WELCOME SOAP CO., - - ST. JOHN, N. B.

Social and Personal.

The most brilliant event of the social world this week, and in fact it might be said of the entire season was the marriage of Miss Katherine Edwards Jones eldest daughter of Mr. Simeon Jones, and Mr. Francis Usher of Edinburgh, Scotland who were united in marriage by Rev. Archdeacon Bristocke, at Caverhill Hall, the beautiful residence of the bride's father, at two o'clock last Wednesday afternoon.

The decorations were on a very magnificent scale and surpass anything of the kind yet attempted in St. John. Every room had its own particular flower and the scheme of color and arrangement was most artistically carried out. The main entrance was decorated with smilax, palms, carnations and other plants, white near the door was a pretty piece of work done in wild flowers and ferns. Near the staircase Harrison's orchestra discoursed appropriate music from behind fall palms, ferns and potted plants.

In the drawing room, where the ceremony was performed, the decorations were most elaborate. At one end was a large arch covered with smilax, ferns and carnations while from it, suspended by white ribbons was a very large bell of white and pink asters. White ribbons were stretched from either side of the arch to the door, thus forming an aisle for the bridal party. They were held by the young brothers of the bride, Masters Ernest and Andrew Jones. From floor to ceiling at one side of the room, was a bank of palms, ferns, white and pink lilies and rubber plants, while the mantels were banked with sweet peas, ferns and mosses. Variegated ivies, palms and ferns filled the grates and the whole effect was surpassingly beautiful.

In the dining room the decorations were much simpler but none the less lovely; cut glass bowls were filled with pink and white lilies, ferns and gypsophylls. The bride's table was done in white roses, ferns and trailing vines of stephanotis.

The guests were received by Mr. Simeon Jones, and Mrs. Kellie Jones who wore a white silk dress with overdress of white gauze with blue flowers. She carried a pretty bouquet of white roses. Miss White, as Mr. George Jones's fiancee, received with the family and looked charming in a gown of white and pink silk with pink roses.

At two o'clock the bride entered with her father and was followed by her sister Miss Edna Jones, as bridesmaid. In describing brides there seems to be only one stereotyped phrase that does duty upon all occasions but in this instance to say that the bride looked lovely and graceful is no exaggeration. She wore a gown of ivory satin, made in London, the court train of which was four yards long. At each side of the skirt was a wreath of orange blossoms and the waist was trimmed with orange blossoms, white chignon and real lace the gift of her sister. Her bridal veil was held in place by orange blossoms and her shower bouquet white roses, stephanotis and maiden hair fern, tied with ivory ribbon, was a triumph of floral art. She wore no ornaments.

Miss Edna Jones was charmingly attired in a gown of white glace silk with corn flowers in Dresden effect with lace and chignon trimming. She carried a beautiful bouquet of white and blue corn flowers tied with pale green ribbons. The groom was supported by his brother Mr. Frederick Usher. After the ceremony the newly wedded pair received the congratulations of their friends and later on an elaborate luncheon was served after which Mr. and Mrs. Usher left on their wedding tour a week of which will be spent at Newport. The brides travelling dress which was made in London was of blue broadcloth trimmed with gold embroidery and white cloth vest.

The bride was the recipient of many costly presents. From the groom was a diamond and emerald bracelet and to the bridesmaid he gave a bracelet of diamonds and pearls. Her father and brothers gave her cheques for large amounts and her godmother, Mrs. Murdoch, gave her all the old Kellie silver which forms a magnificent collection. Mr. John Usher, who was present at his son's wedding, gave the bride a diamond necklace; Mr. Andrew Usher presented a solid silver tea service and silver coffee service. Other relatives of the groom gave a dog cart, a brougham and horses. The servants in Mr. Jones family presented the bride with three pieces of cut glass, and the brewery employees gave two beautiful bronze statues.

Among the guests present were; Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Skinner, and Misses Skinner, Mr. Jarvis, Mrs. Percy Donville, Miss Jarvis, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomson, and Misses Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. John McMillan, Misses McMillan and Mr. Alexander McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Troop, Miss Troop, Dr. and Mrs. W. White, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sayer, Mr. and Mrs. Vassie and Misses Vassie, Mr. and Mrs. Justice Tuck and Miss Tuck, Mr. and Mrs. Justice King, Count de Barry, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coster, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ruel, Mr. G. G. Ruel, Messrs. Skinner, Mrs. I. Burpee, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Allison, Mrs. E. R. Burpee and Miss Burpee, Mrs. Busby, Mrs. Geo. K. McLeod, Miss Nan Burpee, Mr. Hazen Hansard, Miss Hatheway, Mr. and Mrs. James Dever and Miss Dever, Lieutenant Col. Tucker, Gen. and Mrs. Warner and Misses Warner, Misses Furlong, Dr. and Mrs. Boyle Travers and Miss Travers, Dr. Thomas Walker, Dr. and Mrs. Holden, Miss Holden, Mr. and Mrs. Wetmore, Mrs. Leigh Harrison Mr. James Harrison, Mr. W. H. Thorne, Mrs. William Harrison, Mr. William Harrison, Jr., Miss Harrison, Mr. C. F. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Newton, Mr. and Mrs. James Stratton, Misses McLaughlin, Mrs. Murdoch Mr. and Mrs. DeWolf Spurr, Miss Adams and Mr. A. Adams, Mrs. T. J. King, Mr. N. Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Sturdee, Mr. MacDonald, Fredericton, and others.

The flowers for the decorations came from Mrs. W. H. Jones's floral establishment and the beauty and skill with which this part of the affair was managed does infinite credit to the taste and ability of Mrs. Jones's foreman, Mr. J. R. Sibley.

Mrs. George McLeod gave a ladies luncheon party last Saturday for the intertainment of Mrs. E. R. Burpee at which ten ladies were present. Miss Bessie Blair is in St. Stephen visiting Miss Florence Mitchell.

Mrs. Isaac Burpee gave a tea last Tuesday in honor of her guest, E. R. Burpee, that was quite a brilliant affair and most enjoyable. In the issue of April 11th last under Fredericton social news there was a mistaken reference to the Rothesay School for Girls, Netherwood. The item stated that 'the Misses A. and L. Tabor were at home, the school at Rothesay being closed on account of measles.' They had left Netherwood for the Easter holiday and there were no measles or sickness of any kind, other than colds, among the resident pupils during the year. Good health and home life as well as scholarship are the aims of the management.
