On Tuesday night a large dance was given at Oaklands, N. W. Arm, by Mrs. Leach. It was not very large and composed almost entirely of military. The arrangements were perfect; a fine night, good floor and an admirable hostess, made every one en-

Maplewood was the scene of a brilliant gathering Thursday, a large ball being given there by Mrs.

J. Kenny and Mrs. J. Morrow. The beautiful floor of the ball-room was crowded with about three hundred dancers. The room and grounds had been beautifully decorated. Eight men from the 66th Band supplied the music. There were many pretty gowns, but time and space forbid me to enumerate but a few. Mrs. Kenny wore white satin; Miss Graham wore pale pink silk; Miss Slayter looked charming in a beautiful shade of Puritan gray, trimmed with black lace; Miss Seaton, who made her debut, wore a pretty dress of white satin; Miss Coxwell, a red gown; Miss Cady, pale pink net; Miss Lawson, white satin; Miss Turner looked well in a black gown; Miss Harvey also wore black and looked very well.

Supper was served in the large dining room, which had been built for the Earl of Aberdeen; small tables were provided for the guests to enjoy the bountiful supper. Monday afternoon a farewell tea was given by Mrs. Tremaine to Mrs. Wilby and Mrs. White. Mrs. and Miss Wilby, the Rev. Reginald and Mrs. White are passengers by the Damara for London.

Monday evening a dance was given on board the Blake by some of the officers. There were about sixty or seventy guests who all seemed to enjoy the dance. The dresses were varied, some wearing evening dress. The majority, however, wore afternoon dress. The ship's band supplied the music and played perfect time.

The Misses Nicholson are at Clairemont. Mrs. Harrison and Miss Harrison, St. John, are at Hillside Hall. On Monday evening a recital was given by Miss Agnes Crawford in aid of the W. C. T. U. The Academy of Music orchestra gave some splendid numbers. Miss Crawford has decided talent which came well to the fore in her well chosen recitations. Herr Bruno Siebelts, a new member of the Doering Brauer conservatory of music, has an exquisite touch and he fairly made his violin speak. The large audience went home decidly satisfied with the evening's entertainment.

Dr. Wylde, son of C. J. Wylde has been spending a few days in Haiifax; he intends going to Montrea to practice there. I wish Dr. Wylde every success. Monday afternoon there was a club tournament at Wellington Barracks.

Government House ball came off Tuesday. It was a tolerably fine night. The guests commenced to arrive about nine. Mrs. Daly received in a beautiful gown of mauve satin trimmed with a darker shade of velvet. Dancing commenced about half past nine. The many handsome uniforms added greatly to the ball room. The floor was excellent; the music was supplied by the 66th band. Chairs were placed outside for sitting out, besides which a tent was also arranged for this purpose; several rooms on the second floor made excellent resting places after the dance. Supper was served in a room off the reception room. Many of the dresses
