Electric Fans Utilized Somewhat After the Various Gazing Wheels.

Science has been called to the aid of the wheel of fortune. Even the wind which electricians call to their aid to relieve suffering humanity is now utilized to further the gambling propensities of the man who would rather match pennies than keep those he earthed. In Pittsburg there is gambling resort in nearly every business house, and roulette is the game.

How does this happen, you may ask. Well, it is all through the fact that people suffer from the heat. Some brilliant in ventor came the conclusion that, instead of the ordinary revolving fly frightener that moves so deliberately that the average fly forgets its existence, if a motor could go around so quickly as to be invissible to the eye it might be that with blades to it a miniature cyclone could be produced. The air engendered by that electrical tornado would cool a sweltering world where clerks and even bankers mopped their collective brows and panted for the shades of the mountains until they got so hot that they were ready to engage any nation upon the face of the earth in mortal [combat. This inventor carried out his philanthropic idea, and the result was the placing upon the market of the electrical fan.

Now, this fan contains six blades, and every one is a hammer. It is so portable that it can be placed most anywhere, so long as the wire connection is not broken. The fan was introduced into select circles. It found instant favor. No more mopping of brows; no more chasing of flies from eeads which resembled the famous cranium of Uncle Ned's. The electrical tan was willing to work double turn and blow the face off the superheated owner if necessary. The public was correspondingly grateful, and rested under the artificial storm in peace and quiet.

But Pittsburg frowns upon gambling, offi cially. It has shut up its poolshops; it has closed its blind pools; it even restricts the great American game of draw poker. Still, like the shattering of the rose vase the predilection for going up against any old thing which may trim some one else and enable the winner to walk off with the "pile" clung around many a person who ought to have known better. The pleasures of the sportively inclined were restricted to such infantile sports as match. ing for the drinks, shooting crap in blind alleys, and similiar diversious of no particular standing among the elite. Memories of faro, roulette, and other means of quickly losing money floated around the average citizen; his soul revolted against the "shoestring" methods to which unkind fate and the police had reduced him. It is said that every necessity finds some remedy. So it has proven in this case.

If a roulette wheel merely consisted of red and dark marks with a little black marble coursing around, uncertain where to stop, and seldom stopping where it ought, then a swiftly revolving electrical wheel ought to stop in some uncer ain place when the current was shut off. Acting upon this scheme the inventor of the new form of gambling proceeded to number the blades. Then each member of the gambling traternity puts his money upon one blade. If the suspended animation of the fan proves that his guess was correct he wins the stake. 'It is all so easy and so fair unless some one "loads" one of the blades. It is incidently such a handy way of waging money, it is filling so well along-lelt want, that in most of the offices where electric fans are used there appear upon the blades the numbers One, two, three, four, five and six.'

To the uninitiated they mean little, but to the now habitual player on this newly devised wheel of fortune they evidence much. He walks into a strange office, incidentally turns off the current of the electric fan and it he sees the numbers there he immediately remarks: 'I choose six,' or whatever may be his favorite number. Some member of the firm or clerk immedistely places his faith upon some other number turning up, and there it is. In a minute there is a first-class game going full speed. It is all so simple-turn on the current, then then it off and win or lose, as the cise may be. There are many of these wheel or fan players who work on systems they think will win. They make a study of the electric fan in a certain office. They discover that a 'five'or a 'three' maybe reasonably certain to turn up if current is only allowed to be turned on for a second or so; that if the wheel is revolving at its full gait another figure will appear. Upon these principles they stake their coin. The majority of the players, however, do not figure upon any such deep-laid plans; they | Hazel Hill, Aug. 10, to the wife of P. McKenna a arise in the morning and consider that a certain number will prove lucky and they go and play it. It is really astonishing how the practice has spread. It is related that in several large office buildings heavy sums are wagered, and the press reporter is [informed that there are few buildings in which there are not electrical fans bearing Parrsboro, July 7, to the wife of G. Edgar Spencer the tell-tale numbers. The salcons, of course, do not permit it, for it a form of | Yarmouth, Aug. 9, to the wife of Harry K. Couldn't Walk,

All are not soldiers who wear a uniform, as General Lew Wallace found out at Fort

He saw four soldiers carrying a fifth, who seemed to be wounded.

·Can't that man walk with assistance?' asked Wallace.

'Oh, no,' said the men; 'he is dying.' Just then a shell exploded near by and the four men dropped their burden and fled. The man who was supposed to be wounded leaped to his feet and ran even faster than the others.

THE WAND OF MISERY WAVED OVER MRS. THOS GREEN.

From Her Childhood She Suffered from Heart Trouble - Doctors Said Nothing Could Be Done for Her, and that Her Death at Any Moment Would Not Surprise Them.

From the Herald, Stratford.

"Of the making of books there is no end," it has been said, and the same claim might be set up in respect of the making of testimonials in favor of Dr. Williams' Boston, July 28, by Rev. Mr Littlefield, Charles Hutchings to Hannah McLean. of testimonials in favor of Dr. Williams' Pirk Pills. Wonderful as are some of the statements published in the newspapers as to the cures effected in all parts of the country, fresh evidence proves the half has not been told. Were is not for a false sense of delicacy which a great many people entertain in regard to such matters the columns of the press would be literally teeming with grateful acknowledgements of benefit derived from and permanent cures effected by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. It is quite within the mark to say that there is no other medicine offered the public that can at all compare with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and there is not a corner in this wide Dominion in which their vir ues have not been proved. A cure which recently came to the knowledge of a representative of the Herald is deserving of being widely known. It is an instance of heart trouble that baffled the skill of a number of physicians, some of whom positively refused to treat the patient on the ground. that it was no use. The subject of the affliction referred to is the wife of a highly respected and well to-do farmer in the township of Logan, near the village of Dub lia. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Green are firm behevers in the efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and for very good reasons. Mrs. Green has suffered everything but death from a weak heart, the trouble having afflicted her since carly childhood. On several occasions she has been so low that it was not thought possible for her to recover. Her greatest trouble often arose from exhaustion or a sudden start, and st such times her heart seemed to cease its throbbing and the breathing was fitful and labored. Doctor's medicine seemed to bave no effect whatever. She was advised by one physician that all that could be done was to keep her strength up, and it was with a view to strengthening her system, and with no hope that her heart would be benefitted, that she began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She had not been taking them long, however, when there was an unmistakable relief from the trouble that had made her whole life miserable. During the past summer she has used Pink Pills freely, and has enjoyed better health than for many years before, and Belleville, Yarmouth, Aug 8, Leon Potier, 84. has been able not only to do her household work, but also many of the out door chores that fall to the lot of a farmer's wife. The different physicians who have treated her have frequently told her husband that they would not be surprised to hear of her death at any moment, but she is to-day a strong woman, enjoying better health than she has done for years. Both Mrs. Green and her husband feel grateful for the great benefit she has received from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and spare no words in sounding their praises to everyone who enquires what has wrought such a wonderful change in Mrs. Green's health In cases of paralysis, spinal troubles, locomotor ataxia, sciatica, rheumatism, erysipelas, scrofu ous troubles, etc., Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are superior to all other treatment. They are also a specific for the troubles which make the lives of so many women a burden, and speedily restore the rich glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. Men broken down by overwork, worry or excesses, will find in Pink Pills a certain cure. Sold by all dealers, or sent by mail postpaid, at 503 a box, or six boxes for $2 50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville. Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y.
