The London Echo says: "Madame Harrison's voice and person form a pleasant ensemble." The Bolton Weekly Chronicle, referring to her appearance in that town, says: "Madame Harrison's reputation as a vocalist was an assurance of a rich musical treat, and she displayed a wealth of vocal power that found ample scope in the florid embellishments and cadenzas of the French songs (the Air du Rosignol of Victor Masse, and the air from Gounod's Mireille). Her voice was remarkable for its liquidity and purity of tone and its splendid compass and flexibility, and no less notable, worthy than these qualities was the absolute control which the singer exercised over it in all its inflections, as well as in the piquancy of her style. Particularly was this the case in Bishop's Lo! Here the Gentle Lark, in which Madame Harrison, with pianoforte and flute accompaniment, gave perhaps as accurate and delightful a representation of the melodious trills of the songster of the sky as human skill is capable of." Leinster street Baptist church was the scene of a particularly pretty wedding at an early hour Tuesday morning when Mr. Leland S. Huestis, son of Mr. N. C. Huestis of St. James street and Miss Barbara Currie were united in the bonds of matrimony by Rev. Ira B. Smith the new pastor. The young people of the church had made active preparations for the happy event and as a result the floral decorations were beautiful; a large ball of roses carnations, hyacinths etc., had been erected in front of the altar and under this the young people took up their position while the ceremony was being performed. The bride was attended by Miss Addie Huestis sister of the groom while Mr. Peter Gordon was groomsmen. Little Miss Lida McDiarmid daughter of St. McDiarmid made a charming maid of honor. The bride's costume was of blue, broadcloth trimmed with black satin. Her hat matched her toilette and she carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. Miss Huestis, the bridesmaid wore a costume of brown broad cloth with hat to match. She carried a bouquet of roses and maiden hair ferns. The pretty little maid of honor was nicely gowned in white silk with white picture hat. She carried a basket of sweet peas. Prof. Tapley presided at the organ and as the bridal party entered the church, he played Mendelssohn's wedding march. The full choir was present and rendered several selections including "The voice that breathed o'er Eden" Messrs Thomas Hay and Berton Huestis officiated as ushers. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Huestis boarded the S. S. Prince Edward for a trip to Nova Scotia and Cape Breton. They will be absent about two weeks and on their return will reside on St. James street. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents. The grooms gift to the bride was a handsome diamond brooch, and to the bridesmaid a diamond ring. Another wedding in which two of Centenary church's best known young people joined hands
