

DO YOU BROOD?

Melancholia is a Grave Disease and Leads to Insanity.

A Broken Down Nervous System is the Cause of Trouble.

Paine's Celery Compound Nature's Nerve Bracer and Health Restorer.

Do you brood from day to day and make life a continued misery for yourself and family? If you are a victim of melancholia, understand at once you are suffering from a terribly grave disease—a trouble that induces suicide and homicide.

One of the most celebrated physicians of the day says that there are several forms of melancholia: simple melancholia, melancholia agitata, melancholia attonita, and melancholia with stupor. The first two are the most difficult of recognition, and are the forms that especially endanger the lives of victims and their friends.

Some of the first and most important symptoms of melancholia are sleeplessness, depression of spirits, slow mental movements, terrifying hallucinations and aversion to food. The whole nervous system is soon in a most alarming condition, the mind becomes affected, and even insanity may show its hideous form.

Experience has proved that the ordinary medical treatment of melancholia fails in nine cases out of every ten, simply because the root of the disease is not reached.

Hundreds of cases of melancholia in all stages that have baffled the best medical men have been successfully cured by nature's nerve medicine—Paine's Celery Compound. This marvellous medical prescription does its work directly on the nerves. It tones, strengthens and braces up the entire nervous organization, and, as a consequence, the tissues and muscles are built up, and pure life-giving blood is freely supplied to every part of the body.

Reader, this should be an all-important subject to you if you are sleepless, despondent, languid, out-of-sorts, depressed in mind and mental faculties impaired. Your path of duty is clear. Terrible dangers are ahead if you fail to banish the first symptoms. Your present and future happiness and health depend wholly upon your choice of medicine. The use of Paine's Celery Compound at this time needs new life, health, vigor, activity, full mental powers and a length of happy years.

CAUGHT BY THE CAMERA.

Criminals Often Brought to Justice by Accidental Photography.

By both accident and intention, on numerous occasions, the art of the photographer has proved of immense utility in compassing the conviction of criminals. An amateur photographer in Chicago city cunningly concealed an automatic camera in the tapestried wall of his drawing-room, for the purpose of securing some reliable evidence as to the behavior of certain members of his household during his absence from home. One moonlight night a burglar broke into the house by way of the apartment mentioned. In so doing he disturbed the spring which set the hidden machine in motion, and left an excellent photo of himself upon the faithful camera, which, when produced in court, secured his speedy conviction.

In another instance, a man who murdered his mother was arrested by the operation of the omniscient camera. The dreadful deed was committed in a forest where a student of photography was at work. A particularly pretty girl was so admired by the artist that he took three copies of the scene. One of these, when duly developed and enlarged, portrayed the details of the terrible tragedy, and by its aid the culprit was brought to justice.

During the jubilee celebration a well known photographer in London took a number of street scenes of historic interest. In one of these pictures, where a vast concourse of people were assembled near St. Paul's Cathedral, the camera revealed a pickpocket in the very act of plying her peculiar profession. An old detective, who afterwards inspected the photograph, said that he knew the man well. He was badly "wanted" for frauds committed on the continent, but the officers were not aware that he was in London. A week later he was arrested.

A snap-shot at a summer crowd on the sands at Margate came out so clearly that the knights of the camera showed it with satisfaction to a number of his friends. Among these was a Scotland Yard officer, who discovered among the mass of faces, the familiar features of a man whom he had been hunting for months. Taking the next train to Margate he hunted the beaches until he sighted the fugitive and effected his arrest.

A Portsmouth photographer paid a professional visit to a large garden party at Southsea where he took a group of fashionable visitors with salient success. During the process of development he observed that in the holly hedge behind the group a rather repulsive human face appeared. A fortnight later a lady purchaser of one of these photographs made the same singular discovery, and averred that the face resembled that of a man who had made a futile attempt to rob their house a few weeks prior to the party. The matter being mentioned to the police the district was scoured, and the man—who was an old criminal—was arrested and imprisoned.

An Irish housebreaker in Belfast, evidently ignorant concerning the character of the camera, found his way one night into a photographer's studio, on burglarious thoughts intent, when a large photographic apparatus attracted his attention. More by accident than design the camera had been left ready for use, and the artless manipulation of the machinery, by the curious thief, actually produced a picture of himself, which was afterward employed to bring about his conviction.—Tid-Bits.

IT'S EASY TO DYE

Home Dyeing With Diamond Dyes is Pleasant and Profitable.

Beautiful and Brilliant Colors That Will Not Fade—Diamond Dyes Have Special Colors for Cotton and Mixed Goods—How Wise Women Economize in Hard Times—A Ten Cent Package of Diamond Dyes Often Saves Ten Dollars.

In these times of enforced economy it should be a pleasure to any woman to learn how she can save the cost of a new gown for herself or a suit for the little one, or how she can make her husband's faded clothing look like new. Diamond Dyes, which are prepared especially for home use, will do all this. They are so simple and easy to use that even a child can get bright and lovely colors by following the directions on each package.

There is no need of soiling the hands with Diamond Dyes; just lift and stir the goods with two sticks while in the dye bath, and one will not get any stains or spots.

In coloring dresses, jackets, coats, and all large articles, to get a full and satisfactory color it is absolutely necessary to have a special dye for Cotton and all Mixed Goods, and a different one for all Wool Goods. This is done in Diamond Dyes, and before buying dyes one should know whether the article to be colored is all wool or mixed or union goods, and get the proper dye. Do not buy dyes that claim to color everything with the same package, for their use will result in failure. The Diamond Dyes alone can do your work successfully; they are the only guaranteed dyes.

Annoying.

It was so evident that she was angry or disappointed that her dearest friend was able to force her to confess and explain.

"George teased me for just one little kiss for nearly two hours this afternoon," she said at last.

"Well, why didn't you let him have it?" "I did."

"Then what's the matter now?" "I finely told him he could have just one little bit of a one, you know."

"Yes. We always make that stipulation."

"And that was all he took."

"What a cowardly fellow!"

Catarrh of Long Standing Relieved in a Few Hours.

It is not alone the people of our own country, and prominent citizens like Urban Lippe, M. P., of Joliette, Que., and other members of Parliament, who, having used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, pronounce it the most effective remedy they have ever known, but people everywhere are expressing their gratification at the effectiveness of this medicine. C. G. Archer, of Brewer, Maine, says: "I have had catarrh for several years. Water would run from my eyes and nose days at a time. About four months ago I was induced to try Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and since using the wonderful remedy I have not had an attack. I would not be without it." It relieves in ten minutes.

They are Content.

It is not a little significant that the most highly placed of all English clergymen, a marquis, earl, viscount, and baron, should have been content to work as a curate and vicar for more than twenty years, for an income which never exceeded £20 a year. The Marquess of Normandy has never sought preferment, and even his promotion to a Windsor canonry gave him little pleasure. His lordship is a man of simple and charming manners whose heart is in the Church. If not an eloquent, he is at least a convincing preacher, and has done his best and happiest work in mission halls. He is a bachelor, lord of 6,000 acres, and has a magnificent seat in Mulgrave Castle, which he has converted into a school for boys.

THE STRAIGHT-HAIRED GIRL.

Advice to the Young Man Who is Said to be Inclined Towards Matrimony.

Some one of the oracles whose mission is to advise young women how to select a husband, and to warn young men against feminine wiles, has recently set up a new guide post for masculine warfarers on the road to matrimony.

"Marry a girl with straight hair," says the oracle. "The chances are that her ways are as straight as her looks while the heart of the curly headed girl is as full of twists and quirks as her hair."

The theory is expounded at some length. If all men will but be guided by this sibylline voice, the day of the straight-haired girl is close at hand. She needs compensation. For years she has fought an unequal fight against her sister of the curly locks, and her temper has been worn threadbare, all on account of her hair. What chance has a straight-haired girl on a windy day. Her hair is straggling in frantic wisps over her collar and her ears. She looks untidy, disreputable; and all the time the curly-haired girl is becoming more and more bewitching. Her stray locks curl and flutter fluffily round her face, and she smiles in serene consciousness that the wind is quite powerless against her. When rainy days come the straight-haired girl sighs dolefully, and looks limp and dejected, in spite of swell clothes. Hot days have the same depressing effect upon her hair and spirits. Sea bathing has no charms for her. Even golf can't be to her what it is to the champion with curly hair. But, if straight hair is to be a certificate of eligibility for matrimony, there will be balm for all these wounds.

It is stated that about 20,000 letters are addressed yearly to the Queen from her subjects.

FLASHES OF FUN.

Mr. Jay: "Was it a quiet wedding?" Mrs. Jay: "Of course; you didn't expect they would quarrel before the clergyman, did you?"

Doctor: "You're a long time paying my account, sir." Hardup: "Well, you were a long time curing me."

Dodo: "Now tell me, what do people think of me?"

Penguin: "And make you my enemy for life? Not much!"

"What a sanguine man Cooper is!" Sanguine: "—"

"He advertised for a middle-aged typewriter girl and expected to get applications."

Daisy: "She has such a pretty foot. I don't know where you would find anything smaller, do you?"

Francis: "Yes, the shoes she wears."

Wilkins: "I thought you said you would not let your wife ride a bicycle?"

Wedwon: "So I did, but, unfortunately, she happened to hear about it."

Mrs. Newed: "Was I nervous, dear, during the ceremony?"

Her Friend: "Well, a trifle at first darling, but not after William had said 'yes.'"

Bacon: "My partner and myself want a wooden partition across the shop."

Builder: "Well, I think if you put your heads together you can accomplish it."

Editor's wife: "Poor baby's circulation is very bad, John."

Editor (absent minded): "Strange! He advertises himself well, too!"

George: "I just saw you coming from the conservatory with Miss Goldie. Rather handsome girl, but to reserved for me."

Thomas: "Yes. I've just reserved her for life."

May is said to be an unlucky marrying month. A cynic adds: "The other unlucky months—June, July, August, September, October, November, December, January, February, March, and April."

The Old Gentleman was reading his history aloud: "The Prince of Wales in 1750."

The Old Lady: "The Prince of Wales in 1750! Goodness I didn't know he was such an old man as that!"

Mr. Courtlong: "I haven't got a single portrait of you, darling."

Miss Ina Hurry: "No, dear; but you can have a married portrait of me as soon as ever you like."

Emily: "I am so unhappy. I begin to see that Arthur married me for my money."

Her dearest friend: "Well, you have the comfort of knowing that he is not so simple as he looks."

Friske is the laziest man I ever knew."

"What makes you think so?"

"He actually seems to be glad that he's getting bald-headed, so that he won't have to comb his hair any more."

"That," observed a friend of the family, "is a very superior woman. She can converse intelligently, I believe, on a thousand different topics."

"Yes," sighed her husband—"and she does."

Edith: "He told me I was so interesting and so beautiful."

Julia: "And you will trust yourself for life with a man who begins deceiving you even at the commencement of his courtship!"

Uncle: "Bobby, I suppose you've been a good little boy?"

Bobby: "No I haven't."

Uncle: "Why I hope you haven't been very bad?"

Bobby: "Ob, no; just comfortable."

Walker: "They say that Napoleon was so self possessed that not even the sound of a pistol fired close to his ear would not make him start."

Wheeler: "He wouldn't have stood much show in a bicycle race."

Lord Stonybroke: "It's time, Clarence, that you were thinking about a career."

Dutiful son: "I will be guided by you father. Shall I go into the Church, study for the Bar, enter the army, or marry an heiress?"

Magistrate: "The assault you have committed on your poor young wife is a most brutal one. Do you know of any reason why I should not send you to prison?"

Prisoner: "If you do your honor, it will break up our honeymoon."

Askem: "Where's the rich heiress your engaged to?"

Tellum: "You see that lovely girl in pink at the other side of the room?"

Askem: "Yes; I say, old man, what a superb—"

Tellum: "Well, it isn't she. It's that grand old ruin in yellow sitting next her."

First Customer (after looking at the bill of fare): "It have roast sucking-pig, smashed potatoes, and cauliflower."

Second Customer: "Give me toad-in-the-hole, scarlet runners, and turnips."

Third Customer: "Cold beef, without horse-radish, cabbage, and a glass of porter."

Waiter: "Yessir."

Glides to speaking-tube and yells breathlessly, "One pig smashed colly toad scarlet turnips cold beef (without horse) cab and porter."

Fourth Customer (facetiously): "Waitah! bring me a dog-biscuit and a bit of celery."

Fifth Customer: "Call's head without brain sauce."

Waiter: "Yessir."

Shouts down speaking-tube, "Biscuit for puppy with small salary and call's head without brains."

EXPRESS MY FEELINGS!

A Minister was recently trying to make a telephone connection. The sweet telephone girl at the exchange was probably exchanging confidence with her Sweetheart. The minister "hello'd" several times, but got no answer. He was in a hurry, and the inattention put him out. A lay friend came behind him. He turned to the latter. "My dear fellow," he said with a look of mingled wrath and misery, "would you kindly express my feelings?" Ladies never use strong language, but if anything would tempt them it would be the mangy appearance of their dress or jacket after using any other dyes but TURKISH upon them. The ladies of Canada use the TURKISH DYES. They now appreciate their worth. TURKISH DYES will never wash out. No other dyes will stand a soap and water test. The TURKISH DYES invite it, soap only brings out their lustre. Every color (72) has its own beauty. Every color is perfect. No ill tempers when you use TURKISH DYES. No spoiled garments. Try them and see how you can augment your wardrobe with beautiful garments which ordinarily would have been thrown aside.
