Last week was exceedingly dull owing no doubt to the intensely disagreeable state of the weather the only event of importance being the Berkshire regiment rink party last Wednesday evening; it was their first entertainment in Halifax ard was most successful. There was some thought of postponing the party as the weather was so very bad but the ice proved to be in good condition much to the joy of the skaters. Major Evans-Gordon and the officers of the Berkshire received their guests at 8 o'clock and proved themselves excellent hosts. Nearly five hundred invitations had been issued and though the party was a large one it was thoroughly enjoyable. Refreshments were dispensed upstairs in the space behind the band stand which was a great improvement on the usual way of having the table spread in the entrance to the rink. There were a great number of people looking on who seemed to find much amusement in watching the dancing and promenading around the rink. The ladies seemed to have turned out in their prettiest hats and gowns the effect was simply charming and the music was excellent the full band of fifty being present. Although the ice was very wet lt did not appear to frighten any of the skaters who entered into it with as much zest as if it were perfectly dry. It was exceedingly warm in the rink on the evening in question and quite a number of light dresses were worn; one of the skaters was wearing a very pretty light grey dress with white silk front, embroidered with pearls. Another very pretty costume was of pale green embroidered with fur and with it was worn a small but most becoming toque; among the spectators was noticed a number of pretty light dress one being of light fawn and another of pale grey and a tailor made gown of rough bluish grey material made with a short c: at opened over a vest of mixed colors. A most striking costume that was much admired was a black cloth skirt with short black velvet coat, lined with white satin, opened over a vest of white; a large picture hat with black and white plumes completed this costume. The usual small lenten teas have made up the gaieties of the week. Mrs. Clarkson gave a smal but very pleasant tea last Friday to which a large number repaired after rink. Mrs W. H. Brookfield heid a large and pleasant

Arrangements for the grand fair in aid of the sailors' home are quietly but steadily being brought to perfection. One of the nice things one hears about this coming entertainment is that the principal feature will not be a bazaar, and that, though there will be various things offered for sale, that will be anything but the main attraction of the fete. On the contrary, the fair will be chiefly .composed of various amusements, such as concerts and all sorts of new and taking entertainments, so that people will be really amused throughout the evening. A cafe chantant will be run'for one thing and that is always popular. Then there will be the usual grand murch of ladies, but far beyond [any we have yet had, while the building is sure to look pretty, as I hear the decorations are to be put into the capable hands of Mr. R. Greenwood.

Mrs. Ferrie gave a very pleasant little "at home" on Monday afternoon for her sister, Miss Turner who has been spending the winter here and will leave shortly for her home in Hamilton.

ANTIGONISH.

[PROGRESS is for sale in Antigonish at I. R. Mc Il lreith & Co's book store.]

MAR. 10 -Society has been very quiet for the past week, I have not heard of any parties or five o'clock teas, and as the snow is melting away so, the ardent zeal of the snow shoers and the tobogganist is growing less. Considering everything the winter has been a very lively one, the pleasure seekers have had their numerous wants supplied, as there was plenty of snow for good sleighing which was taken advantage of by all hands old and young. The curlers also put in a splendid winter, and have won laurels for themselves of which they should all feel proud, and I have not the least doubt but what they feel quite exultant over the splendid victories they have gained. I forgot to tell you about the party of snow shoers who took the train to South River and tramped back a distance of six miles by the way of the river. The party was made up of Miss Annie McMillan, Miss Lily and Violet Mc-Donald, Misses McCurdy, Miss Gossip, Messrs. McCarroll, Graham, Gardener, Paton, Steeves and McCurdy. The ladies provided lunch which was eaten on the Island, where the gentlemen made a fire and hot coff e and sandwiches were the order of the day.

Mrs. John McMillan held a very pleasant at home in honor of her guest Mrs. Sutherland o Halifax, a short time ago. She was ably assisted by her dainty grand daughter Miss Bell McCurdy ant by Miss McMillan. The pretty parlors were very tastefully arranged for the occasion and lookhandsome, lighted up with colored lights. The invited guests were Mrs. McKay, Truro; Mrs. Mc. Donald, Mrs. McCurdy, Mrs. Charles Archibald. Mrs. Millidge, Mrs. M. D. McMillan, Mrs. Ed lie Whidden, Mrs. Kirk, Mrs. Aubrey and Grant Kirk Mrs. Clarie Beck and others. Mi .s Mc Mill .n played some very beautiful selections of music. A very pretty tea was served after which the guests retired, voting it the most charming event of the season.

Rev. Edwin Magstaff preached in St. James' church on Sunday and also lectured in the hall on Tuesday, Hislecture was very interesting being illustrated with views of the diff rent subjects described.

Mr. Atwater who was so nearly killed by being run into by a team on last Sunday night, is coming round better than it was thought he would when he was hurt.

"The night was dark and stormy and the wind was howling wild," but several enthusiastic snow shoers succeeded in reaching "River Bank" where they went to surprise Miss McMillan. The party of ladies were made up of Miss Gossip, Miss Mc. Donald and the Mi ses McCurdy, after explaining their motives on venturing out on such a stormy evening they proceeded to chat cozily together when
