The programme was made up of vocal and instrumental music and addresses, or I might say "social chats," by Rev. Andrew Robertson, pastor of the church, Rev. Mr. Rogers of "united church" and Rev. Mr. Geggie of Truro. The chorus and quartette by members of the choir were well rendered. Special mention is due Miss Jean McDougall, her solo being simply exquisite, she is our "prima donna" of whom we are justly proud. The Misses Chisholm and Fulton were the accompanists. After all the numbers on the programme were gone through, luncheon was served in "social" style, thus ending a really

ST. STEPHEN AND CALAIS.

[PROGRESS is for sale in St. Stephen by Master Ralph Trainor and at the book store of G. S. Wall. In Calais at O. P. Treat's.]

Nov. 1 .- Since my letter of last week the only thing that has occurred to disturb the social dullness that prevails among us, was the "at home" given last evening by the ladies of Trinity church in their school-room, which was prettily decorated with flags, draperies, flowers and ferns for the occasion. The first part of the evening's amusement was of a musical and literary character. Miss Kate Bradnee gave a fine piano solo. Seven little girls, dressed as fairies, recited very prettily a floral poem. This was followed by a song from Mrs. Hazen Grimmer and a reading by Miss Josephine Moore, who is always a favourite. Miss Louie Taylor gave a charming selection on her violin and receiving an encore she responded with the "Last Rose of Summer," which brought forth a round of applause. Then followed a pretty tableaux, "Nuns at prayer," shown in a red light which was most effective. Mr. Smith Dexter, accompanied on the piano by Miss Newton, gave a violin selection, which ended the programme. Small tables and chairs were then placed about the room and a dainty supper of salad, cakes and coffee was served. Trinity ladies are famous for entertainments but this was the most pleasant given here for some time. The ladies who arranged it should repeat it at an early date.

Mrs. D. Sullivan gave an " All Hallowe'en" party ast evening at her residence, for the amusement of her daughter Ethel and her young friends.
