The bad weather of Monday evening militated to a great extent against the penny readings in St. Peter's school room, However the audience that did turn up, though small, was most appreciative. The programme, like all the programmes of these entertainments, was a good one. Each number was encored but owing to the length of programme the performers would not respond. The duett by Messrs. A. Peake and G. Bayfield was particular the programme of the performers which are highly cultivated. larly good their voices which are highly cultivated were in perfect harmony. Miss Annie Hyndman who is very popular as a vocalist, sang very feelingly Mrs. Hogg in her piano solo showed that she is evidently mistress of the instrument. I think I have never heard Miss Gertrute Davis to such vantage as she appeared on Monday evening. Her recitation was given in a rich clear voice with much grace and naturalness. In "Over The Harbour Bar" Mr. Alex Bruce was capital, he has a fine tenor voice which was displayed to just advantage in his solo. Mr. Bayfield although a little nervous sang "Mona" well and with much feeling. Miss Benoil's solo was much appreciated as was also Miss MacDonald's violing color. MacDonald's violin solo. The rest of the performers did their share creditably. The first verse of "Three Doughtie Men" by Messrs. Bayfielde, Davis, Earle and MacLean was much enjoyed, as was also that laughter with which they retired—rather abruptly, I must confess. The "Taran-ta-ra" and smiles of the audience were evidently too much for the risibilities of this joyial quarters.

MAY 16 .- All the gaiety this week seems to be confined to the younger portion of society. On Saturday afternoon Mrs. R. K. Ross | gave a charming garden party to some forty little girls. The day was so bright and sunny that tea could be served on the lawn, which was greatly enjoyed by the young guests, as it was the first pic-nic party of the year. The party was given in honor of Mrs. Ross' daughter, Bremner, it being her tenth birthday.

Mr. J. T. Whitlock entertained at supper the firemen who had worked so hard and faithfully at the fire on Sunday evening.

Mrs. G. S. Grimmer, of St. Andrews, is the guest of her son, Mr. Hazen Grimmer. Mrs. Irene Nickerson has returned home after an absence of several months spent with friends in Bangor and Boston.

Mrs. A. V. Collins has returned from a short but pleasant visit in Gardiner, Maine.

Yesterday Mrs. W. Inches entertained at her residence a large party of children from three to eight o'clock. The party was given to celebrate the occasion of Mrs. Inches' little daughter Hazel's seventh birthday. The little hostess was made happy with a number of lovely gitts from her young guests. At six o'clock supper was served, and the table groaned beneath the weight of the good things that children love. Ice cream was served at 8 o'clock, and directly afterwards the children left for their homes. The children who enjoyed this delightful party were: Roberta Grimmer, Kathleen McAllister, Jean McKenzie, Ferne Grimmer, Gladys Maxwell, Marguerite McKenzie, Elsie Lawson, Verna Brown, Hazel Norton, Connie Boness, Mary Grimmer, Bessie Whitlock, Mary Whitney, Gladys Blair, Marian Murray, Rhoda Young, Bremner Ross, Addie McVey, Marcia Mc-Wha, Pauline Clarke, Don Grimmer, Carleton Brown, Vernon Grimmer, Don Cameron, Dollie McKenzie, Flora McConvey, Laura McVey, Sadie Douglas, Lois Grimmer and Kathleen Trainer, Miss Bessie Wetmore and Miss Ida McKenzie as-

Capt. G. C. Haley, of the schooner Jessie B. says: that for the last 4 years he had been a great sufferer from rheumatism in his knee, which at times swelled up and became very painful. He tried many remedies without success until he obtained some of Dr. Mannings German remedy, which gave him almost instant relief. He also says: "I have also used it for indigestion, flatulence, cold in the stomach, cramps, neuralgia, and in fact for almost every pain or ache. I would not be without it, he adds, at any price." Dr. Manning's german remedy is manufactured only by the Hawker Medicine Co'y., St. John, N. B., and is for sale by all druggists and programmes in white and gold with a tiny violin engraved in one corner, announced that on Friday evening last Mr. Raymond Clare Archibald would give his graduating recital. There was an excellent house, a large party from Dorchester attending, and the music throughout was listened to with utmost attention. The opening number by the full orehestra was one of the best things they have yet given and was executed with a great deal of finish, particularly in the crescendos.

Mr. Archibald received a good round of applause

Fraulein Lachs delighted every one with-her two songs. Her appearance was charming, a soft dove colored silk with white lace bertha, and corsage bouquet of natural red roses made up a costume that suited her quaint foreign style to perfection. Her voice is considered extremely pleasing and her method of vocalization up to a high standard. In answer to persistent encores she sang a Swedish song in which her beautiful high, sweet notes were heard very popular, and his musical attainments have endeared him to many and when he says good by to his alma mater, his absence will leave a gap that will not be easily filled. Mr. Landon's musical lectures are drawing to close Perhaps the busy pupils, occupying every spare moment in preparing for the closing, do not regret this as much as the outsiders, some of whom have shown their appreciation by driving several miles to attend them. A good deal of time lately has been given to mus-ic played by the pupils, which Mr. Landon explains, pointing out the motive and phrasing and giving interesting facts about the composer, all of which is helpful alike to player and audience. Several times he has read a charming little story from some musician's life but was always careful to point out where the writer had embroidered a little romance about the plain facts. To make quite sure that it was a lecture however, he seldom fails to admonish the young ladies on their whispering propensities. The admonition is not quite superfluous, for at least, and he might almost say as Von Bulow did on a similar occasion, "Rome does not require to be saved tonight." There will soon be ample opportunity for every one to judge of the good work that is being done in the musical department. On Thursday, May 24th there will be a piano recital in Beethoven hall at 7 30 P. M. on Saturday May 26, at 3 and an organ recital in Lingley hall and on Monday May 28th at 10 A. M. another piano recital in Beethoven hall, besides a great deal of music, both vocal and instrumental will enven the various meetings and exerc minds at present and excuses to visit the dress maker are frequently granted. The gris say that high dresses are to be the fashion this year for reception, as a very decided war has been waged against low necked ones. Perhaps it is just as well for a low bodice is certainly more suited for young ladies who have left school. It is not necessary, of course, to wear a high choking collar. The dress turned away a little at the throat with a frill of lace and elbow sleeves makes as dressy a costume as is needed in a school, and when carried out in some of the light pretty goods so much worn now the effect is charming. There is really nothing so refreshing on this weary, dusty, old earth as the sight of a pretty young girl, prettily attired, and it is a sight we often enjoy at Mount Allison. I fancy there is no school can show more pretty rosy faces and tasteful costumes. Some people imagine that a good deal of expense is incurred to produce this pleasing effect, but it is a mistake. The pretty gowns are the result chiefly of natural good taste and a cultivated ing by several members of the musical staff and two or three pupils. The attendance was not as good as it ought to have been, partly because there had been a large number of concerts there lately and partly because of insufficient advertisng. who were there, however, enjoyed a musical treat.

May 11 .- Mr. and Mrs. Albert McFadgen arrived home from their bridal tour on Wednesday. On Thursday a committee of the congregation of St. Martins church called upon the bride and presented her with an address of congratulation. This was accompanied by a piano lamp and mirror. Mrs. H. A. Scovil read the address, which contained thanks for services as organist, best wishes for future happiness and etc., and at the proper time Revd , Mr. Burt carried in and presented the gifts. But unfortunately the rector is not muscular and the lamp being very heavy it was dropped at the feet of the bride, creating an effect more startling ac, being very much better. Deanery meeting was held here yesterday and last Deanery meeting was held here yesterday and last night we had a very hearty dance.

to great advantage. It is to be sincerely hoped that this sweet Swedish nightingale will be content to retarn to Sackville next year. One of the most lovely things of the evening was the air for G. string with stringed ac companiment. It was a sort of fun in which Mr. Archibald excells and was played with exquisite expression. It was "music, yearning like a god in pain." The "Berceuse" was very sweet and tuneful and the two following solos, of a bright, lively character were very spirited. At the close two beautiful hot house bouquets were presented to him one by the violin class, the other from some of his friends, and as the audience dispersed his school mates, gathered in a knot about the door, gave him three cheers and a tiger. His music leaves little to be desired, for so young a man his technique is extremely good, his bowing is firm and graceful, his tone full and with that singing quality that always appeals straight to the heart.
