FREE

It is not every day that housekeepers can get a Cook Book free of charge. Next THURSDAY, FRIDAY and SATURDAY I will be able to give everyone who buys a three pound can of COTTOLINE at my store a Cook Book FREE. It contains 600 receipts and is said to be one of the very best books of this kind published. On those particular days the Cottolene Exhibition will be at my store, and as it is the final exhibition in this city, no one should lose an opportunity to see it. In this connection I may say that COTTOLINE was first imported to this city and sold at my store, having been recommended to me by one of our most reputable manufacturers, then resident in the States. Since then the article has secured a firm hold upon the public and a large sale.

Remember the dates—March 8—Thursday, Friday and Saturday at HARDRESS CLARKE'S Cash Grocery.

On Friday last Mrs. J. Douglas Hazen gave a most delightful fancy dress party for her children at her residence, Hazen street. There were between twenty and thirty little ones present, all dressed in costume, many heroes and heroines of nursery rhymes being represented. Master King Hazen as "King of Hearts," and Miss Kate Hazen as "Queen of Hearts" were little pictures, while little Miss Frances Hazen looked charming as a fairy. Many of the parents of the children were present, and the scene was very pretty to those watching the little ones in the many different costumes dancing or playing games. The party took place from four o'clock till seven, and before breaking up sat down to a most sumptuous high tea.
