SIT ON THE RIGHT SIDE.

A Curious Custom of Women in the Street Cars. 'Have you ever noticed,' said a very observing individual the other day, 'that nine women out of ten, when they enter a street car, invariably take a seat on the right-hand side of it? I have frequently wondered at it, and a solution to the mystery did not occur to me until a few nights ago. I got on to a car which was entirely empty, and sat down in the forward left-handed corner. At the next corner a woman got in and sat down opposite me. At the next street two more women got in and took seats alongside of the first. After a time there were seven wemon in the car, all sitting in a row, leaving me to enjoy the comforts of the left hand seats. Then three men jumped aboard and sat down on my side. Finally another woman joined us, and instead of taking a vacant seat near the door on the 'ladies' side,' she walked the entire length of the car and sat down alongside of me. This eccentricity on ber part impelled me to watch her more closely than good manners possibly warranted, but I solved the mystery to my satisfaction, She paid the conductor with her left hand. She was left-handed; see? And all the women ou the other side were right-handed, of course. Fact!'
