Well, the ships have gone; the Crescent took her departure from these shores gaily playing "The Girl I Left Behind Me." This is only the Crescent's first season on this station but her officers have made themselves so popular that they will be greatly missed. No doubt they will miss us also, for a week or two and when a week or two of mourning has expired will look a ound for fresh fields to conquer. Monday evening four of the officers of the Crescent gave a dance at the Commissioners house in the Dock ya d. It was quite an informal affair but perhaps for that very reason all the more erjoyable. The rooms were well lighted and prettily decorated with flags and bunting, Every one looked very well but no new gowns were worn, as it is too iate in the season and the dance was too informal to call for anything new in the way of gowns. There were no programmes and as a result some amusing mistakes occurred and ones partners got rather mixed. The ship's band was present and played a number of pretty waltzes. When supper time arrived instead of the usual dances being reserved, dancing was for the time being suspended and the party repaired en masse to the supper room. It was nicer of course but wholly impossible at a large dance. A splendid supper was provided and altogether, this last was one of the nicest dances that has been given at the Commissioners house this seasou. The dance did not break up until atter three o'clock. Mrs. Erskine, who was looking charming and, as alwoys, most beautifully dressed, was among the most indefatigable of the dancers, though indeed every one helped pretty thoroughly to keep things going Miss Constable also looked very nice, and very pretty gowns were worn by Miss Kenny, Miss Wickwire, Miss Howard and Miss Stairs. Miss Lawson was also looking bright and well. There was no lack of partners for any lady in the room, as there was a goo . many more men present than ladies, and as no programmes were allowed, the belies of the evenidg were more or less besieged before every dance, one lady going so far as to divide a dance between two pariners.

On Tuesday evening the general and Mrs. Montgomery-Moore entertained at a fareweil dinner at Bellevue, Admiral and Mrs. Erskine, Miss Constable, Lt. Halsey and several others; after dinner, the party proceeded to St Lukes to witness "Princess Bonnie," after which they returned to Bellevue, where a tempting supper had been prepared and lis died on Wednesday after a lingering illness; the rem ins were taken to Boston for interment. A very pleasant dance was giv n by the Misses Barnes on Thursday evening last. Miss Bessiv Elderkin returned from a very plea-sant trip to Alabama on Wednesda . JACK.

On Tuesday evening society turned out to witness the pretty little operetta, "Princess Bonnie," given in St. Lukes hall for the benefit of the S. P. C. Most of the audience were in evening dress, which always looks so much brighter than rows of spectators in street garments. Mrs. Daly took a party as did also Mrs. Montgomery- Moore. The operetta went off very well indeed. Miss Lewis and Miss Oliver looked charming and Miss Wickwire was much admired. Mr. Arnold Wylde carried off a large share of the honors of the evening; the whole affair went off very brightly and I hear a good sum was realized.

Of course everybody was glad to hear of the Wan. derers success last Saturday in St. John. I believe the boys had a gay time of it. They attended the opera in the evening and I am told presented to Miss Balch the first bouquet she or any other mem. ber of the company have had during their stay in that city. The bouquet was of red roses tied with black ribbon, red and black being the Wanderers Halifax. colors. A funny little incident in connection with it was that a note which was concealed among the flowers dropped out as it was passed to Miss Balch. The lady picked it up, but not before everybody in the house had seen the amusing little episode. When Miss Gilbert sang "There Is Only One Girl" the boys joined in the chorus, and altogether the even ing may be said to have been a regular football one

Mrs. R. Pickford had her first "At Home" at her residence on Ingles st eet, last week. A large nnmber of ladies aud gentlemen were present. Mr. and Mrs. Pickford received the guests and the two hours passed a'l too quickly for the company.

Mrs. Hector McInnis' "At Home" was also a success. It was for ladies only and a 1 rge number of them were present. One gentleman attended and it can be imagined what an enviable position he held.

The ladies of the Crescent all went to Bermuda on the Alpha, which was late in arriving this week, but they will get to Bermuda shortly after the Crescent, Miss Seaton went with Mrs. Doyne and will spend the winter in Bermuda.

Everybody is looking forward to Lewis Morrison's engagement at the Academy next week. The seats at a dollar each have all been snapped up. Nickerson's company have been drawing crowded houses and Ethel Fuller has made herself so great a favorite that every one will be glad to we come h er and in fact all the company soon again.
