MONCTON.

[PROGRESS is for sale in Moncton at the Moncton Book Store, Main street, A. H. Jones, the Central Book Store and by J. E. McCoy.]

JULY 26.—The picnic season has been unusually late about setting in this year, and as yet I have not heard of a single excursion to the Rocks, though probably the lack of a river steamer may account for that, since our own and only Petitcodiac, however picturesque it may be, with its banks of too adhesive mud, its treacherous quicksands, wonderful bays, and other insupportable ways, does not lend itself gracefully to either sail or row boat service. However, there have been two or three Sunday school picnics and doubtless more will follow.

The Central Methodist and Wesley Memorial Sunday schools combined yesterday and held their picnic at Point du Chene, spending a very pleasant day at the seaside.

Dr. and Mrs. Smith returned on Saturday from their bridal tour. Mrs. Smith appeared on Sunday morning in the Central Methodist church and looked charming in a dainty costume of pale grey and pink, with bonnet to match. She will receive this week at her new home on Church street.

Rev. Mr. Smithers of Sussex, conducted both services in St. George's church on Sunday in the absence of the rector. Mr. Smithers was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Daniel, during his stay in town.

A very pleasant conversation was held in the Y. M. C. A. hall, on Wednesday, and, though the literary programme was very short, it made up in excellence what it lacked in length. Mrs. George Daniel and Mr. Wetmore delighted the audience with a vocal duet, Miss George Cole gave an amusing reading. Miss Ada Williams read "Laddy."

Both these clever young elocutionists carried their audiences with them from start to finish and proved satisfactorily that we have some excellent material amongst our young ladies, from which to construct future public readers.

Mrs. Daniel and Miss Jessie Wallace, each contributed a piano solo to the general entertainment, and at the close the ladies served ice cream, strawberries and cake.

Miss Lillian Burt, of Fredericton, is visiting Miss Fleetwood, of Gordon street. Miss Burt made hosts of friends in Moncton during the two years she was on the teachers' staff here, and she is being most cordially welcomed.

Friday was observed as decoration day by Prince Albert Lodge of Odd Fellows, the members of the Lodge marching in procession to the cemetery in the afternoon, headed by the band of the 1st battalion. The members all wore regalia, and carried bouquets and floral emblems to decorate the graves of their deceased brothers. Many of the citizens observed the day by making a pilgrimage to the cemetery, and decorating the last resting places of their own beloved dead; indeed the day is becoming more and more generally observed every year, and the custom is a very beautiful one.
