dozen of these boats go out together when a whale is sighted. Stealthily a single boat moves out from the little fleet and ap-proaches the big game, the carsman stoical and calm, the spearsman erect, rigid, statuesque. It is a moment of grave peril. A splashing oar, a sudden move, a wavboat and crew would go down beneath a so near. At precisely the right instant the spearsman hurls his spear with unerring

phase of Halifax civil politics is furnished in the attempt on hehalf of the three city assessors to have $200 per annum added to each of their salaries, making them $1,400 and $1,200 respectively. In the first place, it is not legal for the council to make such an increase except it be provided tor in the estimates. Not withstanding this fact, a majority of the aldermen at a tormer meeting voted to give the assessors the advance they asked. And those men are not hard worked ofgood either. Hours of 10 to 4 ficials o'clock, with an hour and a-half for dinner, are not a very severc tax on any one. The city council granted the increase, though by a very small majority, but that did not settle the matter. Alderman W. J. Stewart gave "notice of reconsideration."

The next meeting of the council came round. Ex-alderman Pickering established himself lobbying manager for the assessors three, and Assessor Eaton himself took the most active share of the direct canvass. The afternoon on which the meeting was to to be held disclosed the fact that some of the anti-increase aldermen would not be present whether by accident or design "doth not yet appear". Ald. Musgrave, Butler, and Foster were out of town. That would seal the fate of friends of reconsideration when the vote came up, so there was just one thing to do-prevent a meeting. Accordingly when roll call came more than half the aldermen were away. All the old anti-increase city fathers were conspicuous by their absence, and with one or two away from the other side there was no quorum.

Again the canvass was resumed. Manager Pickering was hard at work, Assessor Eaton

Mrs. A. Mackinlay, and Mrs. R. L. Borden, the last named in the absence of Mrs. F. C. Simsan through illness, were chaperons. The travellers' ball is coming more and more to be one of the prime social events of the season. It was not held last year on account of the death of Sir John HALIFAX, Dec. 26.-An interesting Thompson. The company commingled well and there was not much of that cliqueism which sometimes dampens the enjoyment of public balls. One young man was there and dressed with taste, too, who attracted some attention by his anxiety to lessons of long experience.

NEED"PROGRESS' IN MONTANA.

A Former New Brunswicker Tells of the Bad State of politics.

It is a pleasure to get hold of a paper | scheme. like PROGRESS that is not afraid to call black, black. I believe if PROGRESS was out here it would not rest satisfied till some of the desperadoes who are at large were roped and swung. What would you say if you had to chronicle the following-just a year ago the 27th of this month at the town of Landusky, just fitty miles from here, one of the most brutal murders was committed that ever happaned and the murderers are to-day at large. In the town of Landusky, there lived three brothers called Curry. They were the bullies of the town and with the exception of Old Pike Landusky they did as they choose with all the inhabitants. VERY SHARP BLACKBIRDS. They Knew When They Were Outside of the Line of the Fence.

Gen. Lew Wallace recently related an incident which shows to a remarkable extent the wonderful sagacity and memory of blackbirds.

"At my home over in Crawfordsville," said the General, "we have a large number of tall trees on the lawn, and in course of time these trees became the roosting place at certain times of the year for hundreds of thousands of blackbirds. The Visible Writing is worth the money

A Full Key Board Machine, 84 Character, Capitals, Figures, Frac-tions, French, German and English, Change Wheels: It will do all that can be done on the $120 Ribbon Machines.

For years a large majority of the people have been looking for a practical. low-priced, portable, key board michine. A machine that equals any of the high-priced ones in capacity and quality of work, and excels them all in convenience. This is the purpose of the Blickensderfer No. 5.

MANIFOLDING.

Heretofore it has been found impossible to manifold satisfactorily on a type writer of the wheel class.

The Blickensderfer, No. 5, while possessing every desirable feature of the wheel machine, has the direct powerful stroke of the lever class, thereby manifolding with unequalled force and clearness.

DUPLICATING.

This machine will do excellent Mimeograph work. The aunoyance of cleaning the type can be avoided by having an extra type wheel for this purpose.

DURABILITY.

The Blickensderfer is a marvel of simplicity and strength. From 1,000 to 3,000 parts in other key-board machines. The Blickensderfer has about 200.

Our automatic power machine for operating the No. 5 machines makes 480 strokes a minute, 28,800 an hour, 288,000 a day. One of our No. 5 machines has been operated by this automatic power machine for months, making many millions of strokes, and yet no perceptible wear is apparent.

EXTRACT FROM JUDGE'S REPORT, CHICAGO COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION, 1893. BLICKENSDERFER SMALL TYPE-WRITER.

Excellence of a small type-writing machine, designed to meet the requirements of gen ral office and clerical work.

It is a type-wheel machine; the wheels are interchangeable and inexpensive, writing is always in sight; has very few parts; can be adjusted to any width between lines; is a good manifolder, and has a light, well arranged key-board.

It shows lightness, simplicity, scope, inexpensiveness and istrength.

AS TO FIGURE SHATING.

There Are Four Important Strokes Which the Learner Should Study. The advantage of figure skating is that it can be practiced on any small pond, provided the ice is perfectly smooth. The more numerous opportunities thus afforded make it very popular where there are no large streams.

In figure skating, arcs, circles, numbers, letters, spirals, and serpentines are formed, cither backward or forward, slowly or rapidly, on one or both feet, singly or in combination. The style may be analyzed with four kinds of strokes, all made on the edges of the blade-the inside forward. the outside forward, the inside backward, and the outside backward. The variety of evolutions which can be developed from these four movements is endless. Nothing about skating surprises one more than the fact that, no matter what difficulties are encountered in learning a play to perform it.

took off his coat on behalf of himself and his mates. The other side were not idle. The friends of economy proved to be both lucky and energetic. They were strengthened by the return from the United States of Ald. Mitchell, and they made a difference of two in the change of front presented by Ald. McFatridge, who responded to the pressure of "fourteen real estate owners in his ward, who abjured not to vote again for any day such increase in 'salary as that provide' ed. Besides this John Mullanenar, a strong worker in ward 5, was a deady ", a strong Assessor Eaton, and the strong worker's word had an eat W?" Eight with Ald. Mc-Fatridge. So the alderman crossed the line to the side of no increase in salary.

In due time the meeting took place. Every alderman was in his chair except Mr Musgrave who could not bring himself to a decision. Ald. Stewart his reconsideration. When the moved Ald. Butler unforcame tunately was temporarily absent from the council chamber. He had been buttonholed so unmercifully by triends of the assessor, and argued with so energetically by aldermen on the other side, that it is not to be wondered at if he congratulated himselt when he found that the vote had been taken during his momentary absence. The vote stood a tie, the names being :-For reconsideration,-Ald. Stewart, Geldert, Redden, Hamilton, Mitchell, Hubley, McFatridge, Foster-8. Against Ald. Ryan, Dennis, Lane, O'Donnell, Eden, Creighton, Mosher, Outhit-8.

Mayor McPherson had his mind made up in favor of refusing to endorse the proposed increase, to be called upon to decide the matter by his casting vote. He thought Ald. Butler would have voted against the increase, but, as that did not happen, he had to step into the breach himself and destroy the tie. As he did so the visions of $200 more to salaries already respectably large faded from before the eyes of the three assessors, and $600 a year was saved to the burdened tax-payers of Halifax

Thus it is that this question was settled, after the expenditure of time and everything almost great enongh to dispose of the war score between Great Britain and the United States. But it was always thus with the city council of Halifax where a paltry personal matter is concerned. Let them turn over a new leaf with the coming new year.

They will have a chance to begin the good work even at the end of this year. It is the intention of the "salaries committee" to bring in a report at a meeting of the council tomorrow (Friday) evening, recommending changes in the interest of economy and rested, Another such an affair happened at Warm Spring Creek in April last but at that time one of the desperadoes got what he wanted. On Warm String Creek there lived a bachelor by the me of Marshall, who is a good quiet ch. m he got in the bad graces of a gang by the name of Davis over a water right. The Davis's made it so warm for him that he, determined to leave the country, so he sold his ranch. The night before he was to leave, he got word that he was to be visited that night. He then heeled himsel, and when about midnight he heard mounted men coming he was prepared. He was lying at the back of his cabin with a Winchester in his hands and on one the men dismounting and striking a match he let him have the contents and shot him dead. The others were taken to Benton but are again at large.

Such are the effects of the elective system. Canada can kick, but there is more justice in one hour in Canada than in a whole year in Montana. The system here is a traud. Judges, Sheriff and County Attorney all have to be elected and have to pamper to the mob to get office. As the leading attorney in Benton told me the other day politics here are too dirty for an honorable man. It is the exception for an official to have even ordinary ability. Generally the rag tag and bobtail run for office and get there through the bar rcom door. What would you say if you had to buck against all that? I believe you'd do so like a man and I wish that PROGRES or anothar such paper was in this country. This, in all else the finest place in all America, is run by nothing but desperadoes and money. It is a shame that such men are allowed at large perhaps to again go to the east as has been known and become the guests of even a penitentiary warden. FRANK S. BLISS.

driven from my lot they flew over across tte dividing fence to the trees of my neighbor and settled. There was no bombardment over there, and they have stayed there ever since.

"This was a long time ago, but never since the last Roman candle was fired into them has one of those birds settled on one of my trees. They are 'tabooed' as effectually as though they were on fire. The great clouds of birds each morning and evening fly directly over my trees going and coming, but not a bird settles upon a tree that is on my side of the dividing fence "Another strange thing is that if any one of an evening, stands in my lawn and makes a slight noise, as slapping his hands, there will be the wildest commotion among the birds in the neighboring trees. They become restless and almost panic stricken. If, however, the same person crosses the fence and stands directly under them and makes twice as much noise, they pay no attention whatever to him. He can even shoot up into them without driving them from their perches.

"I have wondered several times just what impression those birds have of me and my property that they have so decidedly given me the cold shoulder. They know every tree that is on my lawn, and will settle by thousands on the other side of the fence within a few feet of the dividing line. Of course, I have not bothered them over there, as they were not my guests."

ON DESIRUCTION ISLAND. Life as It Comes to the Keeper of a Pacific Coast Lighthouse. The keeper of the Government lighthouse which was established a few years ago on Destruction Island doubtless leads a lonely lite, but he has some experiences which a lover of the romantic and the adventurous might well covet. The island itself is not without a certain weird fascination. Thirtyfive miles short of Cape Flattery it rises abruptly from the face of the ocean. It has a picturesque, though wild and rugged beauty, and as it stands facing the northern blasts that have sent more than one stout ship to the bottom, it calls up the name of Isle de Dolores, which the early Spanish navigator Quadra gave it to commemorate his misfortunes, and the latter name of Destruction Island, given to it in 1787 by Capt. Berkley on account of the sad fate of several of his crew who were murdered on its savage coast. On wild and stormy nights, when the wind is whirling the sea into toam against the beetling edges of the island, the scene parses the merely beautiful and becomes majestic and sublime.

On such nights the keeper has visitors that do not come to the door of the ordinary land lubber. Flocks of wild fowl, attracted by the bright light, fly blindly toward it, and, with the force of the wind aided by that of their own stout wings, they are driven against the lens with a momenthe blackbirds. When the birds were skate is stuck firmly into the ice. The left skate, on the inside edge, describes a small circle around it, the body making a full turn-one loop. The left skate then changes to the outside edge, supporting the weight of the body, the right skate being litted from the ice. carried behind and across the lift foot and toe, planted in the center of the second loop, when it bears its share of the weight until the left foot has completed the second loop, when the motion is repeated. The left foot describes the full figure just as an S is drawn, and the right toe rests on the center of the circles torming the loops.

A serpentine eight is made by both feet on the ice, one directly behind the other, taking the S. course. The motion is kept up by a slight twist of the body as the feet change from one curve to the other. The idea can perhaps be caught more readily by trying this serpentine motion forward and not attempting, at first, to nake the feet describe a full circle. A whole series of eights can be cut with one foot, while the toe of the other skate remains fixed at a given point-forward, backward, etc.

There is a tradition that Benjamin West was able to trace with his skate on the ice the outlines of any statue that might be named to him. If the story is true, Mr. West deserves to rank as the champion skater of ours, or whatever century he lived in.

Regulating a Husband.

A novel plan for regulating a husband is reported by the Philadelphia Call. The engagement was a long one, the love-letters exchanged legion. With these letters the bride has papered her boudoir. No man could, in the face of such evidence of eternal devotion, object to the price of a new bonnet or be stingy in the matter of pin money.
