"May good digestion wait on appetite and health on both."

That sentence from Shakespeare is a genuine benediction of the body. In this as in so many other things the intuition of his mighty mind seems to have fathomed the facts which science has slowly discovered. Science has shown that disease in any part of the body is almost always accompanied by weakness and failure of the digestive and assimilative organs. Under these conditions the stomach, liver and blood-making glands fail in their appointed work...

Fisher has been leased by Captain Davidson an English Gentleman who is going to make Fredericton his home; Captain Davidson and wife are expected next week. The marriageable ex-alderman of Queens ward having returned from a pleasant visit to P. E. I., his square epistles are noticeable now as having the Charlotte town post mark...
