Mr. C. T. Hillson arrived home on Wednesday from an extended tour through the upper provinces. Mrs. Curry's dance on Friday evening was a little out of balance, the gentlemen quite outnumbering the fair guests. It went on, however, very gaily, and when charmingly assisted by her pretty daughters the Misses Tighe, there is a pleasaut time in store for her guests and time flies all to rapidly in her spacious and elegantly furnished parlors. In the way of pretty gowns it was said to be rather above the gentlemen were vacation in Cape Breton, spent Sunday in town. Mr. D. A. Cameron, of Canso, was in town for a few days last week, on his return from Halifax.

The dance given by the young men in Macdonald's hall on Friday evening was quite a success. Great credit is due to the young gentlemen for the manner in which they got up the affair.

the fair guests. It went on, however, very gaily, with a little extra effort on their part, that was doubtlessly highly appreciated. Mrs. Curry was gowned in silk, draped with lace, and gave her dance in honor of Miss Robertson, of St. John, who is a very winsome belle. The guests were Mrs. D. Robb, Miss N. Ison (Truro), the Misses Main, Miss Moore, Miss Lowerison, Miss Morse, the Misses Purdy, and Miss Cutler, Messrs. Hillcoat, Robb, Purdy, Townshend, Munro, Robt. Douglas, J. Douglas, Dr. McQueen, Dr. Hall, C. black, J. Curry, A. W. Bateson, A. Purdy, A. Robb and Mr. Leckie.

Mrs. J. R. Lamy gave a large dance on Tuesday evening at her home Willow Side, Victoria street. Mrs. Lamy is an interesting and gracious hostess and when charmingly assisted by her pretty daughtown last week.

The death of Mrs. Geo. A. Wootten, of this town, which occurred on Wednesday evening of last week, was keenly felt by all who have had the pleasure of her acquaintance. The deceased was a Halifax lady, and came to Antigonish a bride less than a year ago. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved young hus-

Oct. 4.-Since my last letter, society has been extremely gay, parties of all kinds; "A perfect bunch of parties," I heard one lady most originally remark. On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. James G. Stevens entertained at their pretty home, some forty guests with duplicate whist, the first party of this kind ever given here. It was greatly enjoyed and the prizes became the property of Miss Nellie Smith and Mr. Hazen Grimmer, while Mr. and Mrs. James Murray triumphantly carried off the "booby" prizes. As soon as the whist was finished and prizes presented, a most sumptuous supper was served. After supper there was some waltzing and quadrilles, but as the evening shadows were brightening into glorious day bunch." Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are proverbial for their delightful manner of entertaining.

The gowns worn at this party were exceedingly pretty, it is my pleasure to be able to describe a few of them. The hostess looked most petite and graceful in a pretty gown of heliotrophe henrietta, trimmed with velvet of the same rich hue, which was brightened with dead gold ornaments.

Mrs. C. H. Clerke wore pale grey silk, with sleeves of white silk, and trimmings of duchesse lace. Mrs. W. F. Todd, pale pink ottoman silk, richly trimmed with while duchesse lace, diamond orna-

AMHERST.

[Progress is for sale at Amherst by Charles Hillcoat and at the music store of H. A. Hillcoat.] Oct. 4 -The Museum of Antiquities and foreign curiosities is attracting everybody to the New Academy this week to view the marvellous and unique collection exhibited in the Assembly hall. Judging from the happy appearance of Principal Levy, it is ng a success beyond his most sanguine expectiens and his very efficient staff have made themselves famous by the taste and skill displayed in the decorations and arrangement of the various departments. The stairways are surmounted with arches of tricolors and mottoes, and the landings banked with flowers and hung with pictures, the special work of the pupils. A chamber of horrors, with an immense catalogue of objects is guarded by Miss Wilson and Miss West, who deserve a word of praise for the excellent Darwinian designs that should draw the most unappreciative. Mr. Ross has happily presented a scene of old time comfort and cheer in the clever building of a broad fireplace with andirons and fender of the last century; an eight-day clock of same date ticks the time, and the brass candlesticks, with accompanying tray and snuffers shine on the wide mantel. A baking kettle and un oven is on the hearthstone, with spits and spiders and a host of other culinary utensils that our spiders and a host of other culinary utensils that our foremothers used; while a handsome old chair, over a hundred, loaned by Mrs. Donkin is placed by the "ingle" in company with a flax wheel. Too much space would be required to go into details of all the contents of the large glass ca-es around the hall, but prominent among the names on the tables are the Blacks', Dickies', Christie, Donkin, Mrs. A. Gates, Mrs. Quigley, Mrs. Munro, not over-looking Mr. J. P. Edwards, whose card is attached to the bell worn by Evangeline's Heifer, and Mr. Sybley's worn by Evangeline's Heiter, and Mr. Sybley's mammoth collection of rare coins. Mr. Spears has a large pyramid of rare plants placed near the end of the hall under a floral bell, and handsome groups of flowers surmount many of the cases. Dunlap & Co. are literally bewildering the ladies with an extensive display of costly furs, which occupies a

"Ye olde tolkes' concert," which was a special feature for Monday evening, despite a very large and extended specimen of the flood, came off in good olde style. The programme opened with "Auld Lang Syne," and all ye menn and womenne singers did famously. It was slightly past earlie candle lyte when time-beater Campbell, with ye styck and harpsicorder, instructor Munro got all the chorus in place, but one would be over critical to wish it bettered in any point.

to wish it bettered in any point. Ye Worldlie Song synged by spinster Martha Campbell, was one of her very best efforts. Her gown was of stiff black satin, in Puritan style, with white cutts and collar, and the coifure a compound of several ages. Spinster Cellon Wilson singed "Mary of Argyle" very sweetly and looked most antique in a gown of black satin, with scarte of yellow gauze combined at the waist, rare and ellegant fan and pin. Her hair was a marvelous construction of auburn curls and puffs, that was

Miss Macdonald, black cloth with white collar. Mrs. Logan, in a frock of pale blue silk with white lace trimming, spoke "Ye Minuette" in her well known manner and kindly responded to an encore, a fact which I forgot to mention of Miss Wilson and Miss Campbell. During the intermission, Mrs. Black and Miss Coyley gave an interesting performance on the wool and flax wheels that delighted the younger portion of the laudience, and Mrs. Quigley turned the rolls from the wool card with great dexterity, snowing that she had not forgotten the art. The trio were loudly applauded, and dropped a very graceful Among the gentlemen who doned the swallow tailed coats and rufled shirt fronts with such bewitching effect were: Messrs. Hillcoat, Ford, Ross, Greenfield, Ripley, Philips, McLeod, Chesley, Brownel, Fowler, Embree and Lusby. A request by Mr. A. J. Black that the concert be repeated, is to be granted on Friday evening to the great satisfaction of a host of people, who feared to brave the driving rain of Monday evening.

Perhaps; but if just as good as Putnam's, is that not a very high recommendation for the original and best corn cure? Putnam's painless Corn Extractor. Refuse to accept any of the dangerous sore producing substitutes offered by greedy dealers who make large profit and disregard the interests of consumers. Safe, Painless, certain.
