WOODSTOCK.

[Progress is for sale in Woodstock by Barry Shaw and Mrs. John Loane & Co.] JUNE 13 .- The much talked of "Doll's Carnival" took place on Thursday, and was a success financially. The tea was very good, and the tables prettily decorated, and the abundance of nice things provided did credit to the ladies of the town. The local show of dolls was fair, but the "carnival" borrowed nothing in picturesqueness from the decorations of the rink, which were noticeably absent, or from the handsome costumes, (as advertised) of the young ladies in attendance, which were also among the missing. Very little attention was given to minor details, such as light on the local doll show. However a goodly sum was raised and that was the main point The Halifax "dolls' were a surprise and revelation, and present another illustration of the old adage, " Much ado about nothing." On Thursday, Mrs. H. Paxton Baird, entertained about fifty of the young friends of her daughter Ethel, the occasion being Miss Ethel's birthday. A garden party and lawn tea were heartily enjoyed by the merry party of girls and boys who were prettily attired for the occasion. The many friends of Mrs. Stephen Smith are pleased to see her once more occupying her handsome residence on Main St. Mr. R. E. Mr. W. L. Carr returned from Boston, Friday. On Wednesday evening the methodist church was filled by those assembled to witness the marriage of Miss Annie Cupples to Mr. Ernest Holyoke. The church was beautifully decorated with a wealth of flowers and had an arch composed of flowers and ferns, with a bell of white flowers gracefully suspended over the spot where the bridal party stood.

Miss Cupples entered the church leaning on the arm of her uncle, Mr. James Watts. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert Crisp. The bride looked lovely in a charming dress of white surah, profusely trimmed with lace, court train, and veil, profusely trimmed with lace, court train, and ven, and carried an exquisite bouquet of white roses and stephanotis. The bridesmaid, Miss Josephine Watts looked very pretty in a dainty dress of pale blue Indian silk, with head dress of pale blue feathers and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The groom wos supported by Mr. G. Fred Kerr, of Presque Isle. The ushers were Messrs. A. D. Holyoke, James F. Watts, and John S. Layton, Jr. A large party of guests filled the front of the church.

JUNE 14 .- Very extensive and elaborate preparaations are making for the Doll's Carnival and Fair in aid of the blind, whi his 'o be opened on Thursday, the 22nd., in Caledonia Hall, and no pains will be spared, by the ladies in charge, to make it the most attractive affair of the kind ever held in Moncton. The hall is being very beautifully decorated, and some of the booths are really models of artistic beauty. The entire entertainment promises to be very unique, as the spectacle of an army of dolls representing those heroes and heroines of history and romance dear to our childish fancy; such as the brave and good, if rather conceited, "Jack Horner;" ful, but evanescent, "Cinderella"-cannot fail to bring back to even the most case-hardened, and world-weary heart, some of the long-lost sweetness, if not the beautiful faith, of childhooed's happy days. And even if contact with the world has developed our reasoning powers to such an extent, that even the writer's childlike faith will no longer permit him to believe that the belle of the collection, the doll who can talk, is really human; what a revnavy blue with hat to match, and carried a bouquet | elation she will be to the younger generation. She will not be without rivals in the field, because there will be a doll that can cry, and one that can walk, not to speak of one that can kick, but whether the latter is supposed to represent Miss Lottie Collins, or not, I am unable to say. Seriously speaking, the Fair promises to be a very genuine attraction, and it is to be hoped that Mrs. T. V. Cooke, who has kindly undertaken the management of it, will receive the happy couple drove to Fairville and took the night most generous support in her very heavy under-

The only very exciting events which have taken place in our gay circles during the past week have been a whist party and a wedding anniversary, but of course this is the quiet season.

Mrs. C. T. Purdy gave a very pleasant whist party on Monday evening, at her pretty home on Church street, and about thirty of her friends spent a very pleasant evening, between the scientific game and dancing.

A number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Bliss Ward, gave them a very pleasant surprise on Monday evening by assembling at their home on Fleet street, to celebrate the fourth anniversary of their wedding. The guests did not come empty handed, but brought a great variety of beautiful presents in token of their good wishes, and of the affectionate esteem in which they held the young couple. HEALTH AND PLENTY IN THE LOVELY Points of Interest to Summer Tourists and Other Visitors.

Goldsmith has made the world familiar with the picture of one spot "where health | keepers, who, knowing its properties, may and plenty cheered the laboring swain." These words have about them a haunting | Country air and Hawker's tonic are terrific suggestion of peace and pleasure, and homely satisfaction with life and its surroundings Health and plenty are words of cheering import to all the wide, wide world. The beautiful valley of the St. John has long been known as the abode of plenty. It is indeed a health resort as well to city toilers, but it is not exempt from the occasional ravages of disease and death. It is therefore a matter for congratulation that the present outlook promises a future exempt Mr. Barker will be pleased to give profrom these ills, and gives assurance that here- spective purchasers all information reafter health as well as plenty will forever cheer the laboring swain.
