Aug. 14 .- One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place in St. George's church, at two o'clock this atternoon, when Miss Hillson, eldest daughter of Mr. A. Hillson I. C. R. station agent. was married to Mr. John flett, of Halifax. The church had been beauifully decorated by the bride's fellow members of the choir, and the pulpit, chancel rail and reading desk were banked with sweet peas, golden rod, and terns, while a wedding bell of white astors, sweet peas and stocks, hung over the spot where the bride and groom stood.

The ceremony was performed by the rector of the church, Rev. E. B. Hooper, in the presence of a large congregation composed of guests and spectators, and as the wedding party moved up the aisles, preceded by the ushers, Messrs. Stephen, Palmer and Tilton Nase, the old, but ever new, bridal hymn "The Voice that Breathed o'er Eden" was sung by the choir. The bride who was given away by her father and attended by Miss Pugsley of An. herst as brides maid, looked charming in a dress of white silk, with wide picture hat of white leghorn and ostrich feathers, and carried a bouquet of waite roses, carnations and maiden-hair ern. The bridesmaid wore a pretty gown of pink silk, with white picture hat, and the tiny maid of honor Miss Win. nie Hillson the bride's baby sister, looked a veritable fairy, in pink silk, cream lace, and large white lace hat. The groom was unattended. After the ceremony the wedding party and guests drove to the residence of the bride's parents, where luncheon was served, shortly after which Mr. and Mrs. Flett departed by the afternoon train for a tour through Montreal, Toronto and other Canadian cities. Fiddle Full of Money. Hugh McGuire, a farmer near Goddard, Kansas, recently received a fiddle by express that had in it something more soothing to a Kansas farmer than music. Two years ago, his uncle, Peter Conroy, died at Washington City. Conroy was suppos-ed to have a good pile of money saved up, and as McGuire was his only heir he anticipated a little fortune. When Conroy's three children. Grace, Ruth and Walter, are in will was opened it was found he left nothing to McGuire but an old fiddle brought with him from Tralee, County Kerry. Ireland, in 1848. McGnire was so indignant that he would not pay for expressing the fiddle to Kansas. Two weeks ago he dreamed one night that the fiddle was full of money. He spoke to his wife about it. fund to pay $2 80 express charges on his fiddle. It arrived closed in a sealed violin case, and when examined was found to contain $1,800 in money and a deed to 160 acres of land near Clymount, Va. Not a word of explanation was with the money, and McGuire is wondering what his uncle's idea was. Tae instrument was torn to pieces to get the money out, but it will be glued together again and hung on the wall of McGuire's cottage as a monument to his uncle's memory.

Regular Curiosities.

The minister who married Mrs. P. T. Barnum to her wealthy Greek lover Wednesday is named Rev. Agarthedorus Papageorgepouto, according to the New York Journal, Priest Archimandrite Paisios Ferentinos, according to the New York World, and Agathodoros Papageorgopoulus, according to the New York Herald. It would have delighted Mrs. Barnum's late husband to get either of those names to put among his curiosities .- Boston Globe.
