Mrs. Eatough is confined to her residence on Pitt street brough illness.

Mr. M. Paddock is sufficiently recovered from his recent severe illness to be out again. Miss Violet Lamb is among those on the sick list this week and is quite ill. The benefit concert given by the Y.M. C. A., on Wednesday in a very worthy cause w s an exceed ingly enj yable affair and the charitable efforts of the society were rewarded with a much larger audi ence than any concert has had for a long time. The programme rendered was a very interesting r and those who took part excelled themselves. Even the city's best vocalist seemed in better voice than usual. Mrs. Worden sang by request "The Auld Scots Sangs" in a very pleasing manner and Mrs Spencer's Winter's Lullaby was very ar tistically rendered; the number however that caused the most amusement was Mr. G. C. Gordon's "Debating Society." Mr. Gordon is a sp'endid elocutionist and receive a great deal of applause. Mr. Frodsham manages the auto harp very nicely and his selections were excell nt, as were also Prof., White's violin selec tions; in the opinion of the majority however the best thing of the evening was the quartette by Mrs R. Piano

Like a precious stone is valuable in proportion as it is flawless. A pertect piano must have perfect wood, Mr. L. E. N. Pratte, manager for this company spent some time making a personal selection of timber as it stood in the forest. No other piano manufactures have taken such trouble but the Pratte Piano Company spare no effort to have every detail perfect.

Not only was the wood selected personally by the Pratte Piano Company's manager, but through all the various processes of transformation in addition to the attention of skilled mechanics it has the personal supervision of Mr. Pratte. This insures unequalled results.

potted plants, the work of the choir, of which Miss McDonald was a member, Mr. Will Roberts and Mr. Ted McDonald performed the duties of u-hers. The groom had the support of Rev. C. W. Hanning ton, rector of Norten. The bride who is a vivacious bruneite looked charmingly modest as she was led to the altar by her brother Mr. Archie Macdona d. She was beautifully gowned in a costume of cream brocade mohair, trimmed with satin and honiton lace and wore an exquisite veil of irish lace and carried a shower bequet of yellow roses and smilax, she was attended by her lit le sister, Miss Klyne Macdonald of St. Andrews, Montreal, as maid of honor who carried a basket of chysanthemums and Miss Roberts and Miss Ethel Powys as bridesmaids and all three were gowned in cream tamise with satin trimmings and wore large hats to match; the bridesmaids carried bougets of yellow chrysanthe mums. The bride were a unique brooch the git of the groom, which had been e-pecially designed for the bride and was made in Edinburgh, as both bride and groom are of scottish decent the brooch was made of scotch gold and scotch stones consisting of pearls agate, jasper and anethyst. The design in four parts had the Murray cres at the top. The scotco thistle was formed of gold and amethyst. The rose of England represented the sons of England of which the groom is a member and the maple leaf represents C nada. The gift of the groom to the little maid of honor and bridesmaid were pretty gold pins set in pearls. After the ceremony the bridal party consisting only of the immediate relatives of the bride drove to the residence of Mrs. John Robinson where b eakfast was served. The happy couple left by the a ternoon train for their home in Stanley. The going away gown of the bride was oi navy blue cloth with hat to match trimmed with whi e wings.
