SHEDAC CAPE.

Aug. 17.—Yesterday was a day of attractions, and a holiday with nearly everybody. They who remained home, indifferent to the opportunities which presented themselves for a day of travel, sporting and recreation were very indifferent, indeed, and certainly not "up to the times." The racing at the Memramcook driving park, was, perhaps, the most potent drawing card of the day. The horsemen thought so, and with them business and work of all kinds were given a vacation. The excursion of the 74th band to Parrsboro was liberally patronized. The last of the two day's picnics on the grounds of the Grand Digue R. C. church, (including this district) brought out a large attendance and the committee in charge is expediting a substantial surplus when its accounts are squared.

The interest of some of the neighbors in matrimonial matters this year.

The seating capacity of St. Martin's church was considerably enlarged this week by the addition of a half dozen new seats. Last summer the church was not been enough pews to seat the congregation. The idea of again introducing intoned services in churches, a topic dealt with by writers in PROGRESS some time ago, seems to have commanded some consideration here as I hear an attempt at intonation of the psalms was made at a rehearsal of the choir of St. Martin's church recently.

I hear that arrangements are being made by Shediac division, No. 25, S. of T., for a picnic to be held within a fortnight. A special meeting for re-organization purposes was held Tuesday night in division hall.
