Miss Furlong returned Tuesday from Montreal and Toronto, in which cities she spent several weeks as the guest of Mrs. and Miss. Anglin. There is every possibility that Miss Anglin wi'l take Virginia Harned's place with ' E. H. Sothern's company this winter as that lady has decided to retire for the winter in order to get a much needed rest.

Julge Vanwart came from Fredericton for a day or two the middle of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hughes two children and governess who have been siaying with Mrs. Hughes' parents, Senator and Mrs. Dever left this week for their home in China.

The Golf Club ball took place in Mechanic's Institute last evening, too late for notice in this issue of PROGRESS. It was rumored a day or two before the event that while one hundred and fifty ladies had signified their intention of being present, the gentlemen's list only totalled up twenty-nine-a rather one sided affair indeed. It is not likey however that such was the case, large affairs of this kind are not of such frequent occurrence that they can be treated with so much in liference by the gentlemen.

From an artistic and social standpoint the coming great musical events, in which St. John is to hear America's greatest cont:alto are the most important of the year. It is seldom that St. John is visited by a singer to whom the term great may be properly and trathfully applied, but in Mary Louise Clary is found all the requisites which go to make up a great singer, and one whose name will become a household word upon continents, Madame Clary was born in Kentucky twenty-seven years ago and in that short time has established for herself a continental reputation. When in New York, Clary sings at St. Patrick's Cathedral the largest church edifice in Americs for which she receives an enormous salary. Almost every day in the year is taken up with concert and oratorio work, in the larger and more important centres of the states; no music love should miss hearing this great songtress as the opportunity may never again occur. An importsnt feature of the programme upon these occasions will be the debut as a voculist of Miss Frances Travers, daughter of Dr. Boyle Travers Miss Travers has many friends who are en thusiastic in their praise of her vocal abilities. Her voice is a soprano of lovely quality, great range and flaxibility. This will be the only opportunity the St. John public will have of hearing this lady previous to her departure for New York. where she will continue her studies with the celebrated vocal teacher Madame Von Klenner. Another debut at the great concerts will be that of D. B. Pidgeon who has a remarkably beautifu baritone voice, ond one that is sure to make for him a warm place in the esteem of concert goers. J. A Kelly the well known local tenor will also be a participant in the concert, Mr. Kelly's ability to delight his hearers is so well known that any praise her e would be superflaous. Another attractive number on the programme will be that of Miss Alice Lillian Butcher, late graduate of Emmerson Institute Boston, will give some of her best readings in a manner, which will doubtless win for her much applause. No programme is complete without the violin. In these great events W. C. Bowden our talented young local player will attend to that portion of the evening's entertainment. The manner in which he can do so is well known in this community. The always reliable Miss Goddard will perform the exacting duties of accompanist, which is a guarante, that the work will be well done. With this array of talent, the Mechanic's Institute will doubtless be crowded to the doors upon the evenings of O.t. 12. and 13. Plan of seats at Gray's bookstore King st. Wednesday at 8 a.m., when intending patrons should be on hand early as the demand for seats will be greater than the supply. Miss Mary McManus of Somerville, Mass, who has been spending her vacation with relatives in the city left for home on Friday last. Miss Gow of Parrsboro is the guest of Miss Julia Elliot, Germain street. Miss Addie Bockler of Newcastle spentlast week in the city with friends.

Most of summer residents have deserted West. field for the season, which was extended as much as possible this year. September being such a de . ligtful month thought the closing days were just a triflo cold for comfort. The past summer has been particularly plesant from a social point of view and those who went there came away throughly charm ed with the pretty resor. The following budget of news will be found yery interesting. Not for many years have the young society people of Westfield enjoyed such a delightful aff sir as the grand ball given by Mr. H. B. Balentine and Mr. R. A. Finley, at the Westfield hall Wednesday evening. The hall was most attractively decorated with flags and bunting. The strings of Japanese lanterns which were strung from the corners of the hall produced a lovely effect as they reflected on the waxed foor and the handsome gowns of the ladies as they moved in the dance. Mrs. R. A. Finley who chaperoied the dance, received her guests in a charming manner. She was beautifully attired ln a lovoly gown of fawn satin trimmed with rich lace and ribbon. She was assisted by Miss Balentine who wore an elegant costume of white chiffon trimmed with green satin: and also by Miss Ella Balentine who wore a lovely dress of dark green trimmed with green satin. Dancing began a little after eight o'clock and continued uutil an early hour in the morning. A delightful supper was served about midnight. The music was delightful, the programme of dances well selected. The toilettes of the ladies very pretty, nearly all of them were of light colors, and were most striking and noticeable, that of Miss Ethel Watters and Miss Edith Lingley. The former lady wore a pink silk with lace trum nings and the latter a dainty gown of light brown velvet and cream satin trimmings.
