The Rambles Bicycle club is a comparatively new institution in Halifax, but it certainly seems to have taken hold on the public-though it has taken this hold it certainly deserves the popularity, for it was an extremely enterprising thing for such a young club to go to all the expense of last Saturday. The day turned out beautiful and the crowd was large. The grand stand was more than crowded and (the patrons) had a little place roped off for them in the usual orthodox style. The Liverpool band was in attendance. The sports were well contested but somewhat marred by the fact of there being so many scratchings, which in some races left very few contestants. The St. John men did not do very well in the important events but in spite of that made some very plucky races and finished strong.

Miss McGarry's concert on the fifth of September will be an event both for her friends and for the public. Miss McGarry will be assisted by some local talent, chief among whom will be Mrs. Kennedy Campbell, whom a Halifax audience has not had an opportunity of app'auding for some time. Miss McGarry had a very pleasant experience in the way of success during her stay in England, and while in Paris had the honour of reciting at the English embassy. I hear she is shortly to be married, but she is not likely to relinquish a profession in which she is a success, on that account.

The marriage of Mr. Charles Wainwright and Miss Lough takes place in a fortnight. This very charming young lady has many friends in Halifax. who will be glad to welcome her as a resident.

If the Masonic bazaar began in a rainstorm it ended in a deluge. Just at the time of the closing exercises on Monday evening the rain and wind were beyond description, and by the time people were ready to leave they had a very serious problem before them or how they were to get home. There were no lights in the streets, the electric lights having been cut off on occount of the danger from broken wires, the rain fell in torrents, and it was impossible to stand against the wind. People lucky enough to get cabs went home in them with the horses going at a walk; and some of the more nervous among them preferred to struggle through the mud as best they could, without trusting themselves in a carriage. Many people were struck by flying telephone wires, branches of trees were flying every where, and the whole effect was more like a world gone suddenly crazy than anything else.

I hear that the affair took in $9000 in cash, and that the promoters expect to make $7000, when expenses are paid. The great draw far and away beyond the march, was the living whist. It was new, it was clever, it took place just at that odd time of the afternoon when idle people have nothing to do, and busy ones can steal a moment, and it took more people to the bazaar than did the rest of the attractions all put together. Halifax is progressing in its amusements, and the next thing to be done for charity will probably be amateur skirt dancing. By the way, what has become of the Sailor's Home entertainment which was to have been taken up in this autumn?

Not as many people have gone from Halifax to the tennis tournament at St. John, as would have been the case last year, though a good deal of interest is taken in it, there are not so many tennis enthusiasts about as there were last summer. Mr. Tupman and Mr. Bounatyne, who represent the subalterns of the King's regiment, will probably play a good game, but St. John ladies will probably be too much for Halifax ladies. The tournament was one of the events of the season here last year, and many people preferred it to the cricket tournament.

I hear that Lieut. Twining, R. E., son of Mr. Edmand Twining, has received an excellent appointment at Kingston for a term of five years. Mr. Twining, who has spent the past ten years chiefly in India and Africa, will doubtless find a pleasant change in a Canadian winter.

In consequence of Monday's storm the garden party to have been given on Tuesday by Mrs. Leach had to be indefinitely postponed. Trees were down across the avenue, and the garden was simply cevastated. All the garden parties of the year have suffered from the weather, but none so far have been ned. The necessity was more to be dep'ored in that Tuesday proved a perfect afternoon.

The Garrison regatta is fixed for the sixteenth of next month, and will take place at Oaklands, Colonel Leach's residence. The ladies race should be very pretty and is rather novel. Each boat will have a lady coxswain, and a lady pulling the bow oar; the stroke is to be any man whom the coxswain chooses. In the evening everything which can be lit up will be illuminated, boats, yachts at anchor, launches, and the shores of the various places. If only there is a fine night, and if the regatta committee supply a band, the Arm will indeed have a gala occasion.

A couple of dinners were about all the gaiety of this week in the very first circles. One of these was given for Mrs. Aspley Smith, the wife of the military secretary, and was very smart and pleas ant. The other took place on Saturday evening, at Government House, and was really only the prelude to a theatre-party.

Two picnics were arranged for Wednesday and Thursday, both on the other side of the North West Arm. Both were for children of a larger growth, who are just now most enthusiastic about the open

Wednesday evening was an ideal one for a promenade concert, and an audience even larger than usual flocked to the public gardens. The fireworks were the great attraction. After the concert there were some small and informal suppers, but none of Invitations are out for a tennis party at Bellevue House on Thursday next. This is Mrs. Montgomery Moore's first at home, and it will, of course, be largely attended. I hear that Mrs. Moore has instituted a guild for charitable purposes among the ladies of the garrison.

Among the late arrivals from England are Dr. J. Lewis, Mrs and the Misses Keith, and Mrs. and MissWickwire.

The cross country rides are very likely to be resumed this autumn, as there are several energetic spirits in the garrison who will take the same interest in arranging them as did Captain Jenkins.

Mentioning the names of a few young ladies who looked particularly well in their Masonic costumes, is not out of place, but since he confined himself to members of the Scottish Rite and Virgin Lodge, why should he omit two or three in the former, whose pretty appearance was oft remarked on, much more so than the few who were named? One is the daughter of a popular captain, another a resident of South Park street, opposite the rink. And again, why should not names among other booths Andrews and also of the Knight Templars? Everyone is entitled to his own opinion, but your numerwherever merited, and not to a favored few. on the subject. I would like to add, that the costumes of St. Andrews' and St. Johns' booths were exceedingly becoming and pretty, and considered by many the neatestand prettiest of all. The march was well done, the uniforms of the Scottish Rite showing to advantage. After careful observation,
—the different movements, I believe, were best executed by the Knight Templars and Royal Arch companies. A prominent military gentleman would give the palm to the latter, and I concur in his

BRIDGETOWN.

[PROGRESS is for sale in Bridgetown by Miss B.

Aug. 19 .- A pretty wedding took place Wednesday morning at the baptist church, where Miss Cara Healy, second daughter of Mr. J. H, Healy of this town, was united in marriage to Rev M.C. Higgins, baptist, of Wolfville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. M. Young. Miss Rose Healy was bridesmaid and Mr. Frank Higgins groomsman. The bride looked charming in a travelling dress of brown cheviot trimmed with darker brown, and moss green velvet ribbon, with hat to match. The bridesmaid wore a pale grey dress trimmed with shot silk and a beautiful hat of lace and pink roses. After the ceremony, the couple, accompanied by a large party of relatives repaired to the home of the bride's father, where they enjoyed an elaborate wedding breakfast. They left by the West bound train accompanied by the good wishes of a host of friends who saw them off at the station.

At eleven o'clock Wednesday morning a very quiet wedding took place at the residence of Mr. F. Croskill, agent of the W. & A. railway, when his younger daughter Miss Millie was married to Mr. Merton Shedd of Haverhill, Mass. The bride looked lovely in a most becoming sping away dress of brown cloth handsomely trimmed with silk and velvet. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. P. Greatorex, rector of the parisn. The presents were many and beautiful. The newly married pair left by the noon train for Vermont, where they will

AMHERST.

PROGRESS is for sale at Amberst by Charles Hillcoat and at the music store of H. A. Hillcoa? Aug. 23.-Monday was mapped out for a pretty brisk day in society, but the weather had most to do in the matter, and the ladies who attended the afternoon tea at Mrs. C. T. Hillson's were compelled to make their way there donned in their Rigby's. There were, however, a large number present who were well repaid for their perseverance by a most excellent tea, charmingly served. The tea was given as a farewell to Mr. Hillson's sister, Mrs. Winchester, who, with her daughter, left Amhers on Tuesday to pay a visit to friends in Moncton before going to her home in Chelsea, Mass.

Mrs. C. S. McLeod's tea which was given a little later fared no better, as regards the element, but once the guests were seated in her pretty parlor all thoughts of trifling obstacle were put to flight by the gracious hostess who made her tea a charm' ing affair. As to gowns, it could be little expected to have them extra smart but Amherst ladies have a capital nack of looking well under most trying circumstances, and this was up to the general rule. Miss Bessie Harding entertained a number of friends on Monday evening. Mrs. W. H. Rogers gave an afternoon tea on Saturday at her pretta villa on Rupert street, in honor of her sister Miss McLeod, who has been her guest for a few weeks past.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. E. S. McLeod entertained a number of Miss Jessie McLeod's friends at five o'clock, which was much enjoyed. Canon Townshend arrived on Monday from Halifax to visit his son J. M. Townshend. Mrs. C. T. Morse and family are rusticating for a fortnight at Tidnish.

[Progress is for sale in New Glasgow by A. O Pritchard and A. H. Henderson.] Aug. 23 .- The concert given in James church hall last evening was a great success. Miss MacDougall who is always a favorite with a New Glasgow audience, sang beautifully and was heartily encored. Miss Bonn of Pictou rendered two violin solos exquisitely and more than sustained her reputation as a violinist. The great attraction however was the singing of Mr. Mason B. MacKay a former New Glasgow boy and now a member of one of the lead. ing male quartettes in Boston. Mr. MacKay possesses a rich tenor voice and was heard to special advantage in the duet he sang with Miss MacDougall.
