WHAT EXPERT SHOTS CAN DO.

Extraordinary Feats of Markmanship Performed with the Rifls and Pistol.

A very great deal of attention has been paid of recent years to exhibition revolver and rifle shoeting, and the favor with which really experts shots meet has greatly increased the numbers of extraordinary teats which can now be performed with

Colonel Cody, the famous American scout, better known as "Buffalo Bi l," was one of the finest shots ever seen in this country, although exhibition marksmansh'p has greatly improved since Coonel Cody last visited England. One of his most wonderful feats was not generally performed in public for the reason that its failure or success could not be discerned at any great distance. It consisted in driving into a white board five short. flat-headed acks with five successive shots, from a distance just short enough to allow of the tacks to be accurately sighted. So great was Colonel's Cody's skill with the light rifle he used for this feat, that given ta vorable light he could generally perform it six or seven times without a miss. Not only was Colonel Cody's aim marvellously accurate but it was extraordinarily quick. Given a repeater, he would stane or sit his famous white horse and break five clay 'pigcons' sent up simultaneously before they had time to get more than a couple of feet on the fall course.

But M. Bordeverry, a frenchman, who recently came to this country to show us what a rifle could be made to do, would probably give Colonel Cody points and an easy beating. His accuracy and rapidity of aim are simply astonishing. At a distance of 30ft. he can cut a piece of car board through the edge, as it is poised upon the head of an assistant. At a similiar distance, leaning himself flat on his back over the seat of a chair, with a pistol in his hand, he can send spinning a threepenny-piece which rests half hidden, upon his assistant's head. He will knock the ash off your eigar at a distance of 30ft, or light your wax-vesta for you, if you care to hold it. At ten yards he can cut a swinging thread, and at the same distance with three successive shots he will pick off three small trifles balanced one upon the other upon the head of his assistant. And to demonstrate his rapid sight, he will hit eleven distinct bull's-eyes in seven seconds. Revolver shooting is generally considered to be infinitely more difficult than rifle-firing, and there are certainly fewer expert revolver than rifle shots. But among the most wonderful wielders of the 'shooting-iron' is an American gentleman, a Mr. Stephens, with whom, however, the fascinating practice is only a pastime. A very effective feat Mr. Stephens performs pr vately consists of standing six ligated candles upon a bench, retreating about 40fr., and putting out one candle after another with the contents of his sixchambered revolver. On one occasion the same gentleman, standing under a cherry tree with a revolver in each hand, cut the stones out of eight cherries in eleven seconds. Of the two unsuccessful shots fired, one only grazed the cherry it was aimed at and the other was lost in mystery. But the feat was a very wonderful one, especially for an amateur shot. Bull's-eve writing is common among crack shots. Annie Oakely, whom Colonel Cody brought with him to England, was exceptionally clever at it. She would stand a few paces from a target and perforate the outer rim with shot so neatly that her name would appear quite distinctly designed by a series of

On one occasion when Annie Oakley was practising at a target she sent a shot right through the hole she had thus made. Shouldering her rifl; she fired four shots with great deliberation, and it was found that three of these must have actually passed through the hole, slightly enlarging it, and the fourth bad gone the eighth of an inch off the ma k. Five successive shots hitting within an area of half a square inch of the bull's-eye was certainly a very
