FREDERICTON.

| Progress is for sale in Fredericton by W. T. H. Fenety and J. H. Hawthorne. JUNE 20,-A rather startling announcement was rung upon the ears of the public yesterday when it was made known that Rev. Dr. Alexander, sub-dean of Christ Church Cathedral, was about severing his connection with the Church of England to go over to the church of Rome. At the vesper service yesterday Bishop Kingdon formally suspended Mr. Alexander from his deaneryship on account of his change in religious views: his many friends here express regret at the views he has taken and hope that at a not far distant day he will return to the church again. JUNE 19 .- The methodist church, Benton, was crowded to the doors on Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock the occasion being the marriage of Miss Mary J. Gibson, daughter of Mr. William Gibson, merchant, Benton, to Mr. Samuel Arscott, of London, Ontario, of the firm of S. Arscott & Co.. At the appointed hour the bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father and looking very lovely in bridal robes of cream satin and duchesse lace, with court train, veil of brussels net fastened with sprays of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of cream roses. She was attended by a page little Harry Manaton in "Fauntleroy" costume of black velvet. She was preceded by her "maid of honor," little Lizzie Anderson, who looked very sweet in cream crepe de chine and carried a basket of flowers. The first bridesmaid, Miss Janet Gibson, looked very charming in a most becoming dress of pale blue crepon, with head-dress of forget-menots. She carried a bouquet of the same flowers tied with blue ribbons. Miss Nellie MacElroy looked very pretty in pink crepon with "lilies of the valley" in her hair, and a bouquet of lilies tied with ptnk ribbons. The groom was supported by Mr. W. F. D. Jarvis and Mr. Wallace Gibson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Manaton, assisted by Rev. K. MacKay, of Houlton. Mrs. Manaton presided at the organ and discoursed the sweet strains of the "wedding march". Messrs. Hugh Murray and E. M. Laverty acted as ushers. The church was beautifully decorated with masses of flowers of bright colors and sweet perfumes, and the bright sun shining on the wedding party made a most picturesque and lovely scene. After the ceremony a bridal reception was held at the residence of the brides' father, and a most elaborate and sumptuous wedding feast partaken of. The happy couple left by the night train for Montreal on their wedding tour, and will reside in London, Ontatro. The bride's 'travelling gown' was of fawn ladie's cloth, with hat to match. The presents were numerous and elegant. From the bride's father a cheque; silver tureen, Mr. W. F. D. Miss McCarthy, one of Moncton's best known and most talented musicians, gave a piano recital in the Y. M. C. A. hall last Wednesday evening, and in spite of the fact that there were other entertainments fixed for the same evening the hall was filled to overflowing. The entertainment was provided almost entirely by Miss McCarthy's pupils, and reflected great credit upon her ability as a teacher. The music was of a very high class and was executed in a manner which was surprising, considering that most of the performers were very small children. Miss Daisy Vanmeter's execution of a difficult sonatine of Beethoven's was a really wonderful performance for so small a damsel. instrumental music was varied by a thoghtful paper on Mozart, by Miss Blekney, a glee by the class and a song by Mr. Wetmore. JUNE 20 .- Never did wedding bells peal more merrily from the old belfrey of Christ church, than on Thursday evening, it being the occasion of the marriage of Miss Kate Gertrude Bolton, youngest daughter of the late Hon. John Bolton, M. P., to Rev. Richard Lapthorne Sloggett, of Poltsville, Pennsylvania. The church was most beautifully adorned with flowers, by the members of the guild of Christ church, of which Miss Bolton was a prominent worker, and member, and it was loving hearts and willing hands, that made the church beautiful for her wedding. White lilacs were used in profusion. On each pew in the centre aisle were bouquets of lilacs, fastened with knots and ends of white satin ribbon. The beautiful rood screen in front of the chancel was trimmed with pink and white honeysuckle. The pulpit, choir stalls and altar rail were all bright with flowers. The white banners and draperies were used and the church was in festal attire. At a quarter past seven o'clock, Mr. Sloggett, accompanied by his most intimate friend Dr. Frank Blair, arrived and took up their position in front of the chancel steps. They were followed by Mrs. Bolton, mother of the bride Mrs. W. F. Todd, the Misses Winnifred Bordie morning to spend a few weeks with her-friend Miss and Mildred Todd, Miss Chrissie Stevenson, and Mr. Fletcher Stevenson, of St. Andrews, cousins of the bride. The soft strains of the organ were then heard, and as the words of that most lovely hymn, "O Perfect Love," was sung, the bride, leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. W. F. Todd, came up the aisle. She was most magnificently attired in an elegant bridal costume of ivory tinted satin, en traine, richly trimmed with point de Venice lace. She wore a veil of tulle, but no ornaments, except a brooch of rare pearls, the gift of the groom. She carried an ivory covered prayer book, from which which as a book mark hung a lovely bride rose. There were no bridesmaids, but as the bride proceeded up the aisle, she was followed by the four ushers, Messrs. John D. Chipman, Hazen Grimmer, J. T. Whitlock and J. E. Ganong, who, during the ceremony, formed a group around the bridal pair. The bride presented her prayer book to her rector, Rev. O. S. Newsham, who, with the assistance of Rev. J. T. Bryan, of Trinity church, performed the marriage ceremony. After the ceremony there was a reception at the residence of the bride's mother. The house was most artistically decorated with flowers, yellow and white were the colours used. The bridal party stood in the bay window of the drawing room, under a floral horseshoe, for good luck, the horseshoe being made of white carnations, and received the congratulations of the guests. The pretty grounds about the house were brightly lighted, and the guests could promenade about the paths, and on the piazza. A most sumptuous and dainty supper was served throughout the evening. At half-past ten the bride changed her bridal dress for a handsome travelling costume of brown with hat to match, which was most becoming and stylish, and amid the congratulations and good wishes of their numerous friends the happy pair left in the train for Boston, where they will spend a week before taking a passage to England for a wedding tour of three months. The wedding gifts were the most elegant and unique ever presented to a St. Stephen bride. Miss Boiton has always been a great favorite among her intimate friends, in society, and in her church, and it is a general and heart felt regret that she leaves St. Stephen, to make her future home in Pennsylvaina. The toilettes of the ladies were all rich and stylish. Mrs. Bolton, mother of the bride, were an elegant costume of dark blue ottoman silk richly trimmed with print de Venice lace, and jewelled oriental trimmings, with a bonnet to match; Mrs. Todd, sister of the bride, a lovely gown of pale grey crepon, with heavy steel passamentrie and ornaments, bonnet of pale Miss Chrissie Stevenson looked very stylish in

NEW FLAVORINGS.

HE great success of fine cookery of all kinds consists in the delicate and careful use of seasonings—in the mingling of tastes well joined.

A generation ago almost the only flavorings known in sweet cookery were Vanilla. Lemon, Almond, Nutmeg and Cinnamon. Today there are many dainty new flavorings, and the coarser spices are little used in delicate cookery. but are reserved for rich puddings and for savory dishes of meats and other places where they more properly belong.

The juices of various fruits, such as Apricoc, Banana, Cherry, Limes, Orange, Pineapple, Pear, Peach, Raspberry, Strawberry, also Coffee and Rose have been added to the list of flavors in the last few years. Vanilla remains in use, as it has been for over a century. Lemon flavoring is not so much used as formerly, although there is always something of a popular fancy in this matter, and it wlll always remain a delicate and refreshing flavor for ice creams and cold desserts, but is not so well adapted for hot desserts as some of the above flavors. Coffee is one of the most delicious of the new flavorings; it may be used in custards, ice cream and charlotte russe. Essence of Limes makes a delicious flavoring for the iceing of cake, as does also our Water-White Vanilla, for which it is especially adapted on account of its being perfectly pure and colorless.

Below we give a list of our Flavering Extracts, all of which possess in a remarkable degree the true flavor of the truits and spices from which they are compounded and are so highly concentrated that a very small quantity need only be used, and housekeepers will consult their own interests by insisting that their grocers turnish them with
