

The gaieties of the week included ladies which at Mrs. McKays on Tuesday of this week which was most enjoyable, and those who surrounded the ten or twelve tables provided a very pleasant time of it. The first prizes were won by Mrs. Green and Mrs. Murdoch and the booby prize fell to the lot of Miss Dever.

Among the players were: Mrs. Kellie Jones, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Murdoch, Mrs. Timmerman, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. W. Trueman, Mrs. Morrissey, Miss L. Harrison, Miss Smith, Miss Burpee, Miss Adams, Misses Smith, Miss Furlong, Miss Keator, Miss Troop, Miss Tuck, Miss Nicholson, Miss F. McMillan, and a large number of others.

Mrs. Howard McLeod gave a charming tea on Thursday afternoon at which a large number of ladies were present. The hostess was assisted by several young ladies and nothing was left undone for the entertainment and comfort of the guests. The exceptionally fine afternoon brought out many handsome and stylish winter gowns.

The concerts of Monday and Tuesday may also be reckoned among the social events of the week so large and fashionable were the audiences they attracted. About five o'clock Monday evening a blinding storm came up but had as it was not sufficiently severe to prevent those who wished to thoroughly enjoy good music from attending, and the house was filled before 8 o'clock, the early arrivals amusing themselves by watching the later ones come in. I suppose the storm was responsible for the absence of anything like display in dress, and dark colors prevailed as a rule. The cold outside however had no effect upon the spirits or enthusiasm of the audience, and the artists who took part were rewarded with the heartiest applause; double and triple encores were demanded and in almost every instance graciously responded to; Miss Buckley and Mr. Beresford were very kindly received there was perhaps a warmer feeling for Miss Clara and Mr. Roger both of whom had established reputations for themselves previously. There was a very general opinion that Miss Clara was heard to much better advantage than during her other visits, and the enthusiastic applause which greeted her every number must have been very flattering. On Monday evening Miss Clara wore a most becoming and very handsome pale blue satin the skirt of which was heavily trimmed with steel pincettes, and on Tuesday evening she was attired in black satin the bodies of which were trimmed with gold sequins. Miss Buckley wore dainty light gowns and looked very bright and pretty. This young lady showed herself to be one of those singers who thoroughly know how to sing. With-out any very extraordinary gifts in the way of voice she immediately makes the impression of having mastered her art; whatever she sang you caught the melodic and rhythmic proportion at once and without effort; she made you understand it.

Mr. Beresford and Mr. Reiger were both in excellent voice and won numerous recalls, and the audience was charmed with Mr. Rosenbeckers violin playing and he too was showered with the heartiest applause. The accompanist Mr. Hugo Frey gave perfect satisfaction in his artful work. The success of Monday evening was duplicated on Tuesday in point of fashion, attendance and artistic merit. The house looked much brighter and prettier than on Monday evening, and the programme was delightfully rendered. The famous song cycle in a Persian Garden formed the second part of the programme and scored a wonderful hit, the singers almost outdoing themselves in the excellence of their work.

Miss Lou McMillan entertained a party of friends at which on Tuesday evening, those present spending a participatory bright evening.

A beautifully fine, mild and clear evening and a congenial lot of young people were two important factors in the success of the sleighing party held on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. of Stone Church. The party drove to Rothsay and back the trip being enlivened with songs and merry making. Mrs. George J. Clarke came from St. Stephen this week to attend the concert on Monday and Tuesday evenings. Mrs. W. B. Ganoag was also here to attend the concert.

The L. M. whist club met last week with Mr. R. F. Markham and a most enjoyable evening was spent. Supper was served and songs and jolly rhymed supreme until 1 a. m. This week the club met at Mr. Heber Vroom's home, Germain street, and after the usual games which were followed by some excellent music, supper was served. Mr. Shannons speech and poem were features of the evening.

The club tendered a dinner to Mr. Patterson, one of the members last Tuesday evening at Washington's. Mr. Heber Vroom was chairman and Mr. L. D. Shaw occupied the vice-chair. Mr. Patterson was toasted with all the honors, and made a very happy response. The toast of the ladies was responded to by Mr. L. D. Shaw, Mr. Fred Keator and Mr. A. B. Harrison. The Bankers by Mr. J. M. Robinson, Mr. Soinsey and Mr. W. Robertson. Mr. Shaw and Mr. Harrison did everything in their power to make the evening the most enjoyable the club has yet held. Mr. Patterson has been transferred to the bank of Nova Scotia, Chicago and the good wishes of many friends follow him to his new home.

Miss Sackhouse of Carleton is visiting St. George as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stackhouse, Miss McDonald is also in that town on a visit to her sister Mrs. Farrer.

Mrs. James Tibbitts has returned to Fredericton after a month spent with her daughter Mrs. J. D. Hazan of this city.

Mrs. M. S. Hall is entertaining her sisters Miss Johnston and Miss Bona Johnston of the capital. Whatever may be said favorably of former carnival in St. John nothing can be truthfully stated against the success, from various standpoints, of Wednesday night's fete in Victoria rink under the auspices of the Royal Kennebecasis Yacht Club. It was a gala affair from start to finish, combining spectacular elegance and richness, originality and humor. The ice was hard, smooth and dry, and nothing was evident to mar in the least degree the pleasure of both participants and spectators. A flood of music was constantly supplied by the Vic's own band and a comical aggregation of instrumentalists gotten up from among the members of Harrison's Orchestra and the Williams Concert Band. The latter band was truly a funny thing to look at. Archie Cook presided with much dignity over the bass drum dressed in a military sailor suit, a tramp facial make-up and doll's yachting cap, while his side partner with the cymbals was none less than the redoubtable "Dutch" Ervin, gotten up in really stage style as an ardent lover of "the dear little Shamrock." Fred Stratton was typically German in his Frankfurt sausage suit and distended cheeks when performing on the clarinet. Pete Williams blew a bass bugle, Mr. Doherty a cornet, Ernest Williams a clarinet, and others sent clusters of timely notes out of various other instruments much to the delight of the assembled two thousand young people. Fully a thousand young people skated and to enumerate the various costumes would take over two full columns of this paper. There were nobles in their velvet suits and gill, white winged courtiers of bygone days, fine ladies of numerous decades and epochs in history, jester day celebrities and miriads of names and faces, girls, du des, hobos, original gals, clowns, punch-inalls, coons, Chinamen, military costumes, animals, portrayals, old women, Irishmen, Germans, organ grinders, Uncle Sams, Yellow Kids, John Bulls, Brits, etc., etc. and Stripes etc. etc.

The judges were Mrs. F. E. Sayre, Mrs. W. W. White and Mr. John J. Robinson and Mr. A. W. Adams. The prizes were awarded as follows:— Lady's first prize, E. Patton, Witch; and the second prize, Miss McKiel, as Lighthouse. Gentlemen, first prize, The Pipp Family:— Leonard Shaw—Mrs. Pipp. Heber Vroom—Mr. Pipp. Bertrand Harrison, E. P. Shannon—Daughters. Second prize—Organ grinder and Monkey—L. V. Price and Tom Donohue.

The judges found it no easy task to come to the above conclusions. In fact after viewing the whirling circles of skaters for an hour from a post in the gallery, they were obliged to make a closer examination upon the ice. Of Miss Patton's representation of a witch it can be said the costume must certainly have cost a deal of thinking and no small amount of fluff in a mental way. She was dressed in black with snakes and other weird indisparables of witchcraft fastened about her dress. A black cat reposed on her shoulder and an owl on her hat. The representation of the "Pipp Family" immortalized by Charles Dana Gibson the eminent artist in life was indeed amusing; Mr. L. D. Shaw made an ideal Mrs. Pipp while Mr. Heber Vroom's portrayal of Mr. Pipp, the henpecked husband with a perfection indeed. His mannerisms and appearance were true to life" of course the lovely Gibson girls were charming, being portrayed by Messrs. A. B. Harrison and G. P. Shannon. Their graceful beauty captured the hearts of all the spectators and skaters but Mr. and Mrs. Pipp took particular care that their lovely daughters did not wander far from the parental side.

Mrs. C. F. Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. J. Ruel entertained the Pipp family at their respective residences after the carnival. The antics of the monkey (L. V. Price) and the organ grinder (Tho. Donohue) kept the crowd around the double circle of spectators in roars of laughter. While no doubt the ladies and gentlemen who had the deciding of best costumes to do, judged them according to the best of their ability yet in such close decisions there must have been a lot of very pretty and original ones. Among some of these were: Miss Florence Sutton "Evening Star"; Miss Bertha Maxwell, "Queen Elizabeth"; Miss Nellie Eburne, "From Fairy Land"; Miss Mabel Scovill, "St. John Press"; and Miss Alice Lee, "Emerald Isle."

Some of the best costumes among the sterner sex were:—Dobson Gibbs as "Standard Time," Louis King as "Capt. Cod," John Armour as "Halifax Summer Girl," "Eggs Logan," "Madison," Walter S. Davidson, "Opera Souffle"; E. L. Hammond, "Gentleman of France"; Andrew Ralston, "Sun"; H. Priest, Browary Syndicate; T. K. Gorbell, "And the Cat Came Back." The best combination was that of James Haey and Walter Calder as "Uncle Sam" and "John Bull," although the North End Salvage Corps skit as presented by Douglas Sinclair, Hermon McInnis, Walter Cummings, and others was good. They had with them a sled loaded with fire fighting apparatus and placarded in such words as these:—"We don't fight," "We never pay forty-fives," "Our Captain's name is bacon," "We never attend fires."

The yachtsmen are an energetic lot of fellows and have never yet taken hold of any public amusement without making a thorough success of it. Their two summer cruises of ten days each have both been highly enjoyable their grand concert and moonlight excursion have also been artistically and socially successful and were ever on the water in racing trials. Now they have added another triumph to their list. Commodore Edgar Fairweather, Secretary F. H. J. Ruel, Messrs. Peter Sackin, Howard Holder and many other members of the club have worked hard to make the carnival a success and indeed they should feel proud of the results. Miss Annie Fraser daughter of W. J. Fraser will entertain a party of her young friends at a sleigh drive from the city to her home in Brookville on Tuesday next. Supper and games will follow the drive and the young folks will return to the city between nine and ten o'clock.
