Feb. 8.—The Queen hotel was on Friday evening the scene of the most brilliant social function of the season...

The chaperones, Mrs. Hemming, Mrs. McLearn, Mrs. A. J. Gregory, Mrs. Rainsford Wetmore and Mrs. Burns, received the guests in the parlors of the hotel.

The dining hall, which was converted into a ball room, presented a bewilderingly charming scene as the brilliant lights flashed on the rich and gorgeous toilettes worn by the ladies...

The parlors and corridors upstairs were reserved for sitting out while the gentlemen's parlor downstairs made a pleasant retreat for those who preferred a quiet rubber at whist.

The hotel was curtained with flags so that the entrance to the ballroom was not visible from the outer office.

Music for the programme of twenty dances. Fees were served all evening between the dances and at midnight the supper room was thrown open when the table decorations being exceptionally fine, ribbons and festoons of smilax a ranged from the four corners of the table met at the gasolier from which hung small baskets of trailing flowers...

CHATHAM.

Feb. 7.—Mayor Winslow fell on the icy sidewalk at Newcastle last Tuesday evening while alighting from a sleigh and broke one of the small bones in his ankle.

Mr. F. S. MacGachen, who has been in the Bank of Montreal here the last two years has been transferred to the Amberst branch. Mr. MacGachen will be missed for a sometime but there is always another to take the place of those who leave us.

Mrs. Chas. Gunn, entertained ten ladies at tea last Friday evening. The guests were Mrs. Andrew Morrison, Mrs. McCully, Mrs. Geo. Marquis, Mrs. Watters, Mrs. Bowler, Mrs. Robt. Murray Jr., Mrs. C. Johnston, Mrs. E. H. Pallen, Mrs. Chesman and Mrs. Wm. Johnston.

Ladies tea parties were in great favor last winter and should be continued as the men have so much to take up their time that we can expect very little attention from them.

The curling rink continues to be a favorite resort for the gentler sex.

The Ball is all the subject of conversation now and it looks as if there would be a great crush.

Miss Mildred Fish of Newcastle spent Saturday afternoon in town.

The Squawville Literary Club. There has never been no trouble in our literary club from the day of its creation not an aggravating rub-till a languid youth from Boston, full of knowledge and of courage, Threw us all into a tangle with a rank historic bluff. He commended of the spirit of progression that we showed In our literary movement, an', without a murmur, bowed In the necessary ducts for admission to the same, An' was 'lected as a member by unanimous acclaim. When he riz to toot his bugle on his fast appearance night On the onward stride o' freedom since when just it saw the light, We doated our attention in a gentlemanly way, All expectin' an unusual way-up literary play, He was securely in condition for an oratoric strain, An' his frequent fits o' coughin' 'as he rattled with his theme Woke our sympathies an' stretched 'em to their tenderest extreme. He led out with words an' phrases of a fur more heily weight Than ever emanated from a gifted Squawville pate, An' was cuttin' into language in a way that beat the band Till he drew a card he'd better kep' reposin' in his hand. He asserted that the country, now so glorious an' great, Was discovered by a Spaniard when 'twas in a savage state. An' the words had scarcely flickered from his lips when Mayor Hight Riz an' asked the wreck o' manhood if he played the club fur jays! He was bankin' on the Bible fur his straight historic truth Somewhat more than he was bankin' on the lungless Boston youth. An' the scripper give it to us most emphatically flat That o' Navigator Noah saw us first from Ayrat, Poker Johnson said the Major must 'a got things mixed, no doubt, From a flood of other knowledge crowdin' ancient history out. Fur 'twas Gim'ral John C. Fremont that disklivered us when we were Crossed the plains to California back in eighteen forty-three. Fightin' Walker said it pained him fur to hear sich crazy talk. We was flashed up when the Pilgrims landed onto Plymouth Rock But his words met with a corker from the jaw of Colonel Brees, Who was sartin Andy Jackson saw us first at New Orleans. Walker again retorted that the Colonel was a liar An' a dozen eager members riz to fan the hostile fire. An' a most afore we knowed it there was scarcely one of us Wasn't mighty active factors in a grand historic night!

THINGS OF VALUE. In fasting feasts the sect of Jains, in India, is far ahead of all rivals. Fasts of from thirty to forty days are very common and once a year they are said to abstain from food for seventy-five days. There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for the ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of man's curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient —what would relieve one ill in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, which naturally increased, and by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the animal function of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result improved appetite, Northrop & Lyman
