

ST. STEPHEN AND CALAIS.

[PROGRESS is for sale in St. Stephen by Master Ralph Trainor and at the book store of G. S. Wall in Calais at O. P. Treat's.]
May 10.—Since my last letter there has been a little more activity in social life, and people and things do not seem quite as dull as they have been during the past two weeks.

Mrs. Henry Todd and Miss Margaret Todd, arrived from Boston on Saturday, after a long visit of several weeks. Miss Todd's young friends rejoice to have her home again on Saturday.
Misses Maud and Mary Boness returned from Minneapolis on Saturday, having spent the winter in that city with relatives. While driving in St. Stephen shortly after their arrival they were thrown from their carriage, and Miss Maud Boness quite severely hurt. Much sympathy is expressed for her and friends hope to see her about town as well as usual in a day or two.

Hackmore Cures Coughs and Colds. MONCTON. [PROGRESS is for sale in Moncton at the Moncton Book Store, Main Street, A. H. Jones, and J. E. McGee.]
MAY 10.—Mrs. R. M. Stevens and Miss Stevens, took their departure on Wednesday evening, for their new home at Truro, whither Mr. Stevens preceded them some weeks ago. It was learned with very deep regret in the early spring, that Mr. Stevens, who had been locomotive Inspector of the I. C. R., for many years, had been transferred by the new mechanical Superintendent to Truro, and the popular feeling was one of strong and perfectly natural disapproval of the transfer, seeing that this division of the I. C. R. would lose a most efficient and popular official, while Moncton lost a valuable citizen. But the powers that be, had spoken, and to hear was to obey. Mr. Stevens owned a very valuable property in town and a change of residence meant an entire uprooting of all associations, and the sacrifice of his home, besides leaving the city where all his interests were centred, to begin life in a strange place. In losing Mrs. and Miss Stevens, their numerous friends in Moncton have much to regret, for besides general favorites in society, they were noted for their hospitality, their invariable readiness in engaging in all charitable and religious work, and their kindness, and generosity to all who were in trouble, or want. Both Mrs. and Miss Stevens were active workers in the congregation of St. George's church, where their departure will leave a vacancy which will not be easily filled. They took with them the warmest wishes for their happiness and prosperity, in their new home.
Mr. Dunlap's friends will be glad to hear that he is able to be out again after his recent illness, which kept him a prisoner to the house for nearly a month.
Mr. T. F. Williamson, of New York, who has been spending a few weeks with her mother, Mrs. Samuel McKean, returned to New York last week, accompanied by her children.
Mr. Geo. M. Ryan, of St. John, formerly of Moncton, paid a short visit here last week.
Great sympathy is expressed for Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Northrup in the loss of their bright little girl, who died suddenly on Thursday of inflammatory croup, after an illness of two or three days. The little one was at an especially interesting age, being nearly six years old, and was an unusually beautiful and lovable child.
Mrs. Botford continues to improve slightly, and reasonable hopes for her recovery are entertained.
Mrs. Robert Entwistle's many friends will be sorry to hear that she met with a very painful, though not serious accident on Thursday, falling from a chair in her own house, and fracturing her right arm, between the wrist and elbow.
Mr. Grant Hall, the new mechanical foreman of the I. C. R., returned last week from Montreal, accompanied by Mrs. Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Hall have taken Mr. Ryan's pretty cottage on upper Main Street and intend going to housekeeping at once. Mrs. Hall will doubtless be a great acquisition to Moncton society, and the people of Moncton are so noted for their hospitality and kindness to strangers, that Mrs. Hall can scarcely fail to feel thoroughly at home in spite of the unfamiliarity of her surroundings.
Mr. and Mrs. Owen Cameron, returned yesterday from a short trip to Halifax.
Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Winters, who have been spending three months in England, returned by the steamer "Labrador," reaching Moncton on Monday last. They had a very delightful trip, spending most of their time in visiting Mr. Winters' relatives.
Mr. A. R. McDonald, district superintendent of the I. C. R., at River du Loup, accompanied by Miss McDonald, paid a short visit to Moncton last week.
Cecil Guinness.

Hackmore Cures Coughs and Colds. SPRINGHILL. MAY 10.—Mrs. A. E. Fraser's social evening party on Monday afternoon, was the most eventful of this week. The party went by the 5:30 p. m. train, to the Junction, and returned a few hours later, laden with the fragrant blossoms; after which, they repaired to Mrs. Fraser's residence, where a recheche little luncheon was served, and music and dancing was indulged in.
Mr. George Hallitt, of St. John, was in town, the first of the week.
Miss Maggie Fuller is home from the Sacred Heart Convent, Halifax, for a few days, owing to ill-health.
Rev. Mr. Wright attended the presbytery at Wallace, last week.
The Boston Comedy Company opened here Monday night, and have been playing to good houses. On Monday night the "Sea of Ice" was put on, for the first time here, and every part was splendidly rendered, and the audience showed their appreciation by frequent outbursts of applause. On Tuesday evening, "Maud's Peril" was the attraction, which drew an excellent house. Miss Gray was faultless, as usual, in the character of Lady Challow; while the night previous, her double role of Louise De Lascaours and Ogarta, was all that could possibly be desired. Wilson T. Bennett and W. R. Noble, both of whom are old favorites with Springhill audiences distinguished themselves in a marked manner every evening, and their clever acting has elicited much praise from every one. Messrs. McMillan, Bedell, Hill and Morrison have also done some good work; Mesdames Clifton and Carmen are very graceful in their various characters, and last, but not by any means least, come, Mr. Price Webber, and his well-known partner, Mr. Price, and what more is it necessary for me to say? He keeps the audience convulsed all the time he is on the stage. To-night "Leah the Forsaken" will be played, and the remaining three nights, new and popular pieces will be produced.
Mr. Sneedden, of Montreal, spent Friday and Saturday last week, in town.
MRS.

SACKVILLE. [PROGRESS is for sale in Sackville at C. H. Moore's Bookstore.]
MAY 10.—The concert under the auspices of St. Paul's church came off on Friday evening. Music Hall was filled with a large and enthusiastic audience. Besides our own townspeople quite large parties attended from Amherst and Dorchester, and all were delighted with the entertainment. The 8th cavalry orchestra was in attendance and did some excellent work. The musical part of the programme was of the highest order, but some of the tableaux showed a sad lack of practice. The opening piece, overture, was well played by the orchestra. Mr. Thos. Murray followed with a solo, "I Fear no Fox." Mr. Murray is a great favorite with Sackville audiences and his singing was much appreciated as was also his second number, it being a character song, "Scots who hae w' Wallace Bied." Miss Mack and Miss Crompton sang "Oh Wert Thou in the Cauld Blast," with great expression. Miss Mack's solo "Cavatina" from Ernani, was beautifully rendered.
Miss Crompton sang The (a) "Distant Shore" (b) Snowflakes, very sweetly. Miss Landers read Xanithi, as only Miss Landers can read, and she received an enthusiastic encore. This closed the first part of the programme. The second consisted entirely of tableaux all from "The Lady of the Lake" with the exception of the grand closing tableau.
The first illustration was Helen Douglas and James Fitz-James in the river scene; Miss Landers made a very sweet Helen, and Mr. Frank Black taking the part of Fitz James in a masterly manner.
The second illustration was the wedding scene, this was one of the scenes of the evening. Miss Estabrooks took the part of bride, and Mr. Thos. Murray, groom. The bride was attended by three demure little bridesmaids, namely, Miss Edith Smith, Miss Gretta Ogden, and Miss Gwendolen Shewen; Miss Minnie Cogswell as the bride's mother was splendid, her attire being faultless. The bride, groom and bridesmaids of course wore the regulation Scotch suits.
The third illustration pictured the meeting of Fitz James and Roderic Dhu, Roderic, Mr. Herbert Henderson, being surrounded by his warriors; this made a very effective scene.
After this came the court scene; a great deal of time must have been spent on this as the dresses of the court ladies were magnificent, and the courtiers were gorgeous to behold. Ellen wore a simple Scotch costume and Fitz James "stood in Lincoln green."
The fifth and last representation was Ellen Douglas, Lord Douglas, Fitz-James, the Graeme, surrounded by their courtiers. Dr. Calkin made a grand Lord Douglas, and what could have been better than Mr. B. B. Teed as the Graeme?
The evening's entertainment then closed with one of the grandest tableaux ever seen in Music Hall. It was the presentation of Columbus to the Court of Spain a miniature throne had been built upon the stage and Miss Morris as Isabella was indeed regal looking, her costume was of course very handsome and rich looking. Mr. Frank Black made a grand Ferdinand, and Mr. P. Eaton Paterson, made one think Columbus had suddenly stepped forth, Miss Gretchen Allison and Miss Ila Fawcett made sweet pretty pages, and the court ladies were beautifully dressed in old fashioned silks and satins and each wore a Spanish mantilla thrown over the head. The young ladies in this were Miss Grace Fawcett, Miss Mabel Raimie, Miss Emilie Willis, Miss Emma Ayer, Miss Ethel Smith, Miss Pauline Bell and Miss G. Shewen. The courtiers were Mr. Bell and Miss Mr. Ted Smith, Mr. Walter Black, Mr. H. Henderson and others whose names I cannot remember.
The Indians which Columbus had brought with him were from the new world some indeed fierce looking and very strange was the contrast between them and their elegant surroundings.

The young friends of Mr. Herbert Wood are delighted to see him home again after spending the winter very pleasantly in Bermuda.
