RETRENCHMENT WANTED TOO. The time is approaching when the present members of the city council will have to render an account of their stewardship to the people. They were elected under peculiar circumstances after a considerable struggle and, as a council, for the first time in many, many years represented a certain definite policy. How they have carried out that policy, is the question that the people will require an answer to.

Some of the aldermen can say with all candor and truth that they have tried to act to the let er of that policy. We believe that, as a body, they have been more careful of civic expenditure than any council we have had for many years. But the people expected retrenchment as well as economy. "Retrenchment" was one of the principal watchwords of the T.

tion disused, and we can say of its enemies : The angel of death spread his wings on the blast, And breathed on the face of the foe as he passed; And like the snowflake on the river, A moment seen and lost forever."

GREAT INSURANCE COMPANY.

Of Which James Domville is General Agent For the Maritime Provinces.

In this issue we publish the certificate of the insurance commissioners of Illinois, Ohio, Texas and South Dakota, which is a very strong document in favor of the Mutual Reserve Fund life association of New York. It cannot be other than gratifying to the management of the association and its tens of thousands of policy-holders. The examination lasted over two months and the commissioners state that they made an exhaustive and thorough examination of the books and accounts and of all receipts and disbursements, and certify that they verified by a competent expert the value of the association's interest in the building known as the "Mutual Reserve Building," and are satisfied that its value is largely in excess of the amount at which it stands on the association's books; that the death claims are honorably and promptly paid; that it does not, in any case, wilfully attempt to resist the payment of an honest claim; that payment is just as sure as with any other company or association; that great care is exercised in the selection of risks and that the association is in a healthy and prosperous condition; that its assets are increasing and that the management, the public and the members are to be warmly congratulated upon the solidity and security of the association.

It appears from the published literature of the Mutual Reserve that within the short period of fourteen years, it has paid nearly $21,000,000, in death claims and bas accumulated a reverse or emergency fund of nearly $4,000,000 and that the average cost for 'he fourteen years has been about 40 per cent. of the ordinary life rates charged by level premium companies. It has over 96,000 policies in force, insuring upwards of $290,000,000, and has well established branches in nearly Association : retrenchment, it was pointed cut by both old and new men was just as possible as economy.

For this reason, therefore, the presentation of a minority recort from the investigating committee will have much significance. The minority represent retrenchment as well as economy, the majority say in effect that there is no opportunity to retrench.

We believe with the great majority of the taxpayers that there are opportunities for retrenchment. There are more officials than are necessary. We do not say that salaries should be generally reduced. That would be a last resort, but the city has officials who can well be spared. Let the council look the matter squarely in the face, turn a deaf ear to the friends of these gentlemen, sink the sentimental part of the question and they cannot help coming to the same conclusion.

Halifax has inaugurated a series of "drawing room meetings" for 1 the discussion of topics concerning women, of which men and women are both invited to give their views on the woman question. At the first meeting all the men that spoke, as well as all the women, were firmly in favor of wom in voting. One gentlemen, it is reported, zealously expressed the hope that womencould vote at the next Dominion election. Surely out of the large number of men and women present some were not in favor of woman suffrage. If such there were, some of them should have spoken, and rendered the evening's work more interesting. There are no problems of more vital interest than those which have to do with the woman question, and the fullest and freest scope should be given it. The friendly controversy between Rev. R. F. DIXON and "Astra" which has waged in the columns of PROGRESS furnish valuable contributions to the arguments on both sides of the question.

As Mr. LARSEN suggests in his Boston letter, Dr. PARKHURST was once a crank, but now he is the most locked-up-to man in the States. He is the oracle whom all consult. The Progress club of New York is said to be rent with dissention on the question as to whether the poker limit Boston Herald, of whose staff Mr. LARSEN is a member, says that "Brother PARK-HURST undoubtedly has some fixed ideas on the subject that would serve to illuminate things and dispel all doubts." Probably the good doctor would mitigate strife by suggesting a compromise.

every healthy country in the world.

Its president, Edward B. Harper, has the esteem and confidence of all who know him, and is recognized as one of the most efficient insurance men of the present age. Our readers, and especially those of them who are carrying insurance in the Mutual Reserve, should carefully study the official certificate already referred to.

He Took it Seriously.

TO THE EDITOR OF PROGRESS : - In your issue of the 16th inst. I saw an article headed, "Petitcodiac Unemployed" written by "Anxious Citizen." The writer must have allowed his imaginative brain to get control of his common sense, as the "desperadoes" referred to by him wars four of our respectable young men. The truth is. the storm of Sanday 10th, piled a large drift in the road which leads from the street to the barn. On Monday night of the 11th, the young men planned a surprise for Mr. Mitthews, so about 10 o'clock they, arme I with shovels, started for the parsonage, and were just through with their praiseworthy work, having shoveled the road out nicely, when the Rev. gentleman, wishing to find out who his friends were, came down. They, not wishing to be recognized by him, left before he had time to thank them for their kindness. The citizens of our town will be obliged to the writer who signs his name "Anxious Citizen" if he will tell nothing but the truth next time he writes. He must be anxious indeed it he tries to make every thing as bad as he did this. JUSTICE. Petitcodiac, Feb. 18, '95.

PEN AND PRESS.

Presumably it is Mr. John Ross of this city that PROGRESS has to thank for copies of Australian papers. There is about Australian journalism a vim and a snap that is peculiar to the country. The poetry is generally particularly breezy, the political cartoons inimitable. The only parts of an Australian weekly that are dull are the parts in which English journalism is copied. St. John paper is paid for printing a scriptural text every day, but the Australasian is paid for printing sermons among its advertisments, out of a "fund for publishing sermons," which is subscribed to by readers of the paper. In the copy sent to PROGRESS two powerful discourses are sandwiched between advertisements of should be fixed at ten cents or $10. The Cadbury's Cocoa and Commans's areca nut tooth paste.

A School House Caucus.

Shall school houses, the abode and the symbol of broadmindedness, be devoted to the narrow uses of partizan caucuses? It appears that such has been the case. There is only one school teacher in the city who wou'd do this.

suggesting a compromise. A Virginia paper suggests that the nata day of LINCOLN be made a national holiday, and prints a long article in his praise. The world is growing broader and better, and every day brings us nearer the mi'lenium. But it is possible that it would be a good many years before the birthday of LINCOLN would be as universally observed as that of WASHINGTON. The following is an extract from a clergy- man's address on "The Bible" at Char- lottetown, copied from the report in the Wesleyan. However well posted the rev- erend gentleman is on the poetry of the Bible, concerning the work of modern poets he appears to be a trifle confused—on perhaps the reporter was to blame : "No	A Country Churchyard A lot, full of sad memories dear, So bleak, on this December day, A sacred spot, where rest the dead Of generations passed away— Awaiting there the herald's trumpet blast— Of summonses the loudest and the last— In life eternal to again unite With spirits pure in endless bliss and light. What tears have fallen on this sacred plot, O'er open graves, the end, the common lot, How deep the silent sorrow there beheld, And awful, bitter grief in sighs withheld, As one by one the graves with earth were filled, And grief, through faith and hope was gently stilled, Those who did weep and mourn, whose hearts did burn, Have since been wept and mourned for in their turn. And so as times fell march we daily trace, Continuous sadness fills thehallowed place.	week. A very pleasant evening was spent. The games being spiritedly contested.
