"Gentlemen-I am glad to say that Hood's aparilla and Hood's Pills have great deal of good. I had a severe attack of the grip in the winter, and after getting over the fever I did not seem to gather strength, and had no ambition. Hood's Sarsaparilla proved to be just what I needed. The results were very satisfactory, and I recommend this medicine to all who are afflicted with rheumatism or other

The subject of this sketch is better known, no doubt, to the world at large than any other member of the medical profession. Among the many noted physicians of the Old World perhaps there is not one whose opinion on nervous af-fections is more highly regarded. He says: 'I have much pleasure in stating that I have used the "Vin Mariani" (Mariani wine) for many years, and I consider it a valuable stimulant.' 'Vin Mariani' is a tonic containing the medical properties of two ounces of fresh, selected coca leaves, equal to thirty grains to a wine-glassful; and is the greatest invigorator of body and brain known to the present generation. No other remedy has ever drawn forth such strong expressions of approval from so many celebrated people from all parts of the world.

While in the employ of the Dominion Government on the night staff of the Toronto postoffice, this gallant Canadian had the mistortune to lose his sight through an injury to the optic nerve, caused, as Dr. Buller says, mainly from exposure as a life-saver, after more than eighteen years' service devoted to the preservation of life. His name was continued on the pay roll during Mr. Haggart's spread his tail to the breeze, trail his occupation of the Postmaster-Generalship. Shortly after Sir Adolphe Caron's appointment to that position, however, this allowance was stopped by an order-in-council, and the blind life-saver was thrown entirely on his own resources. Some time ago the civic corporations of Kingston, Owens Sound and Toronto adopted resolutions, each by a unanimous vote, requesting the Dominion Government to grant this brave blind man a pension. Mr. James Metcalfe, M. P. for Captain Andrews' native city, exer el himself without success to obtain this reward for the captain's humane services. Lord Rosebery Takes an Oar. Lord Rosebery, says an old country contemporary, did himself supreme honor the other day up north. He and the Dake of Sutherland had the privilege of rowng three press men over Dornoch Firth. Ine boat was a small one, and the current being somewhat strong for the ferry boys, the Premier and the Duke promptly took oars. His lordship was fully alive to the fact that it would scarcely be in accordance with the dignified traditions of the Fourth Estate that press men should row a premier and a duke. While he and the duke bent their backs to the work the scribes sat in the stern and puffed cigarettes, which, Lord Rosebery informed the

Before a crowded house, the dog, answering to the name of Tom, came on to the stage, jumped on the stool in front of the piano, gravely sat down, placed his forepaws on the keyboard and played, quite correctly, Farbach's air, "Tout a la joie."
