Sleep

Induced by the use of coca, opiate or narcotic compounds is bad, decidedly bad. They undermine health and shatter the constitution and the patient is steadily growing into a worse condition—often resulting in the terrible slavery and misery of the cocaine and opium habit. Sleep induced by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla does not perhaps come as quickly, but it comes more surely and more permanently through nature's great restoring and rejuvenating channel—purified, vitalized and enriched blood. This feeds the nerves with life-giving energy and builds up the system and constitution from the very foundation of all health and life—the blood—pure, rich, red blood.

MONCTON.

Progress is for sale in Moncton at Hattie Tweedie's Bookstore, 221 at M. B. Jones Bookstore.

JAN. 12.—Moncton may be truly said to be a city in mourning at the present time, the sudden death of her most prominent and valued citizen, Mr. J. L. Harris, which occurred at his residence on Queen Street, on Sunday morning, having come as an almost personal grief to a very large majority of the citizens. Mr. Harris was known to have been in failing health for nearly a year, but his untiring energy, and singularly buoyant disposition enabled him to present a brave front to the world, and appear much better than he really was. But during the past few weeks bodily weakness triumphed over the strong will and cheerful spirit, and Mr. Harris was confined to his room with a complication of ailments which caused his family great anxiety but from which no immediate danger was anticipated, and the news of his death from a sudden spasm of the heart, was a terrible shock to the community at large. At first it seemed almost impossible for the citizens to realize that the active energetic man of affairs who had long been a prominent figure in every business enterprise in the city was no more, but when there was no longer room for doubt, a feeling of profound sorrow prevailed, and the deepest sympathy was expressed on all sides for the bereaved family. Mr. Harris was in every sense of the word a public benefactor and this city has good reason to mourn one to whom she owed very much, for it is to the business acumen, shrewdness and enterprise of the firm of J. & C. Harris that the position of Moncton today is largely due. But for their public spirit, great ability and unsparring use of their capital, for the benefit of home industries, the city of Moncton would have remained at best a small railway town. Many of the largest industries the most prominent public works, and the most flourishing industries of today owe their existence to the enterprise of the Harris brothers, of which the late J. L. Harris being the elder and more experienced, was naturally the leading spirit. The Moncton gaslight and water system, the sugar refinery, cotton factory, and last of all the electric street railway, are all monuments of the pluck and business ability of these public spirited men. Mr. Harris was never a man who aspired to public honors, possessing the distinction of never having contested an election of any kind, or been a candidate for any office, although he was for two years chairman of the town council at the time when the councillors possessed the privilege of choosing their chief officer; but he was a prominent mason, past-master of Keith lodge, past first-principal of Botsford Royal Arch Chapter, and a member of the Order of Knights Templar. Mr. Harris was a man of very strong family affections and greatly beloved not only in his own family circle and by the numerous friends that this warm heart and many genial and kindly qualities won for him. He had ever a pleasant smile and a kind word for everyone, and the poor of the city possessed a generous and judicious friend in the man who is so universally lamented today. Mr. Harris leaves a widow and two children, Mrs. E. W. Jarvis of Toronto, and Mr. J. H. Harris of the firm of J. H. Harris & Co., wholesale grocers of this city. Three sisters and two brothers survive him. Mrs. Humphrey, widow of the late John A. Humphrey, Mrs. Cochran, widow of Robert Cochran of Moncton, and Mrs. James Cowie, also of this city. The brothers are Mr. C. P. Harris of Moncton, the surviving member of the old firm of J. & C. Harris, and Mr. J. A. Harris, barrister, of Boston. The funeral takes place tomorrow from the family residence on Queen street. Meantime all social functions have been postponed, and flags are flying at half mast from all the public buildings and many private residences, as a tribute of respect to the memory of the deceased.

Mr. W. B. McKenzie, chief engineer of the I. C. R., arrived last week from Toronto, where he accompanied Mrs. McKenzie and family for the purpose of seeing them settled in their new home. Mr. McKenzie's object in removing his family to the Queen city was to take advantage of the superior educational advantages offered there, and give his daughters an opportunity of attending one of the ladies colleges for which Toronto is celebrated. I understand that they will reside in Toronto for the next two years, having taken a handsome house in the central part of the city. Mrs. McKenzie will be greatly missed in Moncton society, and her numerous friends look forward eagerly to her return.

Mrs. E. A. Harris appeared out in St. John's Presbyterian church on Sunday last and looked charming in a more becoming gray costume. Mrs. Harris is not receiving this week on account of the death of her husband's uncle, Mr. J. L. Harris.

Bruce will hear with deep regret of the very severe accident he met with last week, slipping on the icy sidewalk near his own residence and breaking both bones of his ankle. It is but a year or two since Mr. Bruce met with a similar misfortune, breaking the other ankle; and that history should repeat itself in so unpleasant a fashion, is a singular coincidence.

The Misses Bessie and Gertrude Rusk of St. John, are spending a few days in town, the guests of their aunt, Mrs. H. C. Charters of Main street.

The numerous friends of Mr. C. T. Nevins, formerly of this city but now of the Canadian Drug Company St. John, were glad to see him in town again last week, and gave him the warmest of welcomes.

Miss Alice Wetmore delighted the congregation of Central Methodist church, on Sunday evening with her solo, "Our Saviour's Promise" by Lipka. The vestry in which the services are being held since the fire, was filled to overflowing, and golden opinions were expressed of the young singer's progress during her short period of study in Boston.

The assembly dance which was to have been given last evening, has been postponed until Friday on account of the death of Mr. J. L. Harris.

Miss Blair of Chatham is spending a few days in town the guest of her brother, Mr. F. H. Blair, organist of St. John's Presbyterian church.

Mr. Leonard Harris left town on Thursday for a trip to Montreal.

Sweetness and Light.

Put a pill in the pulpit if you want practical preaching for the physical man; then put the pill in the pillory if it does not practise what it preaches. There's a whole gospel in Ayer's Sugar Coated Pills; a "gospel of sweetness and light." People used to value their physic, as they did their religion,—by its bitterness. The more bitter the dose the better the doctor. We've got over that. We take "sugar in ours"—gospel or physic—now-a-days. It's possible to please and to purge at the same time. There may be power in a pleasant pill. That is the gospel of
