AMHERST. SEPT. 26.—Hymen still takes precedence; and it really looks as if that venerable myth with retinue of fairest devotees had called a halt in Amherst, for the express purpose of converting a number of worthy knights who have already worshipped too long at the shrine of single blessedness.

The marriage of Mr. A. McCall, New Glasgow, and Miss Ethel Main, daughter of W. D. Main, collector of customs, was solemnized in St. Stephen's church at half past eleven p. m. on Wednesday of last week.

The pretty bride looked her best in an elegant robe of white satin in habit style with veil and orange blossoms most becoming, her sister, Miss Gwendolin Main was bridesmaid and wore a gown of salmon pink silk with trimming of moss green velvet fashioned very prettily with a most becoming hat of same shades.

The guests were the immediate relatives—Mrs. W. D. Main, mother of the bride, wore a rich brittle of black satin trimmed with jet, bonnet of black and mauve. Mrs. Bishop also wore a gown of black silk trimmed with lace, Miss Main, a handsome costume of dark green Lyons velvet with trimmings of pale yellow.

Mr. and Mrs. McCall, parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Carmichael, Miss McCall and Miss McGregor were among the guests from New Glasgow. A number of valuable presents were received by the bride which goes to show the great esteem for her by her host of friends in town.

After enjoying the usual collation that follows such grand functions, Mr. and Mrs. McCall drove to Fort Lawrence to take the train for Boston thereby stealing the march on a good many who were anxious to see the bride in her going away toilette, also escaping those who shower her indiscriminately which lately amounts to an ordeal equal to running the gauntlet.

Conductor R. G. Duncan and bride, of Halifax, arrived in town on Wednesday and were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Fuller, and went on the evening train to Quebec.

Mr. Fred Harris, of Annapolis, and bride, Miss Porter, of Halifax, were also among our visitors last week. They spent a few days at the rectory, guests of Rev. W. E. Harris, uncle of the groom. They left on Monday for Moncton, where they will make a short stay, en route for St. John.

Miss Alice McKinnon left on Monday to take a school at Mmudie. Among the guests from Amherst at the wedding of Miss Mabel Aver and Mr. Fred Baines, on Wednesday last, at Sackville, were Mrs. and Miss Page and Miss Myra Black.

The pretty bride has many relatives in town and a large circle of acquaintances, many of whom gathered at the depot to wish the couple bon voyage. Miss Mabel Hillson, of Moncton, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. C. S. Hillson, Havelock street.

Mrs. C. W. Main returned from a short business trip to St. John on Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pugsley are receiving congratulations from their hosts of friends on the arrival of a little daughter.

I regret to hear that Mrs. James Dickey and children intend moving to Montreal very soon. I trust fortune may decree otherwise and that estimable lady will still remain in Amherst.

Millinery. [Progress is for sale at Lockeport at the "Nimble Sixpence."] SEPT. 24.—The annual races and sports last Tuesday attracted a large crowd to Lockeport.

The dull day was compensated for by the large attendance, and in the afternoon the long silvery crescent of Lockeport beach was almost covered with people. It would thus be impossible to attempt telling all who were there, but a few visitors who were pointed out to your correspondent, whom I will here mention.

Among those from Shelburne were Miss Maggie Burns, Miss Lillie Durie, Miss Wentzell, Dr. Burns, Mr. Will MacIwain, Mr. E. E. Mackenzie, Mr. Durie, Mr. Charles MacGill and Dr. Muir. Miss Louie MacPherson, of Halifax, is the guest of the Misses Stalker.

It is whispered that an event will take place soon, the interest of parties in which will be a popular Lockeport belle and one of the Annapolis Valley merchants. CADMUS.

SEPT. 26.—Mrs. Benj. Rogers, who has been in Boston returned home on Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Pickford, of Halifax who have spent some time in Prince Edward Island, returned to their home in Halifax on Friday.

Mrs. George McLeod and her daughter Beatrice left last week for California where they will join Mr. MacLeod. Mrs. MacLeod will be much missed in Charlottetown.

A quiet wedding took place at the Methodist church at a very early hour on Wednesday morning, the participants were Mr. S. Sanderson, of Sanderson & Co. and Miss Helen Mitchell, one of the popular teachers of Prince St. school. The church was prettily trimmed and looked very bright in the early morning light. Miss B. L. Gregor was the bridesmaid and Mr. Robert Campbell acted as best man.

The bride received an unusually large number of gifts, noticeable among which were a silver pudding dish from the pupils of Prince street school and two strikingly pretty chairs from her Sunday school class. Immediately after the marriage Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson left on the morning train for St. John and some of the New England cities.

Miss Findley is to be congratulated upon the success of her recital. Stormy though the evening was she was greeted with one of the best audiences I have seen in the Opera House. I think the stage, box trimmings, etc., were exceptionally attractive and arrangements were well carried out and bespoke much interest and good taste on the part of Miss Findley's friends.

Each of the selections were so pleasing and capitally given that I scarcely know which was best, but I think I'm safe in saying that "Patsy" was the piece de resistance. Miss Findley is certainly at her best in that. Mr. Vinnicombe and Mr. F. DeC. Davies both lent admirable assistance and gave to the programme just the variation that was needed.

Mrs. Frederick Brecken and Miss Amy Brecken returned home, via Pt. du Chene, on Tuesday. Miss Fannie Farquharson is the guest of her sister, Mrs. McDonald, of Pictou. Miss Jessie Hunt, of St. Eleanor's, is visiting in Charlottetown.

Nearly all of the people who have been rusticated and camping out in the country during the summer months are back in the city again, looking very healthy and sunburned. Mr. David McLennan, of this city, was married in Summerside this morning to Miss Louise Compton, daughter of Mr. George Compton, of St. Eleanor's. The bridesmaids were Miss Nellie Compton and Miss Dot Andrews, and the groom was attended by Mr. William Compton.

Mrs. Donald Farquharson and her daughter, Miss Etta, have gone on a trip to New York. DIANA.
