Several very striking tableaux were placed. The court scene of Queen J. Norman Winslow. Elizabeth and Raleigh was prettily put on. Miss Ethel Bourne making a stately Queen with a devoted knight in Mr. Irvine Dibblee.

The "Judgement of Paris" was very good indeed, three pretty maidens artistically dressed, represented the Goddesses-Guy Stewart, as Paris awarded the golden apple to Miss Georgie Starrett, who made a charming Aphrodite. King Cophelies and the Beggar Maid was well carried out-Mr. Loane as King was quite regal in appearance, while Miss Minnie Milmore as the Beggar Maid, appeared shy and diffident, as we supposed her changed position would necessitate. The final tableaux, Brittania, was very pretty. A maiden draped in white, mounted on a pedestal, clasping the British flag, while two others were at the base of the pedestal, holding emblems of peace and plenty, signifying Peace and Prosperity under British rule. Miss Mamie Bull, Miss Hilda Bourne and Miss Ne'lie Fripp were the young ladies in Several good recitations were given-one by Miss Nellie Fripp, entitled "Madeline de Vercheres" was rendered in fine style, another by Mr. Allen Rideout, who also read his prize essay, which was of much interest. Miss Kate Saunders recited, "In the Children's Hospital." Miss Gilmore sangsweetly, a song entitled, "At the Ferry." A quartette py Miss Porter, Miss Gilmore, Messrs. Loane and Dibblee was pretty. Mr. Stanley Neales played a violin solo. The closing chorus was very good; Miss Mary Louise Connell played the accompaniments. Great credit is due to Mr. R. P. Steeves, and his concert will be long remembered, as a fitting close to his work here.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Taylor entertained about thirty of their friends at their residence on Connell street on Monday evening. The rooms were prettily decorated with aprofusion of roses and other flowers. The dresses of the young ladies were pretty, and the evening passed merrily with dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have mastered the art of entertaining and succeeded in making the evening a delightfully pleasant one to all their guests.

Mrs. Taylor received her guests in black velvet Seely, who kooked charming in cardinal surah.
Those present were Miss Seely, Miss Vanwart, Miss Smith, Miss C. Smith, Miss Jordan, Miss Edith Jordan, Miss Bourne, Miss Dibblee, (Winnipeg,) Miss Jaffrey, Fredericton, Miss Griffith, Miss Carr, Miss Watta, Miss Clark, Miss Bull, Miss N Bull, Messrs. The marriage of Miss Florence Smith to Mr. R. E. Guy Smith was solemnized by Rev. Canon Neales, in St. Luke's on Tuesday morning at 10 Marck. As the clock struck ten the groom and his best man entered the church from the vestry, quickly followed by the surplice choir singing "The voice that breathed o'er Eden," as the bride entered from the main door leaning on the arm of her father Mr. B. H. Smith. The bride who is a "petite blonde" looked very lovely in a beautiful dress of white heavily corded silk richly trimmed with honiton point and sprays of lily of the valley, the dress with court train and veil and bouquet adorned one of the daintiest and fairest brides that ever crossed the portals of a church.

The "Maid of Honor," Miss Margaret Jaffrey, were a very pretty dress of cream crepe, trimmed with apple green velvet. Two sweet little maids, in Calais at O. P. Treat's.1 JUNE 27 .- The marriage of Miss Mina Augusta Downes, and Mr. John Hodgins of Ottawa, which occurred on Thursday evening at the home of the bride, was the most brilliant and fashionable event society has seen for many months. Owing to the beauty and popularity of Miss Downes and the high social standing of both Hon. L. G. Downes, father of the bride, and also of the groom, little else has been discussed among society during the past two weeks. The marriage ceremony was performed at six o'clock, by Rev. C. G. McCully in the presence only of the relations, a few intimate friends of the family, and the ushers. The bride, who is a tall stately brunette, entered the drawing room, leaning on the arm of the groom, she was followed by her bridesmaid, Miss Jennie Coe and Lieut. McDonald, of Toronto who was in the capacity of best man, Hon. Lemuel Grosvenor Downes, and her brother, Mr. George Downes. She was magnificiently attired in a bridal costume of white bengaline silk, richly embroidered with white silk, and profusely trimmed with point duchesse lace, she also wore a veil of brussels net, and a coronet of white satin, at her neck a beautiful pendant of pearls and diamonds the gift of the groom, she carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid looked most lovely in a gown of pale yellow sain with overdress of pale room, the bridal party walked under an arch of white ribbon, the ends of the ribbon held by the eight ushers, who were : Messrs. J. T. Whitlock, J. E. Ganong, John M. Stevens, Harry Graham, Wadsworth Harris, George Dexter, Berton McAllister, and Dr. Moore.

The drawing room was magnificently decorated with yellow and white flowers, and was a marvel of loveliness.a The bridal party standing in front of a beautiful arrangement of palms, ferns, and white carnations. Immediately after the ceremony and congratulations, supper was announced. The flora decorations of the supper room, were simply charm ing, and were due to the exquisite taste of Mrs. Ferdinand Emmerson of Boston, aunt of the bride. Over the centre of the table, were arranged a canopy of terns, from which came streamers of white satin ribbon, reaching to the table; on one end of the table stood the bride's cake, which was adorned and banked with hundreds of bride's roses. Ferns, were sprinkied here and there over the cloth; in the centre of the table was a crystal lake surrounded with white carnations and ferns. On the side-board, stood an i mmense punch bowl filled with fruit punch, this was almost hidden in a bower of ferns and roses. Supper lasted more than an hour, and before returning to the reception room, the bride most gracefully cut the bride's cake, using a knife decorated and trimmed with white satin. At half past seven o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Hodgins, Hon. L. G. Downes, Mr. George Downes, Miss Jennie Coe, and Lieut. McDonald, stood in a circle, and received some two hundred guests, who came to congratulate the bride and groom, and wish them "bon voyage." Ices, jellies and fruit punch were served throughout Free sample mailed the evening. At half past nine o'clock the bride left the reception room to change her bridal robes for her going away gown which was navy blue serge with tr mmings of black braid, and a black sailor hat. They then drove to the train followed by hosts of guests and left for Montreal, where they sailed on Saturday for Europe, where they will travel for

The brides maid's bouquet was thrown among the gentlemen and Mr. John M. Stevens was the fortunate young man into whose hands it fell. Of the wedding presents, I can say nothing, except they were of the most valuable and costly kind, and it is said more superb than ever given to a bride on the St. Croix. Hon. L. G. Downes gave a gift of five hundred dollars in gold, and Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Emmerson, of Boston, presented a beautiful royal Worcester clock, with a pair of gold candle-a-bra, which were most unique and beautiful.
