Aug. 11 .- Mrs. George Downes held the first of her receptions this month last Wednesday afternoon and evening at her home Hinckley Hill Calais. She was daintly attired in her wedding gown of white satin. She was assisted in receiving by her mother Mrs. Fredric L. Hamm. Refreshments were served in the dining room by Miss Kath erine Copeland, Miss Macartney, and Miss Ida Boardman. The floral decorations were pink and white. This afternoon Mrs. Downes holds another re-

Mrs. Percy Lord gave an extremely pleasant drive whist party at her residence on Thursday evening.

A large party of ladies and gentlemen left this morning on the steamer "Viking" for an excursion to Deer Island and a sail among the numerous islands in the Bay of Funday. The excursion is for the benefit of the Public Library fund, as an energytic committee have it in charge, those who have gone anticipate much pleasure.

A well filled house greeted Miss Anglin and her talented company in the St. Croix Hall last evening, and at the close of the entertainment an enthusastic audience left the hall, loud in their praise of the evening's entertainment, charmed not only with Miss Anglin's artistic work, but also with Mr. Wise Miss Whitty, and other members of the company. The audience were chiefly St. Stephen people, and it is the general wish among them that Miss Anglin would return and present Pygmalion and Galptea. ■Thn Art Recital to be given by Miss Hudson and Mr. Herbert C. Grant, at the Windsor Hotel next Tuesday evening is expected to be one of the pleasantest of our summer entertainments. They are to be assisted by Mrs. Frank A. Grimmer and Mr. Robert Seeley, and the Misses Neill and Foster. The programme is an excellent one. The lady patronesses of the occasion are Mrs. James Mitchell, Mrs. Henry Graham, Mrs. Percy Gillmor. Miss Hudson is to appear in a Shakesperian role in which she is at her best.

During her stay in town Miss Anglin and her sister were guests of her aunt Mrs. Hugh Cullinen. I heard that a "German" is to be given next week by one of our most prominent young society ladies. It will probably be a brilliant affair and something worth chronicling, and I hope to be able to describe

Aug. 11 -We are having quite an outburst of gaiety for the time of year and are of course prepared to enjoy the good things that fall to our share in the quiet season with a zest which would be impossible in the winter when parties are of frequent

Mrs. Baxter entertained a number of her friends both married and single at a most enjoyable progressive whist party last Wednesday evening at her handsome residence on Botsford street. The function was in honor of Mrs. Baxter's sister Mrs. E. M. Estey who is spending the summer at her home in Moncton. The guests numbered about thirty five and as Mrs. Baxter is a perfect hostess and Mrs. Estey's charming personality is well known among her numerous friends it is needless to say that a delightful evening was spent and the time for going home came all too soon. Mrs. P. S. Archibald has cards out for an at home on Friday afternoon, and also for a very large dance on Tuesday evening. The latter function dis given for the purpose of formally introducia g Miss Archibald into society-in other words it is her coming out party as it would have been called during the last generation, and it will be decidely the event of the season. Mrs. Archibald's parties are always delightful but this one will probably surpass in size and brilliancy any she has yet given as the coming out of an only daughter is naturally an event of unusual importance.

The benefit performance given by the Ethel Tucker company and a number of amateurs at the Opera house last Wednesday evening for the Knights of Pythias was a most unqualified success, and fully realized all the pleasant anticipations indulged in concerning it. Miss Tucker was of course the star, and shone with especial lustre in the part she took, that of charming Fanny Hadden ward of Mr. Seaton. The scene where Fanny makes futile efforts to escape from Captain Litton and at the same time conceal the fact that she is a hopeless prisoner on account of her dress being firmly caught in the door and the handle of the same door broken off; is especially fine, the acting of Miss Tucker, and Mr. H P. Meldon-"Captain Letterblair"-being nature itself. Mrs. George C. Allen has already won a warm place in the hearts of Moncton audiences on the several occasions upon which she has already appeared before them. As "Polly ' the lively little niece of Dean Ambrose she made a charming soubrette, rivalling many professional actresses in the verve and dash, with which she took her part. Indeed so perfect was the impression produced that had her friends not been aware of the presence amongst the audience of personal property of Mrs. Allen's in the shape of a husband and small daughter, it would have been impossible to believe her other than a madcap of sweet sixteen, very much in love with her uncle's fascinating secretary, Per cival Pincking. Miss Nellie Croasdale another favorite mongst Moncton's amateur actresses, took the different part of Polly's maiden aunt Hyacinth. with professional ease, and grace making decidedly the hit of the evening when she walked gravely on the stage and amazes Dean Ambrose with a sounding kiss. Taking the amateurs in the order of merit the first place amongst the gentlemen belongs decidedly to Mr. John Corcoran, of the I.C R. whose interpretation of Mr. Seaton, the lawyer left nothing to be desired. Indeed it was almost im shrewd, hard headed lawyer throughout. Mr. W. C. Paver is always sure of a warm reception from a Moncton audience, and he made a most dignified and impressive dean, but the fact is wa are accustomed to have Mr. Paver make us laugh, and he is so inimttable in comic parts, that we are disappointed when he appears in a serious 10le.

possible to realize that Mr. Corcoran had ever engaged in any other profession than that of an actor.

so thoroughly at home was he in his part, in short

he was not Mr. Corcoran at all, he was the clever

Mr. Hugh Hamilton made so realistic a villain as Hugh Merrisale, that the audience paid the high compliment to his interpretation of the part, of execrating him heartily, throughout the play. Mr. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dexter jr. and their children | E. J. McLellan, as Jorkins, Captain Letterblair's servant furnished the greater part of the fun, and took his part in a manner of which a professional actor might have been proud. Mr. W. C. Mc-Allister, as Smithesy, clerk to Mr. Season, took the difficult and thankless part of the clown of the piece, and so well did he carry it out that his mere appearance was the signal for shouts of laughter. Mr. Richards of the Ethel Tucker company played the part of Percival Pinckney, as he plays all his roles, in a manner which left nothing to be desired and his love scenes with Polly were most amusing.

Leaving the hero of the play to the last on the principal that the first shall be last, it would be hard to praise Mr. Meldon's rendering of the title role too highly, this gentleman has frequently appeared before Moncton audiences and has always been most cordially received but as one who has had the pleasure of seeing him in various roles, I consider that I am speaking with some little authority when I say that Captain Letterblair in his part par excellence, and he plays it as it he loved it, appearing to greater advantage as the rattle brained but noble and loveable Irishman, than in any of his numerous other roles, and also seeming more thoroughly at home in it. It is scarcely gracious to pick out the one flaw in a performance otherwise nearly perfect, but one cov.d have wished that an actor of Mr. Meldon's ability and wide reputation had not fallen into the common error of failing to distinguish between the accent of an Irish gentleman and that of an Irish coal heaver-It was positive torture to an ear accustomed to the charming accent of the refined Irish tongue, to hear a captain in one of the crack regiments of the service, in the Royal Irish Fusiliers,-"The Queen's own Irish," as their nick name is in the servicesaying "prache" for preach, "yis" for yes and "swate" for sweet.

The fault probably lies largely with the splaywright, but it should be Mr. Meldon's care to correct, instead of perpetuating such errors. Mr. Sam Anderson who delighted the audience by singing some very taking ballads between acts, was given a most enthusiastic reception, and a double encore, to which he kindly responded; and not the least at tractive part of the performance was the programme rendered during the entire acts, by Barker's orchestra. The Citizen's band kindly played for some time in front of the opera house, before the performance. A special feature of the entertainment was the representation of two tableaux by the Knights of Pythias, during an intermission with explanatory remarks by Mr. Meldon who is himself a Knight. "Damon before the Senate" and "Pythias at the Block" were the subjects chosen, and they were most effectively and beautifully represented.

The entertainment was doubtless as successful from a financial, as from an artistic point of view as the audience was one of the largest ever seen in | H. Miller. Moncton.

THINGS OF VALUE.

"Talk is cheap." "Yes, provided you use your neighbor's telephone."

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ills to which flesh is heir-the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient-what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in a sound unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use, the frailest systems are led into convalescense and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a cronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strength. ening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance-result, improved appetite, Northrop & Lyman of Toronto, have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, gauged by the opinion of scientists, this wine ap proaches nearest perfection of any in the market, All druggists sell it.

It is as easy to call back a stone that is thrown from the hand as to call back the word that is spoken.

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimu ating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and inature are driven from the body. Mr, D. Carswell, Carswell P. O, Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell
