MAY 11.—This has been a week of musical entertainments and nothing else apparently. Friday evening the benefit concert for Mr. Crossman was given in Beethoven hall by the pupils of Miss Sara Jeeves. The programme was a very good one and well carried out. The four choruses were particularly pleasing, the strong alto being noticeable. Mr. Brander the only gentleman taking part, gave an air and recitative from Handel's Messiah. Mr. Brander has a pleasant quality of voice with good base tones but the selection was entirely too heavy for him. In the Bedouin love song he appeared to much better advantage. The two songs by Miss M. Nicol and Miss D. Smith were tuneful and showed good voice management. There was a skilfully played violin obligato for each song by Miss Webb. One of the most attractive selections was the sacred duet between Miss Moore and F. Smith with organ obligato by Miss Wall. The harmony was beautiful. Miss Stewart looking very sprightly in her pretty green and white organdie sang a solo from Mozart's first Mass very acceptably. Miss F. Smith's aria was a distinctly good piece of work and indicates a promising singer. The duets by Miss M. Nicol and by Miss Stewart and Miss Hart were also up to the standard. Unquestionably the most finished numbers were those furnished by Miss Alice Hart, Miss Wright and Miss Moore. The excellent vocalization in each solo was marked. Miss Hart has a very high, sweet voice and gave her aria from Semiramide in the original Italian, with great delicacy. Miss Wright displayed a good deal of artistic interpretation in her selections from Grieg and Dvorak. In the swaying waltz song by Miss Moore that versatile songstress managed the "shake" as is not often done by a youthful amateur. The proceeds of this concert which were about $50 are to be devoted to helping a musical genius struggling with untoward circumstances. The audience might have been larger but the busy season with so many entertainments coming few have leisure to attend every thing.

Saturday afternoon a recital by the advanced pupils of Miss Susan Cogswell was given at her house. The performers were Miss Francis Harris, Miss May Wells, Miss Helena Estabrooks, Miss Cole, Miss Mundy and Miss Bessie Carter. The selections were from Schumann, Schubert, Mendelssohn and other standard composers and all the young ladies acquitted themselves with great credit. The programme was enhanced by an acceptable reading from Grace Fawcett on a musical theme. There was a small audience consisting of the pupils parents and near friends.

[Saturday evening a harbinger of the closing exercises was the graduating recital of Miss S. A. Borden piano pupil of Mr. Wootton director of Mt. Allison conservatory. The young lady who is a daughter of Mr. R. A. Borden, Moncton, looked very charming as she stepped on the flower decked platform. She wore a stylishly made soft white silk, the skirt trimmed with three narrow ruffles. The bodice was decorated with shirred white chiffon and had a bunch of pink roses pinned lightly at one side. With her fair wavy hair and bare white arms she made a very pretty picture as she sat with easy gracefulness at the Steinway grand. The programme which was a heavy one was carried out in a manner that did infinite credit to the player and her teachers. It was hard to say in which Miss Borden appeared to the best advantage; in her brilliant execution of the Liszt concerto or her exquisite tone coloring in the Dvorak suite. Her rendition of the concerto has been much admired but the suite had that nameless quality that makes certain music linger long in the memory. The first number a Beethoven sonata (appassionato) was an unwisely ponderous selection, the intellectual interpretation of which must perforce be beyond so youthful a player it being one of the pieces given by virtuosos pianists. Miss Borden played it extremely well as far as execution was concerned but she could have given better satisfaction to her audience at least in something else. Miss Moore, also a prettily attired in white assisted the player with two well rendered songs by Gounod and like Miss Borden received a well merited round of applause.

Sunday evening the congregation of St. Paul's church had the unusual pleasure of a fine solo during the offertory. Miss Constance Chandler, who was the guest of her cousin Mrs. J. F. Allison kindly gave "O rest in the Lord" from Mendelssohn's Elijah in a very fine manner. Her beautiful full round, tones were much admired. This is the first time Miss Chandler has sung publicly in Sackville and it is very much hoped she will do so again soon.

Monday evening there was a very fine concert in the music hall under the direction of Prof. Chisholm. There was a good house and the programme though it contained many numbers from the best composers was yet of that musical music that is immensely popular and appeals at once to the heart. The performers consisted chiefly of the Methodist choir, the college glee club, the conservatory choral class and Prof. Chisholm's orchestra. The two well known choruses, Handel's Hallelujah and Mozart's Gloria were given with sixty voices, the orchestra, organ and piano. The effect was grand. The choruses by the glee club were also much to be admired especially "Tis Morn." The violin class gave three numbers, one of which, a charming composition by Mr. Chisholm was played by request. The duet by Miss D. Webb and Miss S. Webb on their violins was especially attractive. The quartette by Messrs. Dobson, Fulton, Crossman and Donell was good but a bit too high for their voices. The remaining numbers, piano solo by Miss Archibald, song by Miss Smith and violin solo by Miss Benedict were all up to a high standard. The accompanists were Miss F. Webb, Miss Sherman, Miss Borden and Miss Wall. The direction and instrumentation throughout were by Prof. Chisholm who with marked ability has carried through this concert successfully after only four or five rehearsals. It is the popular wish that Mr. Chisholm may continue the choral work he has so well begun and give to a hungry public the music they have long waited for unsatisfied.

Mr. Murray that bright particular star in the Sackville musical world is to sing at the hospital benefit concert in Moncton, Friday.

Probably all are aware of the death of Dr. Maria L. Angwin but many of her old friends here may not know the main facts of her career since she graduated from Mt. Allison twenty years ago. She might be called the pioneer woman physician in this part of the world and completed her medical studies in the face of the most bitter opposition. After taking an honorable degree in New York she remained there a year in hospital work and subsequently spent another year in England at the London medical college. She settled in Halifax where she gradually worked into a comfortable practice. Even as a young school girl she was noted for her great strength of character and advanced thought being really some thirty years ahead of her times and not therefore always understood. In Halifax her name has long been identified with all the leading charitable works and her sudden death will long be mourned by the poor to whom she showed unceasing kindness. Dr. Angwin was essentially one who "did good by stealth and blushed to find it fame."

Prof. Andrew's geology class had a pleasant excursion to the Jorgins Saturday. Miss Jeeves and several students of the ladies college were of the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stoddard of Tiddish were in Sackville Monday.

Dr. Inch was the guest of Mrs. Hutton last week.

C. Pichard has been on a short trip to St. John. R. A. Borden was in town over Sunday.

Leonard Crane passed through Sackville from Bayfield Monday.

Mr. Sprague one of the teachers of the academy, twisted his ankle badly while playing base ball Saturday. He has been attending his classes since with the aid of two crutches. This is the second base ball victim to be recorded within a week but this is nothing to foot ball which slays its tens of thousands—more or less.

It is rumored that N. F. Davin, the brilliant orator, may speak at the Mt. Allison closing exercises.

Miss Sprague leads the large class of '98 and delivers the valedictory at the university closing.

Miss Sprague has been not only a generally clever student, but has completed the full mathematical honor course, something which has not been done before at Mt. Allison by a lady.
