JUNE 9.—Not a solitary wedding so far, and we are well into June? It seems really too bad. Moncton is letting other places get the advantage over her in this respect. She has been satisfied to sit meekly by with her hands folded while other places made all manner of preparations for celebrating the Diamond Jubilee, and she alone stood out in the cold; and now she seems to be letting the month of weddings slip by without even an effort to participate in the general celebration. However I have heard some hopeful rumors of late, and perhaps by this time next week I may have more cheerful news to impart.
