Carnival week and all festivities have ended and every body I am sure is glad that it is so. On Monday evening Governor and Mrs. Daly gave an afternoon dinner garden party that was a great success. To suit the travellers wardrobes ordinary morning dress was worn. The evening was rather dark but the scene was a brilliant one. The following were among the gowns worn. Mrs.

Daley wore black; Miss Daly a violet shot silk bodice and a skirt of black crepon; Miss Terton, a Black crepon; Miss Tert black skirt and bodice of yellow crepe. Many American ladies were present, whose beautiful cos tnmes were much admired, but had no chance of indentifying with their owners' names. Mrs. Longley was in grey with a neat shot of pink chiffon; Mrs. Erskine wore black and pate green; a very pretty gown, worn by a stranger, was in painly made violet brocade, drapped with pink chiff inthis suited the dark beauty of its wearer; Mrs. A. G. Jones wore black, with steel embroidery; Miss Kinnear, black and pale grey, M.s. A. E. Jones was in parrot green shot silk, relieved with much lace and geivel embroidery; Mrs. Walter Jones, in white, with a long black feather boa; Miss Ball of Charlottetown, who is the guest of Mrs. M. R. Morrow, wore black crepon, with a bodice of yellow chiffon; Mrs. J. Morrow was attired in a lovely costume of pale green silk, with a bodice of

The officers of the Crescent were "at home" on Tuesday afternoon, and a more briliant gathering has seldom been witnessed on board a man-o'-war. Beautiful women looked more beautiful against a background of blue sky and blue waters, while the ships, displaying any quantity of bunting, were truly magnificent. Everybody seemed to be aboard the Crescent. The Admiral and Mrs. Erskine, Capt. Powell and Mrs Powell, well assisted by the officers of the ship, did their very best in the way of hospitality to their Halifax guests and the strangers within our gates.

pink accordien pleated crepe.

Mrs. Erskine wore a striking and beautiful costume that was exceedingly becoming, and set off tle red-gold of her beautiful hair to great advantage. It consisted of a dark green skirt, with a bodice of green and red surah, clasped with a broad and beautiful belt of jewel embroidery. A large black hat worn, and parasol to match the bodice. The Hon. Mrs. Montgomery Moore was attired in deep purple poplin, very well made, and draped with really exquisite black Irish lace.

Many grass lawns were worn. Miss Wilby's was about the prettiest, with a tiny strip of pink and green satin running through the material. Mrs. Longley wore a lovely pink striped satir, one of the new old-fashioned silks that carry such a dainty old world air with them. Mrs. Guy Hart wore a lovely green costume with narrow applique of houlton laces and many bewildering chiffon frills. Miss Stairs had a toilet of white silk with a blured design of rosebuds, very fresh and girlish. Mrs. E. Twining, of New York, was in brown with a beautiful bodice of russet brocade. Mrs. Collard a particu larly well-fi ting costume of rich black moire antique, relieved with jet. Mrs. Sholto Douglas, gray and cream canvas. Mrs. Stairs Duffus, yellow and sheeny silk with a blured papenesque" design and rich coloring. Mrs. Graham Duffus a lovely whalt blue|sheeny silk and smart white hat. Miss Story, black canvas with bodice of apple green velve with embroidered chiffon. Mrs. Alex. Doull wore a smart coat and shirt of blue lattas. Miss Nagle, glass iawn relieved with violet and a large hat of black tulle with deep roses. Mrs. W. Jones white canvas. Mrs. Fred Jones, black moire skirt and bodice of accordien pleated lawn with perfectly plain tight fitting sleeves. Miss Flanklyn, cream and pink checked silk. Mrs. O'Dwyez, black and while silk smart and effective gown. These are but a very few of the really lovely frocks aboard.

Aug. 6. - The very sudden death of Mrs. W. B. Huestis which occurred early on Wednesday evening cast a glcom over a large portion of the public and society in general who deeply sympathize with the bereaved family in their deep affliction. Mrs. Huestis was a member of the methodist church and a general contributor to all charitable works. The funeral took place on Saturday morning. Rev. J. L. Batty took the service, Rev. D. McGregor and Rev Dr. Steele assisting. The house was filled with relatives and friends who wished to pay their last tribute of respect to the deceased. The pallbearers were Mr. F. A. Coates, Mr. W. I. Bell, Mr. P.G. McSween, Mr. C. S. Cameron, Mr. E. Black and

The casket was literally covered with floral tributes sent by loving friends. A wreath with "mother" was on the foot of the casket from her daughters, Mrs. A. C. and Mrs. C. E. Casey. A cross from the A. A. of the woman's missionary society and cut flowers from Mrs. (Dr.) Bliss, Mrs. F. B Robb, Mrs. D. S. Chapman, Mrs. Morrison and others.

Mrs. Stevens and children and Miss Grace Clark have returned from an outing at Tidnish.

A meeting of the presbytery of Waliace was held in St. Stephens church on Tuesday afternoon and of the woman's foreign miss., society tea was served in the basement by the ladies of the con. gregation at five o'clock where a most enjoyable hour or so was spent by the visiting friends.
