This month has been almost equal to that of September in the number of its brides. The present week has witnessed several of these interesting events one of the most important of which was that of Miss Ethel Bligh daughter of Mr. Howard Bligh and Mr. Frederick F. Mathers, barrister of the firm of Ross, Mellich & Mathers which took place at the residence of the bride's father on Bland street last Monday morning. The house was handsomely decorated with cut flowers and plants and a large number of invited friends witnessed the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Leo Williams. The bride was attractively gowned in a blue broad cloth tailor gown, and wore a duchess bonnet which was most becoming. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Her sister Miss Maud Bligh attended her and was gowned in a brown dress with Marlboro hat and carried a bouquet of carnations. The groom was attended by Mr. Harry Bailey.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served and later Mr. and Mrs. Mathers left on a wedding trip to Toronto, Boston and New York. On their return they will reside at Elmwood. Another wedding of Monday was that of Mr. John N. Meagher of the P. O. department and Miss Blanche Seals. A large number of friends witnessed the ceremony which took place in St. Patrick's church at the early hour of six o'clock. The bride who was attired in a slate colored travelling gown with bouquet of cream roses was attended by her sister who was gowned in brown with hat to match. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Meagher and their friends enjoyed a wedding breakfast at the residence of the bride's sister. The wedding trip includes a visit to Boston via Yarmouth. Upon their return at the end of a fortnight Mr. and Mrs. Meagher will reside at the corner of Windsor and North streets.

A THIN DISGUISE.

The cuttle fish has a tricky habit of covering his tracks by exuding an inky fluid which discolors the water and keeps him out of view. There's a good deal of the cuttle fish about some advertisements, notably those purporting to offer medical advice by a woman to women. An examination of the advertisement will show that no offer of a doctor's advice is really made. And all the clamor about "writing to a woman" is merely raised to divert attention from the fact that a doctor's advice is not really offered and cannot be given. The real question is not of writing to a woman or a man but of writing to a doctor.

For the advice of an unqualified woman is just as dangerous as the advice of an unqualified man.

Every day adds to the number of women who take advantage of Dr. Pierce's genuine offer of a consultation by letter free of cost. As chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. R. V. Pierce has, in a practice of over thirty years, treated more than half-a-million women for female troubles with the remarkable record of ninety-eight per cent. of cures. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, without fear and without fee. Every letter is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential, and all answers are mailed sealed in plain envelopes without printing of any kind upon them.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes Weak Women Strong and Sick Women Well.

Of the marriage of a couple very well known in this section the Carleton Sentinel says: At Southampton, on Wednesday Sept. 20th, a large number of relatives and friends assembled at the residence of Mr. Amariah Way, to witness the marriage of his eldest daughter, Alma, to LeBaron S. Fox. The bride was attired in a handsome travelling suit of gray cloth, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by Miss Almada Schriver, who was becomingly attired in a grey suit with hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink flowers. The groom was supported by his brother Mr. Edwin Fox, as best man. The bride was given away by her father. As the bridal party entered the spacious parlor, which was tastefully arranged for the occasion, the strains of a well rendered wedding march pealed forth, Miss Beatrice Way, the bride's sister, presiding at the organ. Rev. C. T. Phillips performed the ceremony. After luncheon, which was neatly and artistically spread, Mr. and Mrs. Fox started, amid showers of rice and best wishes, for the station where they took the train for a tour to Boston and other leading cities before arriving at Worcester, their future home.

Miss Ida Nickerson, who has been Mrs. C. F. Beard's guest for a fortnight, left for her home in Somerville, Mass., on Monday night.

An accident which came very nearly ending seriously occurred Saturday in Calais. While Mrs. Frank Lee was driving up Main street, the rein became entangled, causing the horse to commence kicking, after which it started to run away. The carriage, which was a splendid Goddard buggy with rubber tires, was greatly damaged, the top being broken off and the dasher smashed. Mrs. Lee was thrown out, but fortunately escaped with only a few bruises.

Kickers Getting Ready.

When the baseball season's waning And the heroes of the bat Are preparing for their exit, While the roosters sadly chat, It is then the football kickers, Who from public view had slid, Reappear and start their drilling 'For the battles on the 'grid.'

Crops of hair they're cultivating So that craniums won't break; Combs and brushes are discarded, And the barber gets the shake. Padded suits are resurrected And the playing shoes and hose, And there's trying on of car-guards And the ugly rubber nose.

Every town and cross-roads village Gets excited over the game, Each is forming an eleven With the hope of winning fame, There is searching for old players Who are up to all the tricks, And a grab for lucky fellows Who are handy in a mix.

They are practising the passes, Rushes, tackles and the punts, And all other evolutions That are known in football stunts. Teams are working on new signals They alone can understand And they're confident of winning On the systems they have planned.

Yes; the football season's coming, As is plainly now revealed, Careless words—how easy spoken—Some will pass upon the field. Hospitals are getting ready For the calls of'er telephones, And the surgeons are preparing To bind up the broken bones.

Too Late! Too Late!

What sad and fateful words are these: Too late! too late! too late! The bitter words that were our last, The broken vows behind us cast, The chance to do a kindness past, Too late! too late! too late!

What friendships true there might have been: Too late! too late! too late! The trustfulness that once was ours, The sweet delights of happy hours, Have wither'd like last summer's flowers, Too late! too late! too late!

'Tis those who love that suffer most: Too late! too late! too late! Tender hearts are soonest broken, Careless words—how easy spoken—Scars exchanged for Love's sweet token, Too late! too late! too late!

Give flowers and kindness ere they be Too late! too late! too late! While life, and health, and hope are mine, Let friendship, love, and truth entwine, Then dark Remorse will not be thine, Regrets may come too late!
