My little criticism with regard to the difficulty of hearing at the last entertainment given in St. Peter's hall has had most beneficial results. The hall has since been renovated and no one can now complain of being unable to see the stage or hear the speakers providing the latter make the least effort to be heard. This fact was very evident this evening, when the stage was occupied by the Amateur Min istrels, who did themselves great credit. Patrons of the hall can feel a sured of a fine view of the stage in tuture. Thursday evening Mr. James Cremor will occupy the stage under the auspices of the St. Aloysius Association. His lecture on "a tour through Europe," will be accompanied by some
