Oct 16.—Society doings of any description seem to be rather on the wane in Amherst at present. The only event of interest coming to my notice during this week was the afternoon tea given by Mrs. J. B. Gass at her home on Ratchford street to a large number of lady friends...

Friday evening Miss Bessie Sutcliffe gave a party at her home Spruce Grove Victoria street, to a large number of the younger members of society. The novel and varied form of entertainment was much enjoyed by the following young ladies, Misses Gerie Hillcoat, Annie Joudrey, May Love, Lottie Munro, Emily Christie, Lillie Moffat, Theo Morse, Grace Pipes, Alice Seely, Frieda McKinnon, Lucy McKinnon, Mabel Pugsley, Helen Gass, Daisy Hickman, Lena Welling, Helen Bieden. The prizes were won by Misses Lucy McKinnon and Miss Emily Christie, and were brownie pins, which I believe is the badge of the club.

The marriage of Miss Katherine Smith to Mr. Claude Eville which took place at "Island Home" early on the morning of the ninth was a very quiet affair only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom being present. The bride wore her travelling dress which was of mottled brown tweed trimmed with velvet and brown hat to match. After a elaborate breakfast the newly married pair left by the express for Boston where they will remain a few days before returning to Parrboro, their future home. Poor Tired Feet. MESSRS. C. C. RICHARDS & Co. Dear Sirs: A member of my family being a good deal on foot, found it necessary to obtain or do something for the feet. A friend who had obtained relief not only from neuralgia, but from 'tired feet,' suggested your MINARD'S LINIMENT. It gave immediate and great relief. At a time when many unworthy preparations are being pushed, I consider it a public benefit to speak a good word for a meritorious article. Yours very truly, JOHN CAMERON, Founder and publisher London Advertiser.
