa. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hanington intend leaving us in the course of a few days for their summer residence at Sheldale. And I understand that they are soon to lose Mrs. E. M. Esty altogether, as she intends joining Mr. Esty very soon, in New York, where they will make their home in future.

Mr. Peter McEwen, and his son, Mr. Albert McEwen, returned last week from their trip to the Northern States.

The indefatigable works for the organ fund of St. George's church, came before the public again to-morrow evening, this time with a more dramatic entertainment under the management of Mrs. George W. Daniel, and promises to be a very pronounced success, but of that I shall be able to speak more positively next week.

Mr. George Taylor of the I. C. R., accompanied by his private secretary, Mr. J. H. Wran, returned on Saturday from a week's visit to Ottawa. The many friends that Mrs. E. B. Hooper and her sister Miss Foster have made during their residence in Moncton will sympathize very deeply with them in the loss of their brother, Mr. Foster, who died very suddenly the week before last at his home near Toronto.

Judge Haughton was in town on Thursday. I understand that he intends holding chambers in Moncton every Tuesday, which will doubtless be a great convenience to the Moncton lawyers.

Rev. W. B. Hinson's Moncton friends will be glad to hear that his health is much improved, his native air having evidently done much towards restoring him to healthy condition.

I regret to announce the death of Mr. J. C. Crosskill, formerly editor and proprietor of the Daily Reporter, which took place on Monday. Mr. Crosskill has been a resident of Moncton for some years past, and was at one time editor of the Daily Times. He had been ill for some weeks, so his death was not unexpected. The remains will be taken to Halifax for interment by this evening's train.

The numerous friends of Mr. W. L. Harris, second son of Mr. C. P. Harris of this city, will be glad to hear of his success in passing his examination at the university of Pennsylvania, and winning the degree of M. D. Mr. Harris has also been appointed resident physician at the Germantown hospital outside of Philadelphia. A wonderful distinction for so young a man.

Mr. Trainor, of Wyoming territory, is visiting his brother, Mr. C. P. Harris, at Moncton. The ladies of the Presbyterian church intend holding an entertainment and a fancy sale to aid in the basement of the church. A most attractive programme, not to mention a most appetizing bill of fare, has been prepared.

SACKVILLE.

[Progress is for sale in Sackville at C. H. Moore's bookstore.]

MAY 11.—Mrs. Parson had a very nice little card party at "Acacia Grove" last week. Mrs. Parson makes a charming hostess, and all who enjoy her hospitality once long to go back again. Among those present were: Mrs. Atkinson, Miss Mack Lanter, Miss Crompton, Miss Knapp, Miss Estabrook, Messrs. Calkin, Osborne, Beers, Murray and Patterson.

Mr. Amos Bliss, a former resident of Sackville, was in town last week, the guest of Mrs. Trueman. Mrs. McDougall and Mrs. Thos. Estabrook went to Amherst last week.

Mr. Charles Ward has returned from the shire town.

Mr. Amasa Tingley, of Point de Bute, spent Saturday in Sackville.

The town is courts are under way again. I should like to see more married ladies take an interest in this game. Their presence even as spectators would be welcome and encouraging. The courts are centrally situated and is a nice place to meet each other in the afternoons. They do it in other towns and surely we are not going to be behind in Sackville.

Mr. S. J. King, post office inspector, was in town last week.

Mr. W. C. Milner spent a few days last week in Nova Scotia's capital.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Harrison went to St. John Saturday. He to meet the people of St. John by his electioneering eloquence. She, by her sweet singing.

Mr. Geo. E. Ford, one of our popular merchants, spent a few days last week at Moncton.

The many friends of Miss Annie Wright were pleased to see her in town this week.

Mrs. Allison entertained the academy students at the college Friday evening.

Mr. Lemont of Fredericton, was in town Tuesday. Mr. Ed. Allison went to Halifax last Saturday.

Miss Mary McHaffie left on Tuesday night to take a position in Waltham, Mass.

It is really most refreshing to see a lady on horseback once in a while. Miss DeWolf, of Shelburne, at present the guest of Mrs. Wood, leads some of our young ladies here a good example by appearing out. I am sure if they only knew how charming they looked and what a benefit the exercise would be to their complexions, we would have more of this grand old exercise.

Miss Bliss, of Amherst, is at present the guest of Miss Cogwell.

The main street here presents rather a lively appearance each evening with our local horse racing along endeavoring to beat a 3.40 record. Horse racing is all very well, and I, for one, like to see a good race, but I think ought to be stopped on the streets. It is not safe for a horse to go out driving, as he is sure to meet on rounding the corners some of the aforesaid trotters with their drivers making noise enough to frighten an army.

Dr. Parson from New York, is at present the guest of his son, Mr. A. T. Parson.

Miss Hattie Hings was in town from New York, but is expected home at an early date.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Kinneer went to Amherst, this week.

Miss Mabel Heston of Amherst, was in town this week.

Mr. Arthur Dixon has gone to Boston for a visit.

Mr. William Knight of Amherst, formerly of Sackville, was in town a short while this week.

Mr. Patrick Hebert of Port Elgin, was in Sackville on Wednesday.

Mrs. Norman and Master Rollie are home from New York, much to the pleasure of their many friends.

Reports from the late emigrants from the maritime provinces who left for the Northwest are very discouraging. The prairie province is not the land flowing with milk and honey as we have been led to believe. In some cases the young men have had to work for their board, in other cases they have crossed the border and endeavored to obtain employment at their various trades in uncle Sam's territory. I wonder if the inhabitants of these provinces will ever learn that we live in one of the best farming districts in the world and that the most equable climate enjoyed by the human race.

SNOWBALL.

DORCHESTER.

[Progress is for sale in Dorchester at George M. Fairweather's store.]

MAY 10.—He was only a boy, a very little boy, but he was nicely inoculated with measles when he came among us, and verily the tree that springs from the tiny mustard seed was not in it with the crop of measles that followed in his train. As it was the seventh plague of Egypt (I think it was the seventh), there is not a house that has not its victim at least, and generally as many as there are inmates who have not been already visited. Every where, anywhere, you go you encounter the same tale of woe, and I know of one house that counts no less than six cases this "dressed listless." However, it is an ill wind, etc., and the doctors and druggists find business good at present, and the future assured for some weeks at least. Moreover, those who suffer now have the pleasing assurance that they will be superior to measles on the next visitation, and I am sure that the consciousness of safety in the future is a blessing worth having, especially since we pay so dearly for it. So here to the little boy who gave us all the measles, even if he didn't want to and we didn't want him to at the time. We have no quarrel with him.

With one very successful fire, and two unsuccessful attempts to suicide, all in one week, we feel dreadfully dissipated and wicked and city like. To be sure, both the suicidal endeavors were by the same unfortunate individual, but that only enhances the interest. We are living now in the constant dread of something happening, and when the word went around the other evening that two legal gentlemen of our fair city had been engaged in a most acrimonious discussion in one of our public thoroughfares, with consequent demand of apology, chat, and finally (also) amicable settlement, people went around in a perfect fog of excitement. If this abnormal state of affairs continues, no one can tell what may come of it. Who can feel certain that the sidewalks will not be repaired or something equally unexpected happen? But I am neglecting my regular business, which proves as imposing and important as usual.

W. W. Wells, Q. C., was seen on our streets on Monday, as of yore, and as he may be seen almost daily, since he still devotes that time to his Dorchester office. It is on that day we most realize what we lost when we lost Mr. Wells. I believe that Mr. Wells purposes leaving for a short trip to Philadelphia at the end of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Fairweather have been visiting Mr. Fairweather's home in Sussex (Apohaqui) since their return from a short trip to Philadelphia at the end of the week.

Mr. W. A. Hickman has been laid up for some time with a very severe attack of our common affliction, the measles. He is reported better to-day, but is still quite ill.

Miss Gussie Ford and several of Mrs. M. B. Palmer's family have also been similarly afflicted, but all are recovering.

Miss Constance Chandler and Mr. G. Barron Chandler have recently succeeded in their attempt to secure a new house for themselves at a very low price, so many of us that I shall not attempt to enumerate them all.

Miss Nellie Palmer came over from Mr. Allison on Friday, and remained over Sunday with her parents.

SUSSEX.

[Progress is for sale in Sussex by R. D. Boal and Geo. D. Martin.]

MAY 10th.—A brilliant ending to an unusually gay winter was the Benedicite and Bachelors' ball on Thursday evening which was one of the largest and most enjoyable ones ever held here. The different committees had spared no pains to make the arrangements perfect in every detail, and they certainly must feel satisfied with their success. The hall was considerably improved by the decorations of prettily made and well chosen, which by means of plants placed at points of vantage, rugs, scotches, etc., had been transformed into a cosy little room, the effect to the dancers being very charming. The Oddfellows' parlor downstairs formed a quiet retreat for those who did not care for or were tired of dancing, and afforded the lovers of cards a chance to indulge in their favorite game, while upstairs the excellent music furnished by five pieces of Harrison's orchestra added largely to the enjoyment of those who tripped the light fantastic. A delicious running supper, consisting of salads, sandwiches, cake, fruit, ice-cream, etc., was enjoyed by all alike. The invitation committee, Major O. R. Arnold, Col. E. B. Beer, Mr. O. P.
