

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

BRIDGETOWN.

SEPT. 17.—An interesting event took place Wednesday morning, Sept. 17th, at 11 o'clock, in the Memorial Church, when Miss Lizzie, daughter of Mr. Washington Chesley, of this town, was united in marriage to Mr. Grant R. Bowles, of Gratton. The church was beautifully decorated. A handsome arch of ferns and flowers spanned the centre aisle in front of the pulpit, and from the centre of the arch was suspended an umbrella made entirely of white flowers under which the bride couple stood, and which was happily intended as a symbol of the hope that they might be shielded from the storms of life. On both sides of the arch were plants and flowers. The decorations were the work of loving friends, by a large circle of whom the bride was held in the highest esteem. At the appointed hour the bride entered the church hanging on the arm of her father. The bride was beautifully attired in cream Henrietta, cut en train, with trimming of silk and ribbon and decorated with orange blossoms. The bridesmaids, Miss Ella Chesley, sister of the bride, and Miss Addie Bowles, sister of the groom, wore costumes of pink bengaline, trimmed with silk, lace and ribbon. The groom was supported by Mr. Arthur Patterson, best man, and Mr. William Chesley, brother of the bride. After the ceremony the bride proceeded to the home of the bride's parents, where a bountiful repast was served. The following is a list of the presents:

Mr. and Mrs. F. McIntosh, china berry set; Miss Annie Patterson, cup, saucer and plate; Mr. and Mrs. N. Barker, enamel teapot and picture; Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Miller, chocolate set; A. N. Patterson, pudding dish; satin ware; Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Cox, feather bed and pair pillows.

One of those festive occasions of which our town seems to have had an unusual number, took place this morning about 10.30, at the residence of Mrs. S. Denison, when her daughter Ida M., was united in marriage to Mr. L. D. Shaffer, of Clementport. A limited number of invited guests, including only the most intimate friends and relatives of the interested pair, having assembled in the flower-decorated parlors. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. P. Grestor. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. Herbert Denison, of Kentville. The bride was attired in a gown of white crepe de chene over white satin, cut en train, and trimmed with lace and ribbon, with veil and decorations of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid, Miss May Mills, of Grandville Ferry, was attired in a costume of pink cashmere, trimmed with lace and ribbon. The groom was attended by Mr. Edgar McCormick, of Grandville Ferry. After the ceremony a bountiful repast was served, following which Mr. and Mrs. Shaffer, accompanied by the hearty congratulations and best wishes of their many friends, took their departure by the noon express for a somewhat extended trip which will include St. John and Boston.

Among the people who left our town for Halifax on Tuesday, were Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Bent, Mr. and Mrs. John Ross, and Mrs. T. D. Ruggles junior, Miss Ella Chesley, Miss Minnie St. Clair, Miss Gies Hart, Mr. Hector McLean, Mr. William Chesley, Mr. T. D. Ruggles and Mr. Wallace Fowler.

Appetite and Health Restored by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Mr. Chas. Steele
St. Catherine's, Ont.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: 'For a number of years I have been troubled with a general tired feeling, shortness of breath, pain in the back, and constipation. I could get only little rest at night on account of the pain and had no appetite whatever. I was that tired in my limbs that I gave out before half the day was over. I tried a great number of medicines but did not get any permanent relief from any of them.'"

CLIFTON.

SEPT. 27.—The harvest supper held at Clifton Wednesday, 26th inst., was thoroughly enjoyed by a large crowd. In the afternoon sports were carried on, and some beautiful prizes given. In the ladies' archery contest: Miss Clara Barnes scored 1st prize, a carpet sweeper; while Mr. Chas. McFarlane received an elegant clock for quill pitching. At five o'clock the crowd sat down to tea and the word harvest supper will explain that part. After tea a splendid programme was enjoyed consisting of songs, tableaux and recitations. Mr. O. Wetmore in his comic song, "Never Take the Horse-shoe from the Door," was much applauded, while the choir rendered some choice selections. Miss May Flewelling furnishing the music. At 10.30 the entertainment was brought to a close with the appropriate piece, "Farewell, Good Night." BROWNIE.

TOO MANY FOR THE LAWYERS.

How Irish Witnesses are as Exasperating as Sam Weller.

Among many good tales of the Irish peasantry, Mr. Le Fanu tells some amusing instances of their conduct in the witness-box. A bullying counsel named Freeman was completely put out in his cross-examination by a very simple answer. A countryman who was a witness was asked—

"So you had a pistol?"

"I had, sir."

"Whom did you intend to shoot with it?"

"I wasn't intending to shoot no one."

"Then was it for nothing that you got it?"

"No, it wasn't."

"Come, come, sir! On the virtue of your solemn oath, what did you get that pistol for?"

"On the virtue of my solemn oath, I got it for three-and-ninety, in Mr. Richardson's shop."

At another time the same counsel said to a witness—

"You're a nice fellow, ain't you?"

Witness replied—

"I am, sir; and if I was not on my oath, I'd say the same of you."

One Judge Burton, who was a very old and wizened little man, was trying a case when another very old man, a peasant scarcely able to walk, came into court to give evidence. Instead of going to the witness-box, he went towards the passage leading to the bench. One of the counsel called out to him—

"Come back, sir! Where are you going? Do you think you are a judge?"

"Indeed, sir," said the old man, looking up at Judge Burton—"indeed, sir, I believe I am fit for little else!"

Sayings of Three Wise Men.

It is the most momentous question a woman is ever called upon to decide—whether the faults of the man she loves are beyond remedy and will drag her down, or whether she is competent to be his earthly redeemer and lift him to her own level.—O. W. Holmes.

There are people who understand one another at once. When one soul meets another it is not by pass-word, nor heaving sign, nor by mysterious grip that they recognize. The subtlest freemasonry in the world is this freemasonry of the spirit.—Edward Eggleston.

Let thy love be to the best, so long as they do well; but take heed that thou love God, thy country, thy prince, and thine own estate, before all others; for the fancies of men change, and he that loves to-day hath to-morrow; but let reason be thy schoolmistress, which shall ever guide thee aright.—Sir W. Raleigh.

Anxious to Do the Fair Thing.

The man had a stub of whiskers on his chin which waggled when he talked, and kicked up his heels when he brought his jaws together.

"As I was sayin'," he remarked, "when I was out West I seen 'em hang a man to a telegraph pole for stealin' a hog."

"Whose hog?" asked a person on a molasses barrel.

"Nobuddy knowed."

"How'd they know he stole it?"

"They ketch'd him ridin' it."

"Mebbe it was his'n."

"Pr'raps."

"What become of it?"

"They hel' it three months fer the owner to claim it, an then they sold it fer $87."

"What become of the money?"

"Well, they spent it fer a monument to the man they hung. They thought mebbe they might 'a' made a mistake, and they wanted to do the fair thing by the deceased."

Telephoning Along Wire Fences.

"Down in Texas," said an electrical salesman, "I think there is a good demand for a telephone that can talk over one hundred miles of barbed wire fence. On the ranches cowboys are kept riding the fence; that is, riding up and down a section of barbed wire fence, inspecting it and keeping it in order. Many ranches are twenty, thirty and fifty miles square, and if a scoundrel break in the fence is found the cowboy must ride back to the ranch to report. Now if a good telephone could be provided for each section it would save all that riding. The staples holding the two top wires to the posts could be removed, insulators put in their places, and a man would have a complete metallic telephone circuit around his ranch."

A Copy of the Famous "Boar Hunt."

Mrs. Brickback—"Norah, I'm astonished. How could you be so careless as to break that bronze?"

Norah—"I did it a-purpose, mum. It's been sittin' me in th' face fer two month's now, an' I couldn't stand any longer seein' thim 'ree big loaders plaguin' wan poor little pig."

Circumstances Alter Cases.

Head of the house (to young man at front door)—Haven't I told you, sir, never to call here again?

Young man—Yes, sir, but I haven't called to see Miss Clara this time. I have a three months' gas bill to collect.

Head of the house (in a milder tone)—I see. You will please call again.

One Woman Obeys.

He (after the wedding tour)—"Um—my love, these bills are piling up at a fearful rate; but, of course, my angel, with your large income, you are willing and no doubt anxious to help me pay them."

She—"I? Why, my dear, I haven't a cent."

"On my second marriage all my money went to my late husband's relatives."

"Eh? Why—why didn't you say so?"

"You particularly requested me never to mention my late husband—in your presence."

The Economical Father.

"My son," said the economical father, these cigars are better than I smoked at your age."

"Father," replied the youth, "it pains me to do it, but I am compelled to state that they are better than the cigars you smoke now."

IRA CORNWALL, Esq., Agent "YOST" TYPEWRITING MACHINE, St. John, N. B.

Dear Sir: I beg to say that I have been using the old style "YOST," which I purchased from you in August, 1891, constantly ever since that time. During a portion of that time the machine was required to do heavy work in connection with the revision of the electoral lists of the Saint John Districts, under the Dominion Franchise Acts, and for the rest of the time has been used for the ordinary work of a law office. Up to the present moment the machine has not cost me one cent for repairs, and seems to be still in perfectly good condition. The writers who have worked on my "YOST" have been unstinted in their approval. My own personal use of it leads me to regard it with the highest favor. The valuable feature of the "YOST" are lightness, strength, durability, simplicity, quick and direct action of the type-bar, perfect alignment and absolute economy. I have not examined the later editions of the "YOST" but although I am informed they have many improvements on the old style machine, am at a loss to understand how they can be very much better for ordinary practical purposes.

Yours very truly, E. T. C. A. KOWLES, Barrister.

The New "YOST" far surpasses the machines referred to above, and the No. 4 has many entirely new features.

The Yost is by far the cheapest Writing Machine, because it is the most economical in respect to INKING SUPPLIES, REPAIRS, DURABILITY, EASE OF LEARNING, EASE OF ACTION, SIZE, WEIGHT, BEAUTY OF WORK, SPEED, ETC., ETC.

Second hand Ribbon and Shift-Key Machines for sale cheap.
