The marriage of Mr. James V. Russell to Miss Lizzie Gray took place on Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. Wm. Gray, Main street. The ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. T. F. Fotneringham, took place at 6.30 o'clock, none but the immediate foliations. the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties being present. The presents were very handsome, inclu ing some from Montreal and Col-orado and a number of cheques. North end has lost one of its most charming and popular young ladies, and by the number which assembled at the depot to wish them farewell slowed the esteem in which the young couple are held. FEB. 15 .- Ash Wednesday is here at last, and the festive robes are laid aside for a brief season to be replaced by metaphorical sackcloth and imaginary

Last week was a gay one. Besides the ladies' dance in Enman's hall on Monday evening, there were three other social functions, and the entertainment by St. Bernard's dramatic club, which filled up the week pretty well, only leaving Saturday as a resting day.

Mrs. W. J. Weldon gave a whist party on Tuesday, at which about 24 guests spent a very pleasant

On Friday evening Miss Beulah, and Master Mayne Archibald entertained their large circle of friends at a dance. There were between 40 and 50 guests present, who enjoyed themselves to the highest possible degree under the skilful guidance of their youthful hosts.

On Wednesday evening St. Bernard's Dramatic club presented Baker's three act drama, "My Brother's Keeper" at the Opera house to a large audience. Those taking part were Miss Kate Mc-Donald as "Grace Benton." Miss Mattie McKeiver as "Betsy Benton," and Miss Maggie Kelly as "Rachel Allen." Mr. R. W. Kelly as the wealthy merchant "Abel Benton," Mr. J. H. Corcoran and Mr. George Thorne as "Richard Carnes," and McLellan as "Charles Benton," and Mr. Hugh Hamilton as "Scraps." All the actors did well but special mention is due Miss Kelly, Miss McKeiver and Mr. Hamilton. Miss Kelly showed a perfect ease of manner and forgetfulness of self, seldom seen in amateurs, and the only fault the sternest critic could find with Miss McKeiver was a slight tendency to overact her part. Of Mr. Hamilton's acting it is scarcely possible to speak too highly, he showed all the ease of a professional actor, and carried the audience with him from start to finish; his skill in assuming the peculiar muffled voice of a deat person was inimitable and his convenient excuse for not hearing any to which he wished to be deaf. "You're on the Wrong side," was the hit of the play. It is to be regretted that Mr. Hamilton suffered severely from an unfortunate accident behind the scenes which threatened for a moment to create a panic amongst the audience. A number of children and young girls were grouped behind the scenes ready for a tableau which was to conclude the entertainment. Their dresses were of white muslin and all had flowing hair. One of the group, Miss Teresa Daley, in passing a gas jet managed to ignite her hair, and fled across the back of the stage in full view of the audience, shrieking wildly, and with the upper part of her body a mass of flames. effect of her presence amidst a number of children, all lightly clad, may be imagined, and for a few mo-ments confusion reigned. However, the fears of the audience were quieted and the flames extinguished, but not before several of those on the stage had been severely burned, Mr. Hamilton especially. actors showed rare fortitude, and proceeded with the play after a scarcely perceptible break, Mr. Hamilton going through an entire act like a hero, though he must have been suffering intensely, as he has been confined to the house ever since, so severely were his hands and arms burned.

A very attractive feature of the entertainment was the drill of the Boy's Brigade, of St. Bernard's, in which some 24 small boys went through various military evolutions under the direction of their cap tan, Master Willie Gallagher, who thanked the audience for their appreciation in a neat little speech at the conclusion of the drill. Unfortunately the tableau could not be given on account of the accident referred to.

Mrs. R. A. Borden returned on Saturday from Sussex, where she has been spending a week with her mother, Mrs. William Smith. Rev. A. J. and Mrs. Cresswell were in town for a few days last week, visiting Mr. and Mrs. George

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Hewson, and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hanington, were in Dorchester on Thursday, attending the marriage of Mr. C. F. Hanington. The last of the socials, which have been held weekly in St. George's Sunday school house with such success, was given on Monday evening, the novel feature of the entertainment being the fact that it was given entirely by the masculine portion of the congregation, the ladies not being allowed to assist in any way except that there services were found indispensible when accompanists were required. The gentlemen received the guests as they arrived, and took entire charge of the programme which was an excellent one, and thoroughly preciated, as the numerous encores testified. Perhaps the gem of the evening was the trio, the "Darkey's Golden Wedding" by Messrs. G. W. Daniel, H. W. Twigger, and A. E. Wilkinson, Mr. Sutton's solo "The Song that Reached My Heart" was an-other beautiful number, while Mr. McDonald's solo on the tin whistle was received with rapturous Mrs. George McSweeney has the sympathy of all her friends in the very sad death of her brother, Mr. W. For a short time past the young people of St.

Paul's church have been preparing for an entertainment, which took place last Tuesday evening in the music hall. The audience was large, and the odious "small boy" not being present, the people were able to listen with some degree of comfort. party from Dorchester drove over to attend the en-tertainment. The tableaux were very pretty in deed, and reflect great credit on the young people.
"The seasons" were very prettily represented by Miss Bell as Winter, Miss Shewen as Autumn and Miss G. Fawcett as Spring, all of whom took their parts to perfection. Cupid was represented by Miss Ida Fawcett, a maiden of four summers, and everybody thought her well suited to her part in the first tableau, st. Varantine, as also in the pretty tableau "The Flower of the Family." The tableau "Mistress Mary" was very pretty, Miss Mabel Kainnie taking the part of Mistress Mary, which she did in a very harming manner.

The tableau, society life was thought by some to be the gem of the evening, and indeed it was lovely. The young ladies who took part in it wearing very handsome dresses, conspicuous among them being Miss Pauline Bell in beautiful yellow silk, court train; Miss Mary Robinson, very pretty blue bengaline demi train; Miss Ethel Smith, white silk; Miss Grace Fawcett, looked lovely in black lace: Miss Emma Ayer, handsome black and gold costume; Miss Mabel Rainnie, white surah silk, court train; Miss Emilie Wiles, pale blue, and white silk; and Miss Gwendolen Shewen, looking very pretty in pink silk and chiffon trimmings, and court train. Mr. Ted Smith made a splendid Blue-beard and Miss Grace rawcett an admirable Fatima. The scene in the chamber of horrors was well executed and made one shudder to glance at it.

The Inattentive Chaperone and the Home Sym phony showed careful practice, particularly the One of the scenes that took best with the public was "The Gypsey Scene," it made one imagine that a real gypsey camp had dropped down before the audience with the picturesque costumes and scenery.

Scenes from Hiawatha were cleverly put on, Miss Bell representing Minniehaha, Miss E. Ayer Na-comas, and Mr. Ted Smith as Hiawatha. musical part of the programme was good. Mrs. J. E. Trueman played a selection on the cornet from La Favoreta which was a treat. Mr. Thos. Murray sang twice with great expression and received a well deserved encore which he responded to by singing a Scotch song. Dr. A. Potts' comic song was greeted with great The two readings given during the evening by Miss Ethel Smith and Miss Florence White were well received, and they showed that each had very carefully prepared them. Miss Susan Cogswell acted in the capacity of pianoist for the evening. The young ladies closed with a tableau representing "Miss Canada," and sang My Own Canadian

FEB. 15.—The most enjoyable event of the season was on Monday evening, when the members of the dancing class, who have been taught to trip the light fantastic very gracefully by Prof. Peters, of Boston, gave a reception and ball. It was held in the temperance hall, which was handsomely decorated with evergreens, oil paintings, banners and Japanese lanterns, by manager Goslin and others of the class. During the reception the Andover cornet band entertained the company with several choice selections. At half-past eight about fifty couples formed in the grand march. The music was by Prof. Peters' orchestra. About midnight a supper given by the ladies was served in the Masonic dining room, which the Masons very kindly permitted the party to use. After supper the remainder of the programme and several extras were danced. The costumes worn by the ladies were very pretty and

Mr. Harvey Heed Laceyville, O. Catarrh, Heart Failure, Paralysis of the Throat

I Thank God and Hood's Sarsa-

"Gentlemen: For the benefit of suffering humanity I wish to state a few facts: For several years I have suffered from catarrh and heart ailure, getting so bad I could not work and parilla for Perfect Health."

Could Scarcely Walk I had a very bad spell of paralysis of the throat me time ago. My throat seemed closed and could not swallow. The doctors said it was caused by heart failure, and gave medicine, which I took according to directions, but it did not seem to do me any good. My wife urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, telling me of Mr. Joseph C. Smith, who had been

but was entirely cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.
