Last week was in society circles, a rather unsatisfactory one when considered with regard to open air amusements. So many picnics, excursions etc., had to be abandoned owing to the high winds and low temperature. Tennis on Wednesday and Thursday was almost impossible, and as for spectators, the courts were comparatively deserted.

But at golf, things went better, and the "Links" at "Studley" were well patronized. By the way, golf is the game just now, particularly among the ultra-fashionable set. Indeed, we hear of those who are so very keen on this most delightful of sports that the mornings as well as the afternoons are spent there. If you doubt it, you have merely to take a walk or take a tram to Coburg road and see for yourself. The flying golf cloak will be proof positive, and if you will take your stand on a rising piece of ground, the knowledge will soon come to you that many of the fair players are pretty evenly matched, in point of skill with the men.

The yacht squadron has been another popular resort during our all too brief summer afternoons. One day of the week has been generally set apart and specially dedicated to the ladies. But though on "ladies' day" the squadron has been especially thronged with the fashion and beauty of our community, on other days as well, they may be seen sitting on the balcony or promenading the lawn watching the races, and inhaling at the same time the refreshing ozone.

YARMOUTH.

Sept. 6.—A large representation of Yarmouth's society was present at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Crowell on Wednesday morning last, when their daughter, Miss Nellie Lovitt Crowell, was united in marriage to Mr. Frank B. Lyman, of Hartford, Conn., by the Rev. Mr. Johnson of the Milton Wesley church. The house was beautifully decked with flowers for the occasion, and particularly in the drawing-room where the ceremony was performed the floral decorations were unusually attractive in their arrangement, and in the bay window hung suspended a handsomely adorned floral bell. The bride looked most lovely in a gown of white silk with chiffon trimmings and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. She was tended by four little children, Misses Mary Hamilton and Hazel Allen, and Masters Willie Medcalf and Harold Trefry, who were elegantly attired and as dainty as fairies, two of whom acted as pages, while two bordered a pathway with ribbon from the stairway descending in the hall to the bay window in which was erected the floral bell. The wedding music was exquisitely rendered by Misses Webster and Killam. After a sumptuous wedding breakfast, and a change of attire to suitable travelling costumes, the happy young couple left on a tour through eastern Canada, after which they will return to Hartford, Conn., where they will reside. Mrs. Lyman was a particular favorite with Yarmouth's young people, and her many friends and admirers here wish both Mr. and Mrs. Lyman a pleasant passage over the sea of matrimony.

Mr. Alex. Anderson left this week for Montreal where he will attend McGill college.

Miss Flo Tooker is spending a few weeks in Moncton the guest of Mrs. G. H. Daniels.

Sensational events in the matrimonial line are continually occurring, and the rumor that one of Yarmouth's young and well known clerks would unexpectedly on Wednesday evening last bring to a close a short courtship by hastily realizing the seriousness of a married life, was talked of with no extraordinary excitement or unusual interest until the fact became known that cupid's plans had been frustrated by older and wiser interested parties who did not altogether coincide with the intentions of the ambitious lover, which, coupled with the postponement of the wedding ceremony and the departure of the youthful principals whose dreams of wedded blissfulness only reached the limit of anticipation, caused the easily aroused curious ones to drop into the same, and further developments in the little drama were eagerly awaited; and the question that is now being discussed is—will the young maiden find her lover as enthusiastic across the border, or a short residence in Uncle Sam's domain alienate the affections of this would-be young benefactor?

Miss Stuart of Truro is the guest of Mrs. Roy Williams.

Mr. E. Littler and bride of St. John, who are on their wedding tour, arrived in town on Saturday, and spent Sunday the guests of Postmaster Hood and wife.

Miss Lucy Drew of Orange, N. J. who has been spending some weeks with relatives here, leaves for home by steamer Boston on Friday evening.

Mr. J. A. Craig and wife left by steamer Boston on Tuesday evening, en route to Niagara Falls.

The impromptu arrival of some twenty-five guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dennis on Friday evening last proved no exception to the fact that dancing enjoyed in at our small evening gatherings, with formality dispensed with, and "a jolly good time," taking its place, has become very popular in Yarmouth. An enjoyable hop was engaged in, and the coziness of the evening added much to the comfort and enjoyment of the dancers; and the Americans, a number of whom were amongst the party, enthusiastically expressed themselves as being particularly charmed with Yarmouth's way of socially spending an evening. Mrs. Augustus Robinson of Annapolis is the guest of Mrs. W. D. Ross, Willow street.

Among the events brightening up this week's social affairs was the charming recherche little progressive card party gracefully presided over by Miss Anna L. Kelly at her art studio on Tuesday evening, which, needless to say was a most enjoyable one.

Mr. William T. Moody, one of Yarmouth's successful sons abroad, arrived by steamer Boston on Friday morning last on a short visit to his father and sisters here. Mr. Moody enjoys a lucrative position in a large Chicago house. He left to return by steamer Yarmouth on Saturday evening accompanied by his brother George and sisters Mrs. Annael and Miss Agnes.

Mrs. John Y. Robbins accompanied by Master Jack Robbins, left for New York via steamer Boston on Friday evening last.

Mr. Ross Miller, B. A., left for Halifax this week to pursue the study of medicine at the Halifax medical college.

A buckboard party to the Tusket Lakes proved a most enjoyable affair last week.

The delightful dance given by Miss Ethel Crosby at her home on Monday evening last was a most charming event, and one which will mark this week as not the least gay in Yarmouth's social circles. A number of Harvard students, who are summering here, were amongst the guests; and with the bright fair faces present on this occasion, which always lends dancing its wonderful popularity, it goes without saying the evening's pleasures were most enjoyable ones. Miss Crosby prettily attired in pink silk was the charming hostess to perfection. Among those present were:—

- Miss Lydia Killam
- Miss Nellie Gardner
- Miss Jessie Purney
- Miss Lennie Wyman
- Miss Violet Palmer
- Miss J. sie Cann

Mr. Arthur Gariner.

Mrs. E. S. Matheson, who has been visiting relatives in Pictou, arrived home on Friday evening last.

Society was particularly interested in the announcement on Friday last of the engagement of Miss Laura Henry, who has been the guest of Mrs. L. H. Wheaton for some months past, to Mr. Harold Crowell, one of Yarmouth's popular young merchants. Miss Henry left on Saturday morning for her home in River John. During her stay here she became the general favorite of a large circle of friends, who delight in the knowledge that the coming of June next will see this fair and charming young lady a permanent resident amongst them.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Crosby are on a visit to their sons in Baltimore.

Miss Hilda Binyag left for Windsor on Tuesday morning to resume her studies at 'Edgehill'.

Mr. B. Robinson, who has been visiting his mother and sister here, returned to Boston on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Chas. Kelley of Shelburne, who has been visiting friends in town, left this week for Baltimore where he will pursue the study of dentistry.

Dr. Blodgett and party, of Boston, who have been enjoying a rather novel, but thoroughly enjoyable tour through the province, were passengers outward by Steamer 'Boston' on Friday evening last. Dr. Blodgett arrived here some weeks ago with a handsomely equipped 'buckboard', in which he and seven of his American friends made a circuit of the Province. He states that next year he will take a similar trip through Prince Edward Island. The Government Steamer 'Lansdowne' was in Port this week.
