J. W. ALLEN, Dartmouth N. S. I hear the officers of the Berks spoken of as "very gentlemanly and quiet, but don't appear to take much interest in Society.' Perhaps there is not as much in Society to take an interest in as there used to be? How would it do to have a society rollcall at stated intervals, just to see where we stand? There are all the elements in Hali:ax for real good Society, but like our garden walks there is trimming required from time to time, so that one can see the paths clearly defined. Perhaps the Berks officers are uncertain in the matter. Mrs (Dr.) Kirpatrick will be "at home" to her friends on Thursday next from 4 30 to 6 39, at 83 Morris street.

The Ball Family Jubilee Singers gave two concerts at Masonic Hall on Monday and Tuesday evenings. The concerts were under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Association. The reputation of the singers and the object for which they sang was sufficient guarantee for the good house they had.

Mrs. Donald Keith had a ladies tea at her residence, Inglis street, on Tuesday afternoon. The weather was not at all propitious, but this did not prevent a large number of ladies from enjoying a really pleasant couple of hours.

The many friends of Rev. G. M. Clarke are pleased to see him look so well after his three or four months trip to Europe. The rev. gentleman and wife arrived home early last week via Ottawa, where Mr. Clarke ministered so acceptably for several years. Miss Thomson, Mrs. Clarke's sister. will remain on the continent all winter.

The death occurred at the residence of F. P. Brown, 243 South street, this morning, after a shor illness, of James E. Wilson, the well known stove dealer. In referring to his career a city pape: says; "Mr. Wilson was born at Falmouth, Nova Scotia, and was a brother of Councillor B. D. Wilson, of Waverley. He went to Australia when quite a young man and worked in the gold fields. It was while going back there in 1866, after a visit home that he met with a thrilling experience. He was a passenger on the big steamship London, which went down in the Bay of Biscay with 235 out of 254 passengers and crew. The loss of that ship created a profound sensation in London, where she was built and owned, as she was a representative of a special class, combining steaming and sailing qualities. She was a compara tively new ship and Mr. Wilson was induced to delay a month in order to take passage on her. The London left the Thames on Saturday, December 30th, 1865. The voyage down the Channel was boisterous and protracted. One night the ship had to seek shelter at the Isle of Wight, only arriving at Plymouth on the sixth day aiter leaving the Thames. She remained at Plymouth a day, to take coal, and many passengers joined her there, including Rev. Dr. Woolly, principal of Sydney university; Rev. Mr. Draper, president of the Methodist conference of Australia, and G. V. Brooke, a famous

Three days after leaving Plymouth the London met a terrific gale in the Bay of Biscay and Mr. Wilson has written that 'the scene viewed from the quarter deck was sublime.' It was decided to put back to Plymouth for repairs, as it appeared that the ship had been overladen. During one night the engine room skylight was carried away by a boom which was torn from its fastenings, and the water poured in and put out the fires. Within eight minutes the ship was driving at the mercy of the gale. To the removal of the skylight, Mr. Wilson thought could be attributed the loss of the ship. Mr. Wilson escaped from the ship by jumping into one of the lifeboats which was being tossed about by the sea. The boat was affoat four days before land was

Mr. Wilson afterwards came back to Nova Scotia and in 1867 began business as a stove dealer, holding the agency of the Windsor foundry, in which business he has continued ever since, Mr. Wilson for some years took a prominent part in civic politics and at one time was elected to represent one of the wards in the city council. He was in his 68th year at the time of his death.

His wife, who died about three years ago, was a daughter of Hon. Alex. McDeugall. There are a son and a daughter, the former, Cavassa (named after the captain of the ill-fated steamship London). being an electrican, living in Boston. The daughter is Miss Lou Wilson, who lived with her father. The funeral will take place on Friday at 4 p. m.

from 248 South street. AMHERST.

Oct. 14,-On Friday evening Mrs. J. Medley Townshend gave a delightful little party to many of Miss Elsie's and Master Kenneth's friends. The evening was spent in the playing of various games followed by a delicious tea, ever more than welcome to the young folks.

On Wednesday and Thursday afternoon of last week Mrs. C. J. Morse served tea to a number of Miss Theo's friends at the home on Douglas avenue and on Friday Mrs. D. C. Allan gave a large afternoon tea for her daughter Miss Daphne who makes a splendid young hostess.

On Friday afternoon of last week Mrs. Stanley Sutherland served tea to a number of her lady friends, of whom were Mrs. W. I. Bell, Mrs. Bon naman, Mrs. W. H. Rogers, Mrs. E. Black, Mrs. C. S. Cameron, Mrs. Sedgewick, Mrs. John Mc-Keen, Mrs. McGregor, Miss Hockin, Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. M. D. Pride, Mrs. A. D. Ross, Mrs. Harry Pride, Mrs. James Moffatt, and Mrs. A. Rogers. Miss Grace Steele and Miss Kathleen Coates assist. ed Mrs. Sutherland with the tea.

Miss Bessie Sutcliffe gave a pleasant progressive party to a number of her friends Friday evening at her home Spruce Grove. The first prizes were captured by Miss Grace Pipes and Mr. Harry Biden and the booby prizes by Miss May Love and Mr. Geo. Douglas. The other young people there were, Miss Lena Welling, Alice Sleep, Fanny Pipes, Annie Jodrey, Lucy Mackinnon, Bert Davison, Garnet Chapman, Bert McLeod and Harry Bell.

Mr. Murray who has been on duty here for a long time in the bank of N. S., has been ordered to Halifax much to the regret of his many friends and socitey in general. On Friday evening a few of his most intimate friends tendered him a barquet at the Aberdeen cafe. Speeches were made during the evening wishing him all success in his native city for which place he left this afternoon.

After all the boards had been played, and com parisons eagerly made, Dr. and Mrs. Townshend, and the guests repaired to the dining room to sit down to a most tempting supper as it always is at Mrs. Townshend's.

Wednesday appears to be the popular day for weddings, here at least. Lately there has been one nearly every Wednesday, and on last Wednesday there were two. At 6,30 a. m. Miss Ina Hatfield, daughter of Mr. Moses Ha'field was united to Mr. Roy McDougal of Truro, at the home of the bride, Port Greville. Mr. and Mrs. McDougal left Parrsboro by the morning train for an extended tour. Quite a number of their friends accompanied them to Springhill Junction. The second wedding took place in St. Bridget's church at 8 o'clock, Miss Ann Morris and Mr. Hubert White being the contracting parties. The bride wore blue and the bridesmaid, brown, both looking very well, Mr. E. Gillespie supported the groom. The wedding breakfast was at the Grand Central.

You'll enjoy the Winter through all its varying moods if you have your clothing interlined with Fibre Chamois. This wonderful fabric is so light that you never notice its presence in a garment till you get out into the wind and cold, then you realize that you are cosily warm even tho' lightly clad. Fibre Chamois is a complete non-conductor of heat and cold, not the strongest wintry blast can penetrate it, nor can the natural warmth of the body escape through it-This explanation and the fact that it sells for 25c a yard gives the whole story, and easily proves that for health and comfort's sake you can't do without it.
