Nov 16.—Mr. Oliver Jones, whose life has hung by a very slender thread for the past two weeks passed peacefully away at 5.30 Wednesday morning, and the news while being heard with general regret, will occasion little surprise. Mr. Jones suffered a severe stroke of paralysis on October 28th which it was feared would have been one termination, and only his remarkable constitution and vitality has kept him alive for the last two weeks. Previous to his last illness he had enjoyed the best of health and he felt particularly well the last six months. On the day he was stricken with paralysis he was around as usual, taking a walk down town and being out for a drive. For the last forty-eight hours previous to his death Mr. Jones lay in an unconscious state but previously he had brief periods of consciousness and recognized and conversed with old friends who visited him.

A Plain Talk

TO SUFFERING WOMEN

And Suggestions for Acquiring Health and Beauty by the Use of

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Almost all the suffering that women endure can be traced to irregularities of the delicate and sensitive feminine organism, which is intimately connected with every part of the system. If the monthly flow is not perfectly healthy it shows itself by pains and aches in the limbs and back, distressing, bearing down feelings, headaches and tired despondent feelings.

A healthy woman is never irregular. She escapes the suffering at the monthly periods, and is not exhausted by the natural action. The symptoms mentioned above, and which so many women endure, tell of exhausted nerves. When the nerves are weak the whole system suffers the strain of the monthly action which should be easy and natural. Set the nerves right, and the pains and aches will disappear. There will be no more irregularities when the whole body is under the control of healthy nerves.

The most successful restorative that science has ever devised for exhausted nerves is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it has proven so wonderfully beneficial to women that it is now considered specific for ailments peculiar to women.

Besides restoring and vitalizing the nerves, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food makes new, red corpuscles in the blood. With the blood thus pure and rich, women scarcely notice the effect of the monthly action which is at other times so weakening.

Under this treatment the form rounds out, pale cheeks become plump and rosy, and there is new vitality and elasticity in every movement. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food 50 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Mothers can save their little ones from croup, bronchitis, coughs, and colds by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle. Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure, 25 cents a box, blower free.

H. Thorne & Co., hardware merchants, St. John, was in town last week calling upon his customers.

Capt Harry Stinson, Mrs. Stinson, and Miss J. Stinson have gone to Lynn to spend the winter.

The Life Ways.

Take counsel, heart! A thousand thorny ways
Cry unto you for respite. The white rose
Of love may wither in the wintry days,
Bitter thought—God knows.

A thousand duties make their meek demands,
Fearing to cry too loud to you. Oh, sweet,
Pale, famished lips have kisses for your hands—
Hearts at your touch will beat!

If God by God, then in your life's sk plain
As the sure stars faith finds in heavens above.
"Thy upon the beggar's brow to raise
The riches of God's love."

And if no God by God, still is earth
A field where red thorns in the roses gleam.
Stray you tend it, dear, to make it worth
The heaven of your dream.

And I? It will not matter if I go
With empty hands unto my rest, unshaven.
Thankful at last that I have loved you so,
I shud that love with heaven!

—Frank L. Stanton.

On An Old Battle Ground.
Valley and farmland meet the west,
Purple and gold and green;
Orchard and vineyard, song and rest,
Where their old world wars have been.

Over the gleamers lightly sing
The lark to the falling sun,
Over that grave of far off things
And old wars lost and won.

And over the hills where long ago
Strange old world warriors met,
How sweet the purple vineyard grow,
How well the fields forget!

—Arthur J. Stringer in Ainslee's Magazine.

THINGS OF VALUE.

Hicks—There is one thing you can say with truth about Pinchker. He always keeps his word.

Wicks—And anything else he gets hold of.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for the ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of man's curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in a sound unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its grateful and judicious use, the feeblest system are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those whose chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquillizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the animal function of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman of Toronto, have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, graced by the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

The Baby—Goo, goo, oo, oo!

Mother—Just hear, that child talk! What must people think of him?

Father (very modestly)—Perhaps he sees a pedantic to others.

Very many persons die annually from cholera and kindred summer complaints, who might have been saved if proper remedies had been used. If attacked do not delay in getting a bottle of Dr. J. D. Colquhoun's Cholera Remedy. It is a medicine that never fails to effect a cure. Those who have used it say it acts promptly, and thoroughly, subdues the pain and disease.

'How did you make out with that effort to break your uncle's will?'
"Fine! After it was all settled up and the lawyers had the estate I didn't owe them a cent."

Still Another Triumph—Mr. Thomas S. Bullen, Sunderland, writes: "For fourteen years I was afflicted with Piles; and frequently I was unable to walk or sit, but four years ago I was cured by using Dr. Thomas' Eucalypto Oil. I have also been subjected to Quinsy for over forty years but Eucalypto Oil cured it, and it was a permanent cure in both cases, as neither the piles nor Quinsy have troubled me since."

'There is only one story that can always bring tears to my eyes.'
'What's that?'
'The story I was just getting ready to tell myself.'

'Sure Regulators.'—Mandrake and Dandelion are known to exert a powerful influence on the liver and kidneys, restoring them to healthy action, inducing a regular flow of the secretions and imparting to the organs complete power to perform their functions. These valuable ingredients enter into the composition of Farmacia's Vegetable Pills, and serve to render them the agreeable and salutary medicine they are. There are few pills so effective as they in their action.

'The war department is buying balloons.'
'What do they cost?'
'I think they get 'em for ascent.'

'They Wake The Torpid Energies.'—Machinery not properly supervised and left to run itself, very soon shows fault in its working. It is the same with the digestive organs. Unregulated from time to time they are likely to become torpid and throw the whole system out of gear. Farmacia's Vegetable Pills were made to meet such cases. They restore to the full the flagging faculties, and bring it to order all parts of the mechanism.

Good-Bye.
We say for an hour, perhaps for years;
We say it smiling, say it with a kiss;
We say it coldly, say it with a kiss,
And yet we have no other word than this—
Good-bye.

We have no dearer word for our heart's friend,
For him who journeys to the world's far end,
And scars our souls with going; this we say—
As unto him who steps but o'er the way—
Good-bye.

Alike to those we love and those we hate,
We say no more in parting. At its gate,
To him who passes out beyond earth's sight,
We cry as to the wanderer for a night—
Good-bye.

Feeling the Parson.

Clergymen are seldom overpaid, and to most of them the occasional fees bestowed by generous and happy bridegrooms are items of considerable moment. It is easy to sympathize with a certain Yorkshire clergyman who, after pronouncing a couple man and wife, was asked by the groom what the charge was. The parson, according to Spare Moments, told him that there were no fixed charges in such matters, but that he might give what he thought proper.

'Parson,' said the young man, 'I have five greyhound pups at home. I ask a sovereign apiece for them, but I'll let you have one for half a sov.'

The clergyman protested that he could not accept a fee of such a character. It would be quite impossible. The bride and groom went home, and the marriage must have turned out very happily, for before the month was over the parson received a crate containing a fine greyhound pup, accompanied by a note from John, saying that Maria has proved such a treasure that he was glad to give the dog for nothing.

New York Millionaires.

Only a few people reading advertisements of bankers and brokers, saying that money could be made through speculation, realize that the richest men in America have commenced life in a humble way and have made their fortune through stock exchange speculations.

Men like Jay Gould who worked as a dry goods clerk in a small town at $10.00 a week up to his twentieth year, and commenced to operate with his small saving of $200.00 in Wall Street left at his death 70 millions of dollars; Russell Sage who worked as a grocery boy at $4.00 per week and whose present wealth is estimated at 100 millions of dollars is still operating the market, although 80 years of age, and so are thousands of others who are enjoying all the luxuries life can offer, which is due to their success in speculations.

To the shrewd speculator the same opportunities are open to-day as to others in the past. The smallest lot which can be bought and sold is 10 shares on 8% margin, making $8 dollars.

Anybody interested as to how speculations are conducted can get information and market letter free of charge upon application by letter to,
