The present week has been quite a gay one and with the exception of Tuesday which was taken up with the military concert; there has been a dance every evening.

On Monday a very bright little dance was given at Admiralty House. The floor was in excellent dancing condition and the supper was perfect. Excellent music was supplied by the ship's band. As the night was not one of the pleasantest, the sitting out places were not patronized to the extent they would otherwise have been. The grounds around Admiralty House are one of the attractive features of the place. There were a great many very pretty gowns and a good many new ones worn by the not very large list of guests. Mrs. Erskine was wearing black, which was most becoming to her tall, slight figure, and in which she looked very handsome and distinguished. Mrs. Montgomery Moore was handsomely gowned as usual, and Miss Matcham who came with her, looked particularly well.

Mrs. O'Dwyer wore a very smart black satin, very plainly but beautifully made, and a long blue gown trimmed with quantities of old lace was worn by Mrs. Troop.

Another very pretty dress was worn by Mrs. Heyman—dull pink with a white chiton bodice over pink, and quantities of diamonds. Mrs. Moynoux-Seale's gown and diamonds were also much admired.

Mrs. James Morrow looked very nice indeed, and wore one of the prettiest frocks in the room. Mrs. O'Connell wore a striking dress of blue with shoulder straps and trimmings of red roses, in which she looked very well. Miss Wickwire was in pale pink and blue, and Mrs. Combe wore a white skirt with a black bodice trimmed with fur. Miss Kinnear wore a very smart blue dress, and Miss Stairs and Miss Kenny both looked very well and Miss Urtache particularly so, the latter in white. Mrs. A. Doull looked very well, and so did Miss Daly, who wore a very smart frock, indeed.

The grand military concert at Orpheus Hall last week was a financial and social success. The hall was well filled with a very select and appreciative audience. The different numbers were very nicely rendered, Miss Tremaine's violin solo being one of the best things of the evening. Mr. Everett too elicited a great deal of enthusiasm. The Kings band rendered its numbers in a splendid manner. All expenses were cleared which is a very good thing considering the counter attractions at the academy. It is so seldom we have anything at the academy that one feels like patronizing it when it is open.

On Wednesday night the officers of the R. A. & R. E. gave a dance in Artillery Park. It was necessarily small as the dancing accommodation is not so large. It was a great success though not so much so as was the one given a few years ago when a special floor was built for dancing; but however that may be Wednesday night's dance was voted an exceedingly enjoyable one. The floor had the music very late hour.

Another most enjoyable dance was that given by Mrs. Daly at Government House on Thursday evening and was as successful as Mrs. Daly's entertainments usually are; it was a very happy event is assured from the fact that some of the dancers did not arrive home till four o'clock in the morning.

The house looked pretty, and the decorations were as usual very effective. Mrs. Daly received in the drawing room, looking well in a very pretty gown, and Miss Daly also looked very nice in pink and white. Dancing was in the ball room and supper was served in the dining room. Upstairs the square hall had been made into a pretty sitting-out room, but there were not a very great many people who wished to sit out, for dancing was very thorough and general.

Among people who looked well were Mrs. James Morrow in black with pale pink, Mrs. O'Dwyer in plain black with poppies, and Mrs. Erskine in flame colored satin. Miss Colborne wore pale mauve brocade and Miss Matcham pink and white. Miss Harvey looked pretty in yellow, while Miss Lawson also looked nice in the same color. Miss Kenny wore a very pretty red dress, and Miss Tremaine looked nice in white and gold. Mrs. J. F. Kenny wore a handsome dress of very pale lilac satin.

The approaching marriage of Miss Vanderbilt and the Duke of Marlborough is a subject of never failing interest here as both parties are known to many of our society people.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. A. Mitchell gave a pleasant tea for the entertainment of the Hon. W. B. and Mrs. Vail who are her guests. Among the guests were our two latest brides, and a couple looked particularly well dressed. Mrs. Vail assisted her daughter in receiving the many guests. The afternoon was cold, and delicious tea, coffee etc., was very welcome and I am told the party was a very successful one.
