FEB. 23 .- Last Wednesday evening a very pleasant party was given by Mrs. McLeod at the Farm Thursday atternoon there was another of Mrs. Hunton's delightful five o'clock teas. Those present were Mrs. Borden, Mis. J. F. Allison, Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. McDougal', Mrs. Charles Pickard, Mrs. Ryan, Miss Black, Miss McLeod, Miss Thomas, Miss Cook, Miss Ethel Ogder, Miss Keith, Miss Stewart, Miss Roberts, Miss Emma Trueman and the Misses Cogswell. Those unable to accept were Mrs. Carruthers, Mrs. H. A. Powell, Miss Wood, Miss Pickard, Miss Lathern, Miss Webster. The hostess was assisted by Mr. Hunton's niece, Miss Planchette and two young ladies from the college to say nothing of the help afforded by little Miss Edith Aunton and Master Jimmie. It was rather a cold and disagreeable day which made the contrast all the stronger as one stepped into the warm rooms where the rad shaded lamp lent a soft glow to the tastetully | arranged flowers and the pretty winter | costumes of the ladies. Friday evening the great social event of the season, the Seniors at home, took place. The class of '98 is a large one and has enrolled the names of Miss Annie Sprague, Miss Margaret Graham, Miss Louise Paisley, and Messrs. H. A. Allisor, G. G. Avard, A. M. Bigney, D. F. Ghowen, H. Glegg, W

F. Hale, M. Hale, F. A. Bart. Chas. H. Johnson, G. R. Johnson, H. H. Mc-Neill, H. H. Parlee, B. J. Porter, W. Pugsley, H.

Something like one thousand invitations were issued and included people in St. John, Halifax, Truro, Monccon, Amherst and many smaller places along the line. All the students were of course present from the three institutions and Upper, Middle and Lower Sacchville were well represented, about seven hundred guests in all. There were not perhaps quite so many strangers or old students as usual but the building was well filled. For days past dressmakers had been busy preparing pretty toilettes and wherever you saw two or three ladies with cheir heads together, it was safe to conclude the topic was." what am I going to wear."

The hosts had been equally occupied with most excellent results. The decorations which were arranged entirely by the class were most effective. The main staircase was festconed with red and white bunting, the class colors, and arched with evergreen. At the head of the stairs in a bank of green were the figures '97 in red and white electric light globes, which cast a brilliant light over all. The halls were draped with flags and at least six parlors were in festive array for the numerous guests. The cards announced the affair would begin at 6.30 and very promptly at that hour most of the guests arrived. Ample dressing rooms were provided the only drawback being, that, in one or two cases the mirrors were hung at a height con-Venient for a giraffe and the ladies who were not tall had to stand on a chair to give that last fascinating touch to their bangs. Out of the nineteen Miss Annie Sprague and Mr. Harry Allison were selected as host and hostess and very well they filled a some what trying position. They received in the parior to the right; Mr. Fred Hart standing near by to hand each one a programme, after the handshaking was over. The programmes were attractive little book lets, tied with the class colors and containing pictures of Dr. Allisor, the Centennial hall and the residence and also the music to be given in the Eurifetorian | hall which was soon crowded with guests anxious to hear the opening number, a composition of Prof. Chisholm's for the school orchestra. Hardly I had the beautiful dreamy strains ceased when the Moncton orchestra under the leadership of Mr. Watts began to play. The orchestra was situated under the stairs where it could be heard to great advantage all ever the building and firmished | months nursing of her son. at intervals most bewitching music. Their rendering of one piece an intermezzo from "Cavaleria Rusticana'' is deserving of special mention. The platform in the Eurhetorian hall was prettily decorated with green and pictures which made a good tackground for the fair performers. Miss Jeeves kindly gave "A Summer Night" by Ger-

ing Thomas, a great savorite with the musi. J. F. Allison's Monday evening. A number from cal. Her voice, while not powerful is sweet and highly cultivated, some of her lower notes being particularly well taker. Miss Jean Bruce favored the audience with one of her always popular viclin solos and Miss Butcher received a warm recall for her humorous recitation. The young ladies glee club were down for "In Old Madrid" but I did not have the pleasure of hearing it. All who could flocked in while these pieces were rendered and though I believe in the liberty of the press I found the crowd too much, and came to the conclusion that the class mette, "Paraspera, ad astre," which was |seen in green letters at the landing, must refer to the difficulty in gaining a seat to hear the star performers; it was truly " through difficulties to the stars." A very pleasant position was in the upper hall where chairs were placed about the railing and you could look down on the kaliedoscope scene, watch the promenaders, that ever and anon sureed up and down the stairs and see and hear everything. Some of the remarks were amusing. A man was heard saying to his wife "Now keep your eye on Mamie" but unless her eye was like a revelving search light it is safe to say she did nothing of the sort. It was a great pleasure to see low the young folks erjoyed themselves, some walking al the time, others occupying the many snug corners where the light was inot so brilliant. The arrangements for supper were very conducive to comfort it being served in the diring room frem eight to ten. Thus every one got a seat and a chance to enjoy the good fare which consisted of brown and white bread and butter, turkey salad, chocolate and vanilla ice cresm, cake and coffee. The guests were served by deft waitresses but many of the young men looked after their friends themselves. There were many pretty and handsome toilettes, but it is manifestly impossible to mention all even if I had seen each individual. The young ladies of the college were visions of loveliness, nearly all being in white airy diesses with masses of natural flowers; here and there you saw a pale pink or blue gown which len just sufficient color to the scene. Probably the most choice costume worn was that of Miss Howland, Lady Tiliey's niece. It was a plainly made red silk that fit like a glove, the square cut corsage trimmed with otter fur bands and silver lace. As the young lady possesses a queenly carriage and beautiful neck and arms, he" appearance was striking.

The dress of Miss Sprague, the hostess, was extremely dainty and pre ty. It was a sheer, flowered organdie, trimmed with narrow ruffles edged with green velvet ribbon, and she carried a large bouquet of red and white carnations.

Miss Paialey the other lady receiver who was present, wore a becoming gown of white china sik with a bunch of red roses.

Mr. Johnson, Mr. Fullerton, Miss Thompson, Miss Faulaner, Miss Davison, Miss Troop, Mr. Walter Black, Messrs. Duglas and Jardine of class '97, Miss J. blair.

This is considered one of the most agreeatle "at homes" given; the frequent remark is "what a good time we had Friday evening" and it has been truly said that the music alone was well worth going to hear.

The funeral of the late James P. Daniels took place on Saturday afternoon and was largely attend ed. The pall bearers were Messrs. Teed. Henderson, Colpits, Fraser, Mowbray, and Chandler. A service was held in St. Paul's church of which Mr. Daniels was a faithful member and the remains were interred in Capt. McHaffey's lot in the Rural cemetery. The death of this young man was a on Thursday afternoon and evening and the third blies, and the seats reserved for the wedding guests particularly sad one. He had only reached his majority a few days before. He was an exemplary citizen and dutiful son to a widowed mother, to whom everyone extends utmost sympathy. The young men with whom Mr. Daniel's was a great favorite sent a handsome white wreath and other friends sent in flowers. It is strange that in the Sackville's curlers encounter with the Thistles it should be the Thistles that feel pricked. Saturday evening there was a lively scene when the curlers were playing one of the "medal" games. The rinks are narrowing down fast. So the interest was intense. The Fete of Flora the Goddess of Flowers, the gorgeous specticular en est sinmant, given in the St. Croix Hall on Friday evening, was the most brilliart and at rastive entert simert, ever given in Calais, and was greeted by a large and fashionable audience, who had assembled to see their sons and daughters, who were to participate in the many beautiful and intricate figures of the various dances At eight o'clock the entrancing streams of orchertral music, was heard, the cultain arose, and disclosed to the view of the delighted audience, the stage, magnificent with its feet sons of thousands of roses, and the soft light of hundreds of coloured electric bulbs. The scene was a brilliant one, and in aninstant called fort a spont neous applause. Then came the Queen of Flora, Mrs. Frederic T. Pete, whose beauty, carriage and manner so well su ted the part, She was robed in pink, profusely decorated with dismonds, and wore a tiara of diamonds on her head. She was at ended by two pages. Masters Fred and Kenneth Young. Courtiers and ladies in waiting, whose brilliancy of raiment was artistic and dazzling. Then came the floral offering of huge bouquets of roses to the Queen, which was a lively sight, afterwards the scene terminated in a most attractive dance full of graceful and intricate figures and movement . A song entitled "Pretty L tile Dais," by Mis Helen Phelan, a sweet little maiden of four summers, was a happy effort and delighted the audience. Then came the dance "La Violette" by ten little boys and girls, and directly after the intricate figures "Bouquets" by twelve young ladies all beautiful'y gowned in various colors. The Butterfly Ballet with Miss Queenie Neill as Premier Danseuse, Iwas greatly admired. "La Danza Espanola" with Misses Hughes and Whilden as Premier Dancers was most graceful and pleasing. After a short intermission "Mother Carey's Sun flowers" with Master Neill Cole as Mother Carey, and Master Walter Nichols as Mr. Tabor was a pleasing diversion. The songs from Jack and the Bean Stalk bethe Mist" then appeared followed by the 'March of the Amazons and Hussars." The Viennese Ballet with the Misses Queenie Neil! in a white tulle gown adorned with pink roses, Bessie Foster in white tulle and yellow roses, Christine Whidden in white, and red roses was admirably danced. The grand tableaux with its innumerable pretty girls with their huge hoops of roses of varied colors forming a distinct frame for each charming, girlish face, was a happy termination of this delightful entertainment. On Saturday a grand matinee was given which was also largely attended. This brilliant entertainment was entirely a local affair, and was under the management of Mrs. W. H.
